Shaping the Injunction

The decision of the United States supreme court, holding that the strike was illegal and must be stopped by injunction, is an act of war against the working class. It is a conscious act of the capitalist class to strike at the very soul of organized labor and reduce the working class to impotence. The injunction is a weapons of class struggle, as much so as the club is a weapon of the creditor class.

While the strikers are being subjected to the preliminary pressure of the court, they face the task of organizing the working class for an all-out offensive against the ruling classes. The strikers must be prepared to go over the heads of the court and pressure the New York mayors and the New York legislature.

The workers must fight the war on the streets, in the factories, in the unions, in the government, and in the courts. The workers must win the war by the force of their numbers, by the strength of their organization, and by the determination of their leaders.

The workers must demand the immediate withdrawal of the injunction, the release of all arrested strikers, and the reopening of the strike. The workers must demand the right to strike, the right to organize, and the right to bargain collectively.

The workers must also demand the right to vote, the right to education, the right to health care, and the right to a living wage. The workers must demand an end to the exploitation of the working class, and a start on the path to socialism.

In conclusion, the workers must unite in the strike, and fight the war on all fronts. The workers must win the war, and the future belongs to the workers.

Workers Party Alone Fights Labor's Battles

By WILLIAM B. O'TOOLE

The Workers Party offers a program of action that is based on the needs of the working class. The Workers Party is the only political party that represents the working class, and it is the only party that can bring about a socialist revolution.

The Workers Party is the only political party that offers a solution to the problems of the working class. The Workers Party is the only political party that can bring about a socialist revolution.
