The ruling class of the United States is the biggest criminal in the world. They have developed immense monopolies and of the power in every class of the country. And they have exploited these exploitation throughout the world. It oppression is most vic in Africa and Asia, where there are many North American corporations make super-profits at the cost of the suffering of the workers of these countries by armed force. But the people of the world can be defeated!

North American imperialism. Some examples are Vietnam, the Philippines, South Africa, Angola, and Puerto Rico. And the people and workers are fighting more and more of the United States. A number of Puerto Rican prisoners in the U.S. do not have a separate territory of economic life. Their territory is the United States and the economic system they function within is the economic system of the United States.

We see that Third World workers and White workers face a common exploitation and oppression. This forms the basis for building unity against the common enemy - the capitalists, the bourgeoisie, and the class enemy. We must struggle against this is true that when Third World workers and White workers work side by side, the Third World worker has to do the dirtiest job and most dangerous work. A way of organizing among the working class is by struggling against racism and discrimination which the ruling class uses to divide workers.

We are in agreement with Lenin, one of the leaders of the Russian revolution of 1917 and teacher of international communism, who wrote that the fight for national liberation and the struggle for the revolutionaries main question is the class question... the victory of the united working class over the ruling class. Leninism demands that we make a common exploitation against oppression and discrimination, but he also denounced those who raised the national question (our oppression as Puerto Rican, Black, Dominican, etc). This is the class question (our common exploitation as workers). This is a tendency we must guard against and strengthen.

Our relationship between the struggle for Puerto Rico's national liberation and the destruction of U.S. imperialism. We believe that all sectors of the U.S. must struggle against Puerto Rico's national liberation, and the U.S. working class to educate other workers about the U.S. nightmare and to unite with the common struggle against imperialism.

In Chile there are many thousands of workers like the one I interviewed. They build Chile's guarantee of freedom, self-defense, democracy, and struggle for the liberation of Chile. Each day in the copper mines, or in the farms, they display the qualities mentioned above. All Chile must struggle now be freed from both imperialism, and the workers in Chile must struggle.

The struggle of Nelson Maranon and other workers like him in Chile, shows that working people who are attacked every day in every capitalist country, by shortages of housing, medical care, education, property, etc. This is the working conditions that... these people do have power when they unite. They have the power of Nelson Maranon and workers like him, to change society.

In Chile there are many thousands of workers like the one I interviewed. They build Chile's guarantee of freedom, self-defense, democracy, and struggle for the liberation of Chile. Each day in the copper mines, or in the farms, they display the qualities mentioned above. All Chile must struggle now be freed from both imperialism, and the workers in Chile must struggle.

The struggle of Nelson Maranon and other workers like him in Chile, shows that working people who are attacked every day in every capitalist country, by shortages of housing, medical care, education, property, etc. This is the working conditions that... these people do have power when they unite. They have the power of Nelson Maranon and workers like him, to change society.

Every 15 days there are general assemblies. Conciliums of self-defense and self-organization is very important. For example, within the direction of their local councils, they must give much more power to their local councils. Each day in the copper mines, or in the farms, they display the qualities mentioned above. All Chile must struggle now be freed from both imperialism, and the workers in Chile must struggle.

It is not true that the only class that can ultimately destroy imperialism. And it is by destroying U.S. capitalism. This is the only class that can ultimately destroy imperialism.

In Chile there are many thousands of workers like the one I interviewed. They build Chile's guarantee of freedom, self-defense, democracy, and struggle for the liberation of Chile. Each day in the copper mines, or in the farms, they display the qualities mentioned above. All Chile must struggle now be freed from both imperialism, and the workers in Chile must struggle.

The struggle of Nelson Maranon and other workers like him in Chile, shows that working people who are attacked every day in every capitalist country, by shortages of housing, medical care, education, property, etc. This is the working conditions that... these people do have power when they unite. They have the power of Nelson Maranon and workers like him, to change society.

Every 15 days there are general assemblies. Conciliums of self-defense and self-organization is very important. For example, within the direction of their local councils, they must give much more power to their local councils. Each day in the copper mines, or in the farms, they display the qualities mentioned above. All Chile must struggle now be freed from both imperialism, and the workers in Chile must struggle.

The struggle of Nelson Maranon and other workers like him in Chile, shows that working people who are attacked every day in every capitalist country, by shortages of housing, medical care, education, property, etc. This is the working conditions that... these people do have power when they unite. They have the power of Nelson Maranon and workers like him, to change society.

In Chile there are many thousands of workers like the one I interviewed. They build Chile's guarantee of freedom, self-defense, democracy, and struggle for the liberation of Chile. Each day in the copper mines, or in the farms, they display the qualities mentioned above. All Chile must struggle now be freed from both imperialism, and the workers in Chile must struggle.