LIGHTFOOT'S SENTENCE

By Judge William L. Foster.

THE VALUE OF the AFL and CIO, now in the works, can be an event of tremendous importance in American union work. Every worker should know that the 200,000 members of the AFL and CIO, with the leadership of the leadership of the American trade union movement, can make that the movement of organized labor. This is the moment when the union movement must move to the next stage of its development. It is the moment when the union movement must take the lead in the struggle for economic and social justice.

NATURALLY, a labor movement to organize union leaders and workers is prepared to bring about such a big merger in labor's ranks that will bring about a new era in American unionism. The workers of the AFL and CIO, right-to-work laws, and other anti-labor legislation, which are being enacted, must be opposed. The merger movement is a positive step forward for labor.

The development of the International Federation of Labor Unions is the most significant development in the world today. The merger movement is a step forward for labor, and we must support it.

Quill Raises Five Big Issues in CIO

Quill raises five big issues in the CIO, which are quite intriguing, and demand and challenges the position of some in the CIO.

POINT 3. Quill demands a definite quality of the CIO-AFL, which is the goal of our objectives of labor. He demands a decision that unity will be a real organizing drive, new vigor for political action, an end to discrimination, unionization of union, and unionism, etc.

Thus Quill's view is an advance warning to the CIO union leaders to have an Illinois that unity will automatically solve labor's problems and to the CIO, that the CIO must begin NOW to press for the positive content they want us to have.

It was in response to Quill's call that the CIO leaders gathered in Chicago to discuss the issues and the CIO leaders decided that we must take our spiritual and moral obligations seriously and he warned that "If we simply go into the AFL and CIO and say, 'We are united and there is nothing to fear, then our work will be done.'"

Quill's position is that the CIO-AFL merger is a failure and that the CIO leaders have not made the necessary changes. He calls for unity and moral obligations.

Quill suggests that the CIO-AFL merger is a failure and that the CIO leaders have not made the necessary changes. He calls for unity and moral obligations.

Quill is not wrong at red-lining himself when he wants his fellow workers to stand up for the moral principles of the AFL and CIO. It is up to the CIO leaders to take action and make the necessary changes. Quill's call is a call to action and to be sure that the CIO-AFL merger is a success.

The Quill program is a call to action and to be sure that the CIO-AFL merger is a success. It is up to the CIO leaders to take action and make the necessary changes.

The merger program also has the serious implications of not seeking to draw the Railroad Brotherhoods, United and independent labor unions and other labor organizations (up to the present elated) into the new CIO-tempered united organization.

And in their call for recognition in the high executive posts and the new organization is the CIO (Continued on Page 6)

The greatest weakness of the unity proposals, however, is that they call for no real measures, corresponding to the new strength and responsibilities of the American labor movement. The progressive forces should fight for:

1. A definite economic program for dealing with the pressing economic conditions and the pressing economic needs of American labor, a program which should be translated into action for creating employment.

2. The retention of the separate A.F.L. and C.I.O. in order to fight the Stengel Negro rights, against growing McCarthyism in this country, and in order to maintain the important position of the working class.

3. The need to organize the unorganized, especially in the South.

4. The opening up of new programs for the labor movement. The political action for 1956, by increasing the membership in the Democratic and Republican parties, is particularly urgent. It is the eventual goal of launching a great labor-party of the working class, with its own candidates for the national office.

Organized labor now has a unique opportunity to forge ahead toward building a strong and independent party, and it will be able to serve as the nucleus of such a party, if it dares to face the enormous task of the Democratic Party bosses and allow the bourgeoning forces to come to the front. The 15,000,000 organized members of both the A.F.L. and C.I.O. are the backbone of the Democratic Party and will only be able to support the candidates of the Democratic Party, unless we are able to reorganize the party, and unless we are able to give the labor movement a voice in selecting candidates. A united labor movement is necessary to prevent the splitting of the labor movement at the upcoming election, and the split could be disastrous in the long run. Moreover, while the split would be beneficial for the labor movement, it would also be disastrous for the Democratic Party, as it would split the labor movement in the long run.

Four Board of Education seats are up for grabs in the event of a split, and the strong Negro-American candidate, who is running unopposed, is expected to win. The result of the split could be disastrous for the community, as it could lead to the fragmentation of the community and the loss of support for the incumbent.
