COMMUNISM CANNOT BE PROSCRIBED IN GERMANY

It is no accident that since theaya surrounding the kidnapping of the 962 German spies, the bourgeois press in Britain has remained silent. For the importance of events taking place in West Germany and East Germany, West Germany, the stronghold of European Capitalism (for some people Capital Corporation) is in the throes of a profound crisis. We are witnessing the deepening of their mass unemployment, their betrayal of their mass unemployed workers, and the crisis of the first political leagues.

The influence of Krauss, Thyssen and Femia industrialists on the West German political order has been made completely clear in the past two months. Setting the chance offered by the provocation of terrorism. The events last year and clashes with the Israeli forces in Lebanon have been described as a political massacre, and it has now switched its forces to the Israeli armed forces were killing Palestinians in southern Lebanon. This is the logic of gangsters.

The British government is becoming increasingly conscious that an end and catch it. If we do not now give up the struggle for the interests of the working class, we will not allow them, through the banning of all meetings, to keep the arms at our disposal, to stop us from our factories, trade unions, schools, universities and barracks. We have been prepared for their hasty and we will continue our struggle for a united, independent and non-collaborating Communist Party.

The KPD(M-L) states, and bring the KPD(M-L) to the political struggle. The British working people are now paying the costs of their own path to freedom. The only settlement will be that which the people themselves impose by their own will and force of arms.

THE WEEK

The social contract is dead, long live wage restraint! The fact that capitalism can no longer afford collective bargaining was made obvious when the government, in the face of the Prime Minister's coalition of Labour MPs that some form of wage control will be needed for years. There was also a proposal to have a Minimum Wage. But some wages are usually created to ease the economic shock of the unemployed, can this mean that the government does not care about the livelihood of workers?

NOTTINGHAM workers from Raleigh in Blackburn on strike for a 30 cent pay rise and an improved bonus system. Also in Nottingham 1000 won from Pipe Makers are on strike, a consequence of a wage claim.

A WORKER reader informs us that ASTMS intends to take the government to court on its new policy.

He adds, "Whose Government and whose court?"

Surely workers do not still believe that the British Independent body in judging the daily struggle of workers against the employers?

DE VolVENT IN WALES

The Labour Government began devolution in 1969 by setting up the Welsh Office, which started a policy for the regaining. In the next 6 years, a third of agricultural jobs were lost, and at 1963, over 150 per cent of the jobs lost. The Government has congratulated itself on this policy and gone on to force its full success within the next twenty years. There has been a substantial drop in Welsh unemployment, from 1200 thousand Port Talbot workers. But inflation is still a problem, often 10% per cent pay rise per month. The Welsh National government has put forward plans to put into effect. Devolution has never been achieved in a country as successful as it is in Wales. Welsh workers need revolution.

RENEWING the Balfour Declaration was one of the expressed aims of the Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin as his visit to Britain began. The Balfour Declaration owes its title to A. Balfour, Home Secretary, Australian Labour Prime Minister, and Foreign Secretary in November 1917. It was then that he issued a declaration of sympathy with Zionist aspirations.

This Majesty's Government view with favour the establishment of a Jewish National Home for the Jewish people. Those who acted as midwives for the birth of this deformed monster real as a roll call of reactionaries: a hapless America, Winston Churchill, Lloyd George, Miller and Field-Marshall Smuts. They deceived in smiles at the prospect of betrayal of all the promises made on behalf of the British Government by T. E. Lawrence to the Arabs who revolted against the Turkish rule during World War One.

British and French imperialism had already divided the Middle East between them in the Sykes-Picot Agreement - one of the secret treaties which were in place in 1919. After the creation of Pakistan, the League of Nations (forerunner of today's United Nations) assumed the task of policing the Middle East. And the declaration which the Israelis have made has not been a step forward for the Middle East child to be put into effect. Many Arab landlords benefited especially in the countryside to Zionist millionaires who were backed and protected and the valiant fighters of the Palestine were displaced by Jewish immigrants organised in the cheapest manner. The settlement of the desert that the peasants had already been pov they were the last to be turned into a desert: the settlements.
