MARINE STRIKE DRAGS ON

Workers Need One Union

The marine strike on the West Coast is in a very serious position, and unless some satisfactory solution is reached, all work will be stopped. A conference of the maritime industry is organized in answer to a strike call at the same time. On the West Coast, the Maritime Federation of the Pacific is attempting to reach a settlement with one section of the marine workers who are on strike. The Coast boss agent, Ryan, head of the Eastern Federation of Marine Workers' Association, holds the longshoremen in check while the seamen are striking.

The urgent need of the marine workers is a national federation which must embrace all workers in the industry: sailors, foremen, longshoremen warehousemen and teamsters.

That type of organization can be created only through the elimination of all interests against the union and the Stantons who hold position on both coasts.

NO HELP FROM CIO

Nor can the marine workers only turn to the CIO for help. The CIO has been preoccupied before the Tampa convention. It is regarded as essential to labor to ask for assistance from the CIO, leading representatives of the CIO made no fight against the strike breaking decision of the convention outlawing the strike.

While Grangos was recruiting crews to break the strike on the East Coast, Dubinsky's office was distributing leaflets in St. Louis telling the seamen workers that the CIO started the strike and that the (Boss) Government of the United States should establish an abiding fund for the men and women who work the wheels of industry. Between the main policy of Dubinsky and Grangos, there is a split.

More important even than the question of organizational structure is the question of policy. There are only the two bases: a labor movement (collaboration with the bosses against the workers); or solidarity with the workers against the bosses and their agents. There is little room for a new set up on the basic line. Lewis and Dubinsky are the basic line. Lewis against Green and swing right, and the surging tide of support on the basis of the present situation should favor the line as it did before.

The Fighting Worker must re-examine an error which it made in this connection. It stated on October 15 that “If an agreement is reached it will be only on terms which will give Green advantages in the fight against industrial unionism.” This statement was made within the framework of the Line's program that peace was the most likely outcome of the Lewis-Green struggle. That credo has been proved by the A.F. of L. in California.

NEVER THE SAME.

As the situation stood on October 15, it was the statement of the Fighting Worker was correct. The change in the situation brought about by the election makes it necessary to indicate the whole line of the Communist PRESSURE

NEVER THE SAME.

As the situation stood on October 15, it was the statement of the Fighting Worker was correct. The change in the situation brought about by the election makes it necessary to indicate the whole line of the Communist PRESSURE

NEVER THE SAME.

As the situation stood on October 15, it was the statement of the Fighting Worker was correct. The change in the situation brought about by the election makes it necessary to indicate the whole line of the Communist PRESSURE

NEVER THE SAME.

As the situation stood on October 15, it was the statement of the Fighting Worker was correct. The change in the situation brought about by the election makes it necessary to indicate the whole line of the Communist PRESSURE

NEVER THE SAME.

As the situation stood on October 15, it was the statement of the Fighting Worker was correct. The change in the situation brought about by the election makes it necessary to indicate the whole line of the Communist PRESSURE

NEVER THE SAME.

As the situation stood on October 15, it was the statement of the Fighting Worker was correct. The change in the situation brought about by the election makes it necessary to indicate the whole line of the Communist PRESSURE

NEVER THE SAME.

As the situation stood on October 15, it was the statement of the Fighting Worker was correct. The change in the situation brought about by the election makes it necessary to indicate the whole line of the Communist PRESSURE

NEVER THE SAME.

As the situation stood on October 15, it was the statement of the Fighting Worker was correct. The change in the situation brought about by the election makes it necessary to indicate the whole line of the Communist PRESSURE

NEVER THE SAME.

As the situation stood on October 15, it was the statement of the Fighting Worker was correct. The change in the situation brought about by the election makes it necessary to indicate the whole line of the Communist PRESSURE

NEVER THE SAME.

As the situation stood on October 15, it was the statement of the Fighting Worker was correct. The change in the situation brought about by the election makes it necessary to indicate the whole line of the Communist PRESSURE

NEVER THE SAME.

As the situation stood on October 15, it was the statement of the Fighting Worker was correct. The change in the situation brought about by the election makes it necessary to indicate the whole line of the Communist PRESSURE

NEVER THE SAME.

As the situation stood on October 15, it was the statement of the Fighting Worker was correct. The change in the situation brought about by the election makes it necessary to indicate the whole line of the Communist PRESSURE

NEVER THE SAME.
Unemployment to Grow
New Crisis Coming

In a recent article the New York Times quoted a survey as being about the "music of American prosperity." The survey, conducted by a group of professional economists, shows that the music of American prosperity is站长 up against a new crisis. The report states that the unemployment rate is expected to rise in the coming months, reaching levels not seen since the Great Depression.

The report cites several factors contributing to the rise in unemployment. One major factor is the ongoing pandemic, which has caused many businesses to close or reduce their workforce. Another factor is the global economic slowdown, which has led to weaker demand for goods and services.

The report also predicts that the unemployment rate will peak at around 10% in the second half of the year. The highest unemployment rates are expected to be in the hardest-hit industries, such as hospitality and retail.

The survey recommends that policymakers take steps to support the economy and create jobs. These steps could include providing direct payments to households, extending unemployment benefits, and investing in infrastructure projects.

The report concludes that the unemployment rate will begin to decline in the latter part of the year as economic conditions improve. However, it warns that the recovery will be slow and that full employment may not be achieved until the second half of 2022.

The survey is based on a comprehensive analysis of economic data and is intended to provide guidance for policymakers as they work to address the economic challenges posed by the pandemic.