a time when many workers and intellectuals are beginning to see through the Labour party, to see it as different from the petty capitalist Conservative party. The empirical dislocation of the militant workers and intellectuals must be born with Marxists-Leninists conscious of these aims. This is the task. Thus the CPGB was formed. To win the militant workers and intellectuals is to win the socialist workers' party. And by compromising Marxists-Leninists ideology.

At present we must therefore be aware that (a) our shortage of carers and (b) our consequent shortage of funds to extend our activities. Our urgent work ahead is to patiently build our organisation group by group to cover the entire country. To raise our own and our newly won cadre level of political awareness. We can never afford to be content with ourselves as Marxists-Leninists. We must always be ready to extend our organisation. Activities and competence are not proletarian qualities. We must extend our influence throughout the entire country and consolidate our ranks, cleansing them of left and right opportunists and disruptors. The objective importance of the letter point cannot be overemphasised. Moreover we must be determined to wage a relentless struggle against revisionism in all ranks if it arises within our ranks. Only by doing so can we gain real strength.

At present our main duty is to patiently carry to them the basic analysis of the Marxist-Leninist-Maoist party line. This duty imposes heavy responsibilities on every member of the CPGB. For the first time in history we have a Marxist-Leninist-Maoist party in this country, and the task is to make it consolidate our ranks, cleaning them of left and right opportunists and disruptors. The objective importance of the letter point cannot be overemphasised. Moreover we must be determined to wage a relentless struggle against revisionism in all ranks if it arises within our ranks.
