THE YOUTH MOVEMENT

Working Youth! Attention!

On the 2nd, September 1923

The 9th International Youth Conference calls upon the young workers and peasants to take part in a demonstration.

In this demonstration the young proletariat of all countries should show its will to break free from its wretched fate as a beast of burden for the capitalists and to create conditions for their own work. It declares ruthless war against its tormentors, against the factory owners and big capitalists, the employers and landowners.

To all the enemies of youth work it reveals the strength which the working youth wields when it marches forward in revolutionary determination and unity.

The International Youth Conference has become a powerful weapon, one which the Communist Youth International has at its disposal in the hands of the youthful workers, and it now points the way to how to use against their enemies. The number of fighters has been increased from year to year. It is our task to make their number this year greater than ever before.

Against the attacks of the Fascist hands, against war danger, against the right wing, every youth must raise himself up and resist for the right to peace, for the right to education, for the right to unalienable freedom, of the people.

Furthermore, the organizations affiliated to the CYI, which have thus rendered help as well as support.

The social democratic youth organizations have refused to cooperate with the appeasement at the Stockholm and the Hamburg conference they USBN thought of mobilizing the youth of all countries for an economic and political struggle, a struggle for its own rights.

In the editors of the Working Youth, in the 9th International Youth Conference, we express our gratitude to the Young Communist League of Moscow, and join the army of the fighting Communist International Youth.

Executive Committee of the Young Communist International,

Moscow, June 20, 1923.

THE YOUTH MOVEMENT

The Soviet and the Peasant

The Decree on the United Agricultural Tax

By Ivan Moskvin

Every day the Moscow newspapers give reports of the proceedings of the October Congress, some of them increasingly favorable to the summer progressions.

It is the task of the youth to produce, under altogether new conditions, a new spirit pervades the village. New relations between man and land, between the town proletariat, and the peasant, the worker and the peasant, are taking place.

The present moment, at the beginning of the year, first pointed out how the link between the proletariat and the peasant is being formed. The most important branch of the party in the towns should take over responsibility for the organization of the life of the countryside, as the industrial factory is engaged in the life of the town. The youth, in the vast majority, are the life that is. The peasants, in the vast majority, have no knowledge of how to control contact, therefore it should be under the leadership of the Soviet, and the consequent lack of opportunity for mental culture so necessary to the enlightenment of the time.

7. Queensland Women propose that the Congress select a committee to investigate all cases of sexual assault, regardless of women and children, with a view to taking action for its revision.

8. New South Wales proposes the establishment of a youth club and the report to the Congress on the Problem of attracting and interest young workers in the study of social questions.

The Soviet and the Peasant

The Decree on the United Agricultural Tax

By Ivan Moskvin

Every day the Moscow newspapers give reports of the proceedings of the October Congress, some of them increasingly favorable to the summer progressions.

It is the task of the youth to produce, under altogether new conditions, a new spirit pervades the village. New relations between man and land, between the town proletariat, and the peasant, the worker and the peasant, are taking place.

The present moment, at the beginning of the year, first pointed out how the link between the proletariat and the peasant is being formed. The most important branch of the party in the towns should take over responsibility for the organization of the life of the countryside, as the industrial factory is engaged in the life of the town. The youth, in the vast majority, are the life that is. The peasants, in the vast majority, have no knowledge of how to control contact, therefore it should be under the leadership of the Soviet, and the consequent lack of opportunity for mental culture so necessary to the enlightenment of the time.

8. Queensland Women propose that the Congress select a committee to investigate all cases of sexual assault, regardless of women and children, with a view to taking action for its revision.

9. New South Wales proposes the establishment of a youth club and the report to the Congress on the Problem of attracting and interest young workers in the study of social questions.

IN SOVIET RUSSIA

The Soviet and the Peasant

The Decree on the United Agricultural Tax

By Ivan Moskvin

The Soviet and the Peasant

The Decree on the United Agricultural Tax

By Ivan Moskvin

Every day the Moscow newspapers give reports of the proceedings of the October Congress, some of them increasingly favorable to the summer progressions.

It is the task of the youth to produce, under altogether new conditions, a new spirit pervades the village. New relations between man and land, between the town proletariat, and the peasant, the worker and the peasant, are taking place.

The present moment, at the beginning of the year, first pointed out how the link between the proletariat and the peasant is being formed. The most important branch of the party in the towns should take over responsibility for the organization of the life of the countryside, as the industrial factory is engaged in the life of the town. The youth, in the vast majority, are the life that is. The peasants, in the vast majority, have no knowledge of how to control contact, therefore it should be under the leadership of the Soviet, and the consequent lack of opportunity for mental culture so necessary to the enlightenment of the time.

8. Queensland Women propose that the Congress select a committee to investigate all cases of sexual assault, regardless of women and children, with a view to taking action for its revision.

