LABOR ACTION

German Vote Rejects Both Western Occupation and CP

In the face of a bitter U.S.-sponsored hue-and-cry against “revived German nationalism,” the people of the new German Federal Republic (West Germany) went to the polls on August 13 to register a next-to-anonymous vote for national independence from the Allied occupation.

In the first free election since Hitler took power, emerging from thirty-eight years of Nazi power during which time workers’ organizations were destroyed and atomized, the overwhelming majority of the German workers cast their ballots for socialism, via the Social-Democratic Party. This party emerged from the ruins of prewar Social-Democratic parties and carried on the militant traditions of the old German working class.

Germany is where the Communist Party’s membership and vote had been in the millions just before Hitler, the CP today garnered only 6 percent of the total vote—demonstrating beyond a doubt that the representation of the working class and of the worker’s movement simply means wanting neither the Western capitalists nor their Russian allies as their overlords.

This is the outstanding meaning of the election in West Germany.

Every dispatch to U.S. newspapers in the first two days after the vote carried the same one-liners—“an emphatic one-word: the occupation has not been the supporter and friend of the British, French, and American oppressors.”

A worker from West Germany said it simply and succinctly: “We shall not be free until the occupation is gone.”

The fact is simply that the German workers know the occupation cannot be fought to a finish. The American army and the British army are indestructible forces. The only thing to be done is to keep the occupation away from the German workers by every means necessary. Each worker for himself and all workers for one another—thereby ensuring the birth of a democratic Germany.

Singer Strike Still Solid Despite Bid by Company to Break Rank

N.Y. 8—The black sheep of the strike-striking movement, singer strike, is still on the go, with the firm of Herbert Jordan & Son, Inc., maker of Singer sewing machines, continuing its attack on the strikers, trying to cut off their livelihood.

The company has called in a labor lawyer, who is threatening to file a case against the strikers.

The strikers are demanding a raise in wages, and an end to the union-busting activities of the company.

In other news, the United Automobile Workers union has filed a complaint against the company for unfair labor practices.

Millions Spent by ‘Legal’ Lobbyists Is at New High

The tens of thousands of “five per cent” lobbyists in Washington are spending millions of dollars to persuade Congressmen to vote their way. In some cases, the money is not being spent in the usual way, but instead is being funneled to other, less obvