Dwight E. Morrow, the New York Times correspondent on the White House staff, yesterday declared that the State Department was not satisfied with the logic of the recent statement of the British government that the United States might be dragged into the European war if it did not support the British policy of appeasement of Germany. "That is not a proper basis on which to leave the United States for the future peace of Europe," he commented.

DETROIT, July 10—(UPI)—William Z. Foster, National Chairman of the Communist Party, U.S.A., in a press conference here today issued the following statement:

"The 'Red' last night after the close of its Convention meeting in Ypsilanti was in a brutal and unprovoked attack upon the U.S. determined to smash the party. The action of the Convention was in the interest of labor and the labor movement of the nation. The 'Red' stands for revolution and is prepared to do its part in the struggle for the emancipation of the working class."

Foster's statement was made in reply to yesterday's action of the Convention to pass a resolution authorizing the suspension of the Convention duties of the party's national chairman and to which the resolution was referred. The resolution states that the grounds for the action are that "Foster's 'red' leadership has been in the interest of labor and the labor movement of the nation." The resolution goes on to say that "the Convention authorizes the national chairman to report these facts to the public in order to prevent any further attack upon the U.S."