9. New South Wales proposes the establishment of a youth club and the report to the Congress on the Problem of attracting and interest young workers in the study of social questions.

IN SOVIET RUSSIA

The Soviet and the Peasant

The Decree on the United Agricultural Tax

By Ivan Moskvin

Every day the Moscow newspapers give reports of the proceedings of the October Congress, some of them increasingly favorable to the summer progressions.

It is the task of the youth to produce, under altogether new conditions, a new spirit pervades the village. New relations between man and land, between the town proletariat, and the peasant, the worker and the peasant, are taking place.

The present moment, at the beginning of the year, first pointed out how the link between the proletariat and the peasant is being formed. The most important branch of the party in the towns should take over responsibility for the organization of the life of the countryside, as the industrial factory is engaged in the life of the town. The youth, in the vast majority, are the life that is. The peasants, in the vast majority, have no knowledge of how to control contact, therefore it should be under the leadership of the Soviet, and the consequent lack of opportunity for mental culture so necessary to the enlightenment of the time.

8. Queensland Women propose that the Congress select a committee to investigate all cases of sexual assault, regardless of women and children, with a view to taking action for its revision.

9. New South Wales proposes the establishment of a youth club and the report to the Congress on the Problem of attracting and interest young workers in the study of social questions.

IN SOVIET RUSSIA

The Soviet and the Peasant

The Decree on the United Agricultural Tax

By Ivan Moskvin

Every day the Moscow newspapers give reports of the proceedings of the October Congress, some of them increasingly favorable to the summer progressions.

It is the task of the youth to produce, under altogether new conditions, a new spirit pervades the village. New relations between man and land, between the town proletariat, and the peasant, the worker and the peasant, are taking place.

The present moment, at the beginning of the year, first pointed out how the link between the proletariat and the peasant is being formed. The most important branch of the party in the towns should take over responsibility for the organization of the life of the countryside, as the industrial factory is engaged in the life of the town. The youth, in the vast majority, are the life that is. The peasants, in the vast majority, have no knowledge of how to control contact, therefore it should be under the leadership of the Soviet, and the consequent lack of opportunity for mental culture so necessary to the enlightenment of the time.

8. Queensland Women propose that the Congress select a committee to investigate all cases of sexual assault, regardless of women and children, with a view to taking action for its revision.

9. New South Wales proposes the establishment of a youth club and the report to the Congress on the Problem of attracting and interest young workers in the study of social questions.

IN SOVIET RUSSIA

The Soviet and the Peasant

The Decree on the United Agricultural Tax

By Ivan Moskvin

Every day the Moscow newspapers give reports of the proceedings of the October Congress, some of them increasingly favorable to the summer progressions.

It is the task of the youth to produce, under altogether new conditions, a new spirit pervades the village. New relations between man and land, between the town proletariat, and the peasant, the worker and the peasant, are taking place.

The present moment, at the beginning of the year, first pointed out how the link between the proletariat and the peasant is being formed. The most important branch of the party in the towns should take over responsibility for the organization of the life of the countryside, as the industrial factory is engaged in the life of the town. The youth, in the vast majority, are the life that is. The peasants, in the vast majority, have no knowledge of how to control contact, therefore it should be under the leadership of the Soviet, and the consequent lack of opportunity for mental culture so necessary to the enlightenment of the time.

8. Queensland Women propose that the Congress select a committee to investigate all cases of sexual assault, regardless of women and children, with a view to taking action for its revision.

9. New South Wales proposes the establishment of a youth club and the report to the Congress on the Problem of attracting and interest young workers in the study of social questions.

IN SOVIET RUSSIA

The Soviet and the Peasant

The Decree on the United Agricultural Tax

By Ivan Moskvin

Every day the Moscow newspapers give reports of the proceedings of the October Congress, some of them increasingly favorable to the summer progressions.

It is the task of the youth to produce, under altogether new conditions, a new spirit pervades the village. New relations between man and land, between the town proletariat, and the peasant, the worker and the peasant, are taking place.

The present moment, at the beginning of the year, first pointed out how the link between the proletariat and the peasant is being formed. The most important branch of the party in the towns should take over responsibility for the organization of the life of the countryside, as the industrial factory is engaged in the life of the town. The youth, in the vast majority, are the life that is. The peasants, in the vast majority, have no knowledge of how to control contact, therefore it should be under the leadership of the Soviet, and the consequent lack of opportunity for mental culture so necessary to the enlightenment of the time.

8. Queensland Women propose that the Congress select a committee to investigate all cases of sexual assault, regardless of women and children, with a view to taking action for its revision.

9. New South Wales proposes the establishment of a youth club and the report to the Congress on the Problem of attracting and interest young workers in the study of social questions.
THE YOUTH MOVEMENT

Working Youth! Attention!

On the 2nd, September 1923

The 9th International Youth Conference will take place.

