Progressive Miners of Fayette County, Pa., Check Outlaw Movement, Perform Great Service to the Organized Labor Movement

PITTSBURGH, PA.—The Progressive Miners of District No. 3, United Mine Workers of America, have been organized for the last few years to perform difficult tasks never performed in the history of the labor movement. These men are members of the United Mine Workers of America and are organized for the purpose of checking the outlaw movement. The organization was formed in 1903, and has grown steadily in strength. The members of the organization are engaged in the coal mines of the United States, and are representing the miners in all parts of the country.

The Progressive Miners, under the leadership of John Doe, have been active in the checking of the outlaw movement for many years. They have succeeded in preventing many strikes, and have been instrumental in bringing about peace between the miners and their employers. The members of the organization are respected by the public, and are held in high esteem by their fellow workers.
