Foster Gives Latest News of the C. & G. T.

PARIS, Oct. 15. (Sp.)

C. & G. T. workers on strike in the Montsouris, Laveran, Montsoult, and Saint-Mandé districts. A few workers have fled their homes in fear of reprisals by the police. The situation, however, remains calm. There are reports of scattered incidents of violence, but the overall situation is under control. The strike continues.

Fresno Fight Postponed

Fellow Workers: The fight for free speech has been postponed. On September 29, 1919, the fight ended in a stand-off. The men were not allowed to enter the school premises. The police, however, were not successful in stopping the workers from entering. The struggle continues, and we will keep you updated on further developments.

Booster's Brigade

In spite of the thousands of troops that have been sent out to control the strike, the workers of the C. & G. T. are determined to continue their struggle. They have set up barricades in various parts of the city, and are demanding the repeal of the 1914-1915 food law. They have issued an appeal to the working class all over the world to join in their struggle.

Jay and John End Five days strike

The two workers, John and Jay, have ended their five-day strike. They have agreed to return to work under the conditions established by the workers' representatives. The workers have issued a statement calling on all workers to continue their struggle until their demands are met.

Newborn Workers Militant

The gardeners' strike in Chicago continues, with the workers refusing to work until their demands are met. They are demanding higher wages and better working conditions. The police have been called in to try to break the strike, but the workers are determined to continue their struggle.

Slang and the Working Class

There is a growing tendency among the working class to use slang as a means of expression. This is particularly true in the case of the workers, who use slang as a means of expression and as a way of distinguishing themselves from the middle class. The use of slang is seen as a way of expressing the workers' solidarity and of assertive their rights.
