Browder's Method of Ejecting a Grain of Flour

By ALAN MAX

The favorite device of Leon Trotsky, avowed dictator of Lenin's ideas, was to claim he was carrying out the policies of Lenin while the Communist Party of the Soviet Union under Stalin's leadership was actually a puppet of Stalin. Earl Browder, knowing to the ridicule of those who were still in a quixotic movement, saw Stalin's deception for what it was. He refused to accept "his" appeal to Communist Party members to turn out and vote for Stalin as "the best of us." This statement in itself nullified the fact that Stalin was the dictator of the Communist Party, and that the National Committee of the Communist Party of the United States under the leadership of William E. Fuller has "favored" these decisions. That Browder was a puppet of Stalin is nowhere revealed but once. Browder never revealed his record as a self-made man of the labor movement and, as his correct witnesses reveal, he is the person who does not take these decisions and who has no power to do so.

The main convention decisions called for a call of convention, recognition of Browder's version of Marxism, and the proof that Browder has never recognized: rentabili-
FOR FRANCO BREAK: The Moscow.subtitle will get United States action against France. The British press announced, after a United Nations action against France.

IRAN EXPEDITION: At the request of the British Government, the United States Expedition will send a military expedition to guard the northern border of Iran. The expedition will consist of a mixed force of infantry and armored vehicles. The expedition will be commanded by General Pershing.

HUNGARIAN HANGING: Ferenc Szlassz, Premier of Hungary, has been arrested. Szlassz is suspected of plotting against the Hungarian government. The arrest has been made under the authority of Generalissimo Horthy.

NAZI RISE HIGH: Helma Behn, new Communist Mayor of Essen, has been replaced by a Nazi. The Nazi regime is tightening its grip on the Ruhr area.

Browder's Method of Trickery

(Continued from Page 4)

pretended to support, but was actually working against the draft resolution which he had submitted. He did apparently not know that though everybody could see it, nobody was supposed to talk about it to the convention only to let the passengers on the ground know that he was carrying on the stage.

HOW BEQUES QUOTES

I quote such all. In his "apostle" to the Communist Party members, Browder quoted not from the final decisions of the convention, but from the draft resolutions. And even the use only itsiled phrases. Browder quotes as one of his "key decisions" of the convention: "We demand that the Com- munist leadership shall seek to carry the policies of the Roosevelt administration as far as possible without support of the American people."

These words are actually from the draft convention which Browder never officially adopted. In the final resolution, the word "support" was changed to "endorse." The whole thrust of his speech was changed as follows:

Browder, a demagogue who insists that the American people insist that the Communist administration carry forward the policies of the Roosevelt-labor movement."

It is interesting that the American people insist that the Communist administration carry forward the policies of the Roosevelt-labor movement.

But the sentence does not call for that. The complete paragraph in which Browder deliberately does not call for that, as is follows:

"It is imperative that the American people insist that the Communist administration carry forward the policies of the Roosevelt-labor movement..."

But the sentence does not call for that. The complete paragraph in which Browder deliberately does not call for that, as is follows:

"It is imperative that the American people insist that the Communist administration carry forward the policies of the Roosevelt-labor movement..."

But the sentence does not call for that. The complete paragraph in which Browder deliberately does not call for that, as is follows:

"It is imperative that the American people insist that the Communist administration carry forward the policies of the Roosevelt-labor movement..."

But the sentence does not call for that. The complete paragraph in which Browder deliberately does not call for that, as is follows:

"It is imperative that the American people insist that the Communist administration carry forward the policies of the Roosevelt-labor movement..."