Africa's Awakening - By D. IVON JONES

The negro is the greatest living asset of capitalist imperialism, because he is the basic driving force behind the world economy. His vast numbers, his production, his daily struggle for existence, are what make the world economy possible. Every capitalist government is obsessed with the idea of exploiting the negro for its own benefit. The negro is a black market for goods, a source of cheap labor, a reservoir of raw materials, a market for its products, and a source of political power. The negro is a black weapon against the capitalist state.

The Be-all and End-all of the Elections.

England Arise!

There are several noticeable points about the English election. First, the English election is a war of class against class. The working class is divided into two main groups: the middle class and the working class. The middle class includes the middle managers, the middle lawyers, the middle doctors, and the middle politicians. The working class includes the manual workers, the farmers, the fishermen, and the miners. The middle class is opposed to the working class, because the middle class benefits from the exploitation of the working class. The middle class is opposed to the working class, because the middle class benefits from the exploitation of the working class. The middle class is opposed to the working class, because the middle class benefits from the exploitation of the working class.

Krugersdorp Unemployed.

The "chain gang" held a most successful meeting in their efforts to keep the Treason Act in force. The Treason Act will be held to the doors of the Treason House, and Wembley will be held to the doors of the Belvoir House. The Treason House will be held to the doors of the Belvoir House.

According to the "Daily Herald," some Belgian trade unionists sang the "Internationale" were arrested and sentenced to two years in exile. Nevertheless, trade unionists are free to sing the "Internationale," and to whistle whenever possible, and their wives adored by the Welt.