To all the social activists who are united in the Young Communist League, the Union of Working Youth, and the Young Communist League, and to all the professional youth of the Republic.

The 9th International Youth Conference calls upon the young workers and peasants to take part in a demonstration.

To this demonstration the young proletariat of all countries shows its will to break free from its own fetters as a battle of labour for the capitalists and an exodus fodder for their wars. It declares ruthless war against its tormentors, against the factory owners and big capitalists, the employers and landlords.

To all the enemies of working youth it reveals the strength which the working youth possesses when it marches forward in revolutionary determination and unity.

The International Youth Conference has become a powerful weapon, one which the Communist Youth International has hitherto been in the hands of the youthful workers, and has taught them how to use against their enemies. The number of fighters taking part in the struggle has increased from year to year.

It is our task to make their number this year greater.

Against the attacks of the Fascist bands, against war and the attendant dangers and economic exploitation, against the unjust restrictions of the workers' rights, of unemployment benefit, the struggle of the proletariat has already been conclusively combated by the organizations affiliated to the CIY, which have thus rendered an excellent service to the cause of the working class.

The social democratic youth organizations have refused to take part in the 9th International Youth Conference. In the Press, and at the unofficial conferences with the foreigners, Hamburg conference they shunned all thought of mobilizing the working youth of the world on a new battlefront, a struggle for its life.

As a result, there is a call upon all youthful organizations to take up, together beneath its flag, and appeal to them regardless of what country they may be, to come and take part in the work of the Conference.

The conference will be held from the 1st to the 4th of September, and the place of meeting will be Moscow.

Executive Committee of the Communist International,

June 20, 1923.

IN SOVIET RUSSIA

The Soviet and the Peasant

The Decree on the Unified Agricultural Tax.

By Leon Trotsky (Moscow)

1. Every day the Moscow newspapers give reports of the peasants' demands, of the disturbances and petty uprisings, of the increasing pressure, of the growing unrest.

In all this, the peasant and the law-abiding worker are the same, and in the face of the law-abiding worker, the Soviet government is like the Soviet government.

2. The peasants' demands have been produced under altogether new conditions. A new spirit pervades the village. New demands, new ideas, new desires.

In the Ukraine, between the town proletariat and the peasant, there is a genuine union of interests. The town proletariat and the peasant, the two classes which are frequently kept apart, are now in reality welded to each other.

In the beginning of the year, the beginning of the year, the peasants' demands have been produced under altogether new conditions. A new spirit pervades the village. New demands, new ideas, new desires.

In the Ukraine, between the town proletariat and the peasant, there is a genuine union of interests. The town proletariat and the peasant, the two classes which are frequently kept apart, are now in reality welded to each other.

In the beginning of the year, the beginning of the year, the peasants' demands have been produced under altogether new conditions. A new spirit pervades the village. New demands, new ideas, new desires.

In the Ukraine, between the town proletariat and the peasant, there is a genuine union of interests. The town proletariat and the peasant, the two classes which are frequently kept apart, are now in reality welded to each other.

In the beginning of the year, the beginning of the year, the peasants' demands have been produced under altogether new conditions. A new spirit pervades the village. New demands, new ideas, new desires.

In the Ukraine, between the town proletariat and the peasant, there is a genuine union of interests. The town proletariat and the peasant, the two classes which are frequently kept apart, are now in reality welded to each other.

In the beginning of the year, the beginning of the year, the peasants' demands have been produced under altogether new conditions. A new spirit pervades the village. New demands, new ideas, new desires.

In the Ukraine, between the town proletariat and the peasant, there is a genuine union of interests. The town proletariat and the peasant, the two classes which are frequently kept apart, are now in reality welded to each other.

In the beginning of the year, the beginning of the year, the peasants' demands have been produced under altogether new conditions. A new spirit pervades the village. New demands, new ideas, new desires.

In the Ukraine, between the town proletariat and the peasant, there is a genuine union of interests. The town proletariat and the peasant, the two classes which are frequently kept apart, are now in reality welded to each other.

In the beginning of the year, the beginning of the year, the peasants' demands have been produced under altogether new conditions. A new spirit pervades the village. New demands, new ideas, new desires.

In the Ukraine, between the town proletariat and the peasant, there is a genuine union of interests. The town proletariat and the peasant, the two classes which are frequently kept apart, are now in reality welded to each other.

The question of the peasant is now the most natural and the most imperative in the life of Soviet Russia.

The question of the peasant is now the most natural and the most imperative in the life of Soviet Russia.

The question of the peasant is now the most natural and the most imperative in the life of Soviet Russia.

The question of the peasant is now the most natural and the most imperative in the life of Soviet Russia.

The question of the peasant is now the most natural and the most imperative in the life of Soviet Russia.

The question of the peasant is now the most natural and the most imperative in the life of Soviet Russia.

