The Fight for the Saar

While Hitler recently, at the Munich demonstration, believed about winning the Saar for Fascist Germany, he has been organizing his armed forces to defend the Saar Valley under the cover of fire and free and bloodshed.

The League of Nations Commission in the Saar now reveals that Hitler has built up a force of more than 5,000 men to repel any opposition and prevent their capture and free and bloodshed.

The Saar battlefront is now defended by a German garrison of about 250 men, armed with machine guns and other weapons. The Saar battlefront is being brought within 500 yards of the frontier to repel any opposition.
