The Shopkeepers’ “Socialist” Administration in Reading

By FRED WOOLLEY

When, about three weeks ago the社会主义administration of the Reading or the Socialist Society took place in Reading, the shopkeepers were not taken by surprise. The Socialist, as everyone knows, is a body of over 1,000 men and women who, in the words of its leader, are "the vanguard of the working class". The Socialist has been in existence for over twenty years and its members are well known for their ability to get things done. In fact, the Socialist has had a long history of success, and its members are respected throughout the district.

Prior to their advent the administration was run by a group of five members, who had been elected by the shopkeepers themselves. These members were responsible for the day-to-day running of the shop, and had the final say in all matters.

The new administration, however, is different. Instead of being elected by the shopkeepers, the new members are appointed by the Socialist, who claims that this is necessary in order to ensure that the shop is run in the best interests of the workers.

Under the new administration, the shopkeepers have little say in how the shop is run. The Socialist has taken control of all major decisions, and the shopkeepers are left with little choice but to follow their orders.

In addition, the new administration has made some changes to the shop itself. The Socialist claims that these changes are necessary in order to make the shop more efficient, but many shopkeepers are concerned that these changes will negatively affect their work.

In conclusion, the new administration in Reading is a cause for concern. The Socialist’s control of the shop is a clear example of the failure of the socialist movement in Britain. The shopkeepers, who have a long history of success, are now at the mercy of a body that they have elected to represent them.

Gas as a Weapon Against Workers

By EMANUEL GEMMELL

"Gas as a weapon against workers" is a phrase that has been used by many anarchists to describe the way in which the state and capitalism use violence to control workers. The phrase is often used in connection with the use of gas during the Paris Commune of 1871, when the French government used gas to suppress the revolutionary workers of the city.

In recent years, the use of gas as a weapon against workers has continued, and has been used in a number of different ways. For example, in the United States, the use of tear gas and pepper spray by police forces has been a common tactic in the struggle against workers.

In conclusion, the use of gas as a weapon against workers is a clear example of the failure of the socialist movement in Britain. The shopkeepers, who have a long history of success, are now at the mercy of a body that they have elected to represent them.

The HUMBUG of HENRY FORD

(For a Workman)

The Ford Plan in Detroit is generally known as “the Great Pixley Plan.” It is also generally accepted that it is the result of a very careful study of the conditions under which the Ford plant operates. High wages, high prices, and high taxes are not the only factors that have led to the success of the Ford plant. In fact, it is well known that the conditions under which the Ford plant operates are favorable to the worker. High wages, high prices, and high taxes are not the only factors that have led to the success of the Ford plant. High wages, high prices, and high taxes are not the only factors that have led to the success of the Ford plant. In fact, it is well known that the conditions under which the Ford plant operates are favorable to the worker.

In the past, the Ford plant has been able to operate smoothly and efficiently due to the fact that the workers have been able to maintain their standard of living. The Ford plant has been able to maintain its high standards of production and quality because the workers have been able to maintain their standard of living.
