SOUTHERN WORKER

WORKERS' CHILDREN — A CONFLICT

Workers' children in the Soviet Union are better than those in the United States. The photo shows children in the Soviet Union. The houses have been renovated so they are more comfortable. The children are well-clothed and well-fed.

In the United States, however, the living conditions of workers' children are much worse. Many of them have to work long hours and earn very little.
