Dear Comrade:—

Your communication of February 22nd [1923] has reached this office while I was absent in Detroit. However it was forwarded, and reached me in time. I was able to do as you requested and brought the matter before the National Committee of the Proletarian Party.

As the NEC was in session when your communication arrived it was given immediate and thorough consideration. And I am instructed to inform you of their decision.

The NEC first gave consideration to the nature of your communication, the substance of which is contained in the first sentence, which reads as follows: "In the name of the Central Executive Committee of the Workers Party I am extending to your organization an invitation to join the Workers Party."

The reply of the National Committee of the Proletarian Party is here enclosed.

Yours fraternally,

John Keracher,
Executive Secretary.
