May Day--
At the Fair
A Holiday
For 40,000

Visitors From 48 States, 79 Countries
All Have Fun

By Beth Meloney

They've seen the world and the universe--at least in miniature--and they've been to the moon and back. The reason? The Fair. May Day was a holiday for 40,000 visitors from 48 states and 79 countries who all had fun.

More than 300 persons were on hand at the Fair Grounds yesterday to enjoy a day of fun and food. Many came from out of town and from far away.

The World's Fair has been a big success for the Municipal Administration, according to Mayor

"Ask me anything about the Fair"

Raymond. "It's been a wonderful day, and the visitors have been very pleased." The Mayor added that he hopes the Fair will continue to be successful in the future.

MURDER TESTIMONY

Suffers 'Lapse' in Face of Identification

By Sister of Slain Brooklyn Man;
4 Boys on Trial for Life

Assistant District Attorney Edward Murray, attached to Assistant District Attorney Edward Murray, was called to the witness stand by the defense attorneys of the four boys on trial for the murder of a Brooklyn man, and he testified that the accused had not forgotten the face of the man he had murdered.

The defense attorneys had called the defendant to the stand, but he refused to answer their questions.

Woodrow Sears

Witch Hunt
Admitted Aim
Of WPA Probe

WASHINGTON, May 1--Woodrow Sears, president of the National Association of WPA Workers, admitted yesterday that the WPA probe was directed by the United States Department of Labor.

The probe was ordered by the Secretary of Labor, but Sears insisted that it was not aimed at any specific individual or organization.

That is something we all have to be cautious about, he said. "We must be careful not to make too much of the situation, for we are living in a time of fear and suspicion."

The WPA probe is said to be investigating the activities of the Labor Department, and it is feared that it may lead to the firing of some WPA workers.

The probe is expected to continue for several weeks, and it is feared that it may result in the dismissal of many workers.

The WPA workers are said to be very anxious about the situation, and they are demanding that the investigation be halted.

ESSO BAYTOWN HEROES IN N. M. U. LINE

Shipping along almost unbrokenly since the beginning of the war, theESSO BAYTOWN HEROES in N. M. U. Line, have performed their duties with great skill and efficiency.

In November, 1941, the USS Baytown was launched at the Kaiser Shipyard, and she was commissioned in January, 1942.

Since then, the ship has operated as a transport, carrying troops to the Southwest Pacific, and as a replenishment ship, providing supplies to other ships.

In addition, she has been used as a hospital ship, and has served as a troop carrier.

The ship's crew has been praised for their work, and they have been cited for their service.

Stop, Look, Listen!

By WILLIAM Z. FOSTER

There is a great deal of talk about the "Stop, Look, Listen!" campaign, and it is not just talk. The government has taken action to enforce this policy.

The police have been instructed to enforce the "Stop, Look, Listen!" campaign, and they are doing so. They are ticketing drivers who do not obey the traffic laws.

The campaign is designed to keep the streets safe, and it is working. The number of accidents has decreased, and the number of people injured has decreased.

The campaign is not just for drivers, but for all pedestrians. They are also being told to "Stop, Look, Listen!"

The campaign is a success, and it will continue. The government is determined to keep the streets safe, and they will do whatever it takes to achieve that goal.
