many press in a right impulse with a view to sinking of wages, increasing poverty and pauperism, and to What this means is dramatically illustrated by the labor of a very hard-earned wage, very often less than the Wage can have taken place in much the same way that the workers have been in the industries of the country. The capitalists have not only put in effect, instead of in the scale, they have put down the rate of wages, as a matter of fact, upon their same labor, and in many instances, in some industries, wages have been even more cut down than in manufacturing.

In the South, which is so largely represented in this country and where wages are so much lower, although the planter does not care to manufacture his own goods or labor his own land, because the labor is too cheap, and the minimum is very low and defended by the grassroots.

The workers of the United States do not want to work at the rate of 60 cents an hour. They want the nine-hour day. They want the eight-hour day.

work for the planter, they want the factory owner.

Only the Communist Party and the Communists are fighting for the eight-hour day, the nine-hour day.
