Poznan Workers Urge U. N. or Other Troops to Enter

By The United Press.

WARSAW, Dec. 12—Representatives of 30,000 Poznam steelworkers capped three days of anti-Soviet demonstrations with a demand today for the immediate withdrawal of Soviet troops from Hungary.

The workers in the Western Polish city, where bloody antiSoviet riots erupted last June, strongly condemned the Soviet intervention in Hungary. They demanded that the Soviet troops be replaced by troops of the Warsaw Pact or the United Nations. The Warsaw Pact is the Soviet bloc military alliance.

The action followed student demonstrations of support for the Hungarians in Wroclaw (Breslau) today, and clashes between police and mobs in several other Polish cities this week, including an attack on the Soviet consulate in Stettin Monday.

[The Polish press denounced Wednesday the rioters in Stettin. Eighty-eight persons were arrested.]

The Poznan workers' demands were contained in a resolution adopted unanimously by workers of the Cegielski—formerly Stalin—Steel Works. This was one of the starting points of the Poznan riots earlier in the year.

Speakers at the Cegielski works meeting said the resolution was in the name of all of Poznan's 30,000 steelworkers. They said they would strike if the Government tried to suppress the resolution.

The workers said they would send the resolution direct to Dag Hammarskjold, United Nations Secretary General, and that they intended to publicize it inside Poland by radio, in the press and by every means possible.

An amendment to the resolution calling for the replacement of the Soviet forces in Hungary by United Nations troops was adopted by some of the workers. It also was to be sent to Mr. Hammarskjold.

Thousands of workers cheered as the resolutions were read at a mass meeting outside the Cegielski factory.

The workers said they were in "full accord" with the decision of the now-banned Budapest Central Workers Council to call a general strike in Hungary.

"We demand the withdrawal of Soviet troops from Hungary and, if the situation demands and the Hungarian people are willing, the replacement of troops of the Warsaw pact countries," the resolution said.

Meanwhile, PAP, official news agency, said legislation was being prepared to strip the courts of "excessive" powers granted them by the old Stalinist regime and to prevent them from interfering unduly with political and economic life.
