THE PROGRESSIVE WOMAN.

Woman---Comrade and Equal

EUGENE V. DEBS

The London Saturday Review in a recent issue brutally said: "Man's superiority is shown by his ability to keep woman in subjection." Such a sentiment is based on the belief that man is superior merely because he is able to rule over woman. This is a fallacious argument, for it confuses physical strength with moral superiority. Man's true power lies not in his ability to subdue woman, but in his ability to respect her as a fellow being.

The most important aspect of woman's equality is her right to take part in all the activities of life. This includes not only the right to vote, but also the right to work, to be educated, and to be free from discrimination. It is only when women are given these rights that they can truly be said to be equal to men.

It is time that we recognize woman as a full-fledged member of society, and give her the respect and treatment that she deserves. Only then can we hope to achieve true progress and equality for all.
