Scores of mass demonstrations, arranged by the Communist Party and the left wing unions and other workers' organizations, cooperating with them, will celebrate this year's May Day in a more militant manner than ever before.

The meetings will be demonstrations centering around the unity of the international workers' forces, and mill strikers which, in the one hand, and mobilizations for the Civil Rights Union Campaign, which will battle for the revolutionary trade union movement in this country.

Left wing unions and other workers' organizations are lining up behind the slogans of the May Day demonstrations enthusiastically, and each day sees more thousands of workers pledging their support to those demonstrations and the struggles they symbolize.

April 24.—The Hague is being attacked by those who believe that the Hague conference, or any other conference, is the answer to the problems that face the world today. The Hague conference has been a failure from the beginning. The Hague conference was never intended to be a solution to the world’s problems. It was only a means of bringing the nations of the world together to talk about their differences. The Hague conference has been a failure because it has failed to solve the problems that it was intended to solve. The Hague conference has been a failure because it has failed to bring about a lasting peace. The Hague conference has been a failure because it has failed to bring about a just solution to the world’s problems.

DOWN TOOLS ON MAY DAY IS CALL OF AUTO WORKERS

See Great Event In T. U. E. Meet

In the following letter to the Daily Worker, members of the United Auto Workers have called for a May Day celebration and for the mobilization of workers for their rights.

Dear Daily Worker:

May Day is the day of the international working class. It is the day when workers all over the world come together to express their solidarity and to demand their rights. This year, May Day is even more important because it marks the 50th anniversary of the founding of the International Workers of the World. The IWW was a revolutionary trade union that fought for the rights of all workers.

This year, May Day is called in order to mobilize workers for their rights. We need to work together to win the 8-hour day, to win the right to organize, and to win the right to strike. We need to work together to build a strong labor movement that can take on the bosses and win for the workers.

We call on all workers to join the May Day celebration and to support the fight for workers' rights. Let us work together to make May Day a day of victory for the working class.