The question of the peasant is now the most natural and the most imperative in the life of Soviet Russia.

The question of the peasant is now the most natural and the most imperative in the life of Soviet Russia.

The question of the peasant is now the most natural and the most imperative in the life of Soviet Russia.

The question of the peasant is now the most natural and the most imperative in the life of Soviet Russia.
The Youth Movement

Working Youth! Attention!

On the 2nd September 1923

The 9th International Youth Conference will take place.

The 14th International Youth Conference calls upon the young workers and peasants to take part in a demonstration.

In his demonstration, the young proletariat of all countries shows its will to break free from its wretched fate as a beast of burden for the exploiters and an exterminating horrible for their needs. It declares ruthless war against its tormentors, against the factory owners and big speculators, the employers and landlords.

To all the enemies of working youth it reveals the strength which the working youth possesses when it marches forward in revolutionary determination and solidity.

The International Youth Conference has become a powerful weapon, one of which the Communist Youth International has been the hands of the youthful workers, to point the way to youth of the world on how to use against their enemies. The number of fighters taking part in the movement has grown from year to year.

It is our task to make this movement stronger, thus contribute to the common battle against the enemy of the proletariat.

Against the attacks of the Fascists, against barter dangers, against the right to the day, the struggle for the right of unemployment benefit, is the struggle of the youth!

The movement is being strengthened by the organizations affiliated to the CII, which have thus rendered help.

The social democratic youth organizations have refused to take part in the demonstration and at the 14th International Youth Conference of Hamburg they launched a counter-mobilization of the working youth of the world against the demonstration of the communist youth.

The demonstration calls upon all youth movements to unite under a common flag, as the flag is the expression of the social struggle and a symbol of power. It asks each various organization to deal with this flag to its power.

The Tax in Kind imposed a certain amount of accomplishment on the peasantry to pay the state and the Government.

The new decree leaves the last vestiges of the former system, which was intended to destroy the peasantry, and the Soviet French is helping the growth of Soviet production.

The principle of the United Tax is be suggested as follows:

In the Decree on the United Tax the principle of the "ability to pay" is given ideal form. Not less than 300 categories of the population are represented in the principle two classes of spending taxpayers. This looks very complicated. But the principle is so simple that every peasant can understand it.

First of all, the decree starts off with the number of "taxes." Each is a tax levied on the collectivized or non-collectivized peasants. The second tax levied on the "farmers," as it is called by the decree, is the tax on the sale of goods.

The Henry George theory of the Single Tax, which sought to solve the problem of this single problem, social inequality, found its expression in the principle of the United Tax.

The "lessors" pensioners are a term often used for the big mass of pensionless workers. There was no pension for the grouped peoples in the United Tax of the Provision.

While the Soviet Government has to allow the conditions causing the social inequality, especially the difference in the right of the "kulaks" to hire labour, etc., in order to develop their means of subsistence. For this reason the struggle of the poorer peasants by mobilizing them into political activity, urging the breaking of all illegal capitalistic classes, is a vital direct interest of the collectivized peasants.

The "lessors" pensioners are a term often used for the big mass of pensionless workers. There was no pension for the grouped peoples in the United Tax of the Provision.

While the Soviet Government has to allow the conditions causing the social inequality, especially the difference in the right of the "kulaks" to hire labour, etc., in order to develop their means of subsistence. For this reason the struggle of the poorer peasants by mobilizing them into political activity, urging the breaking of all illegal capitalistic classes, is a vital direct interest of the collectivized peasants.

The social movement of the poorest peasants at the command of the "lessors" pensioners is an important phenomenon which may remain as yet more or less underestimated. The "lessors" pensioners, as rich as they may be on the social plateau which they have the right to receive from the state, stand upon their own self-sufficiency and their own self-reliance.

The principle of the United Tax is be suggested as follows:

In the Decree on the United Tax the principle of the "ability to pay" is given ideal form. Not less than 300 categories of the population are represented in the principle two classes of spending taxpayers. This looks very complicated. But the principle is so simple that every peasant can understand it.

First of all, the decree starts off with the number of "taxes." Each is a tax levied on the collectivized or non-collectivized peasants. The second tax levied on the "farmers," as it is called by the decree, is the tax on the sale of goods.

The Henry George theory of the Single Tax, which sought to solve the problem of this single problem, social inequality, found its expression in the principle of the United Tax.

The "lessors" pensioners are a term often used for the big mass of pensionless workers. There was no pension for the grouped peoples in the United Tax of the Provision.

While the Soviet Government has to allow the conditions causing the social inequality, especially the difference in the right of the "kulaks" to hire labour, etc., in order to develop their means of subsistence. For this reason the struggle of the poorer peasants by mobilizing them into political activity, urging the breaking of all illegal capitalistic classes, is a vital direct interest of the collectivized peasants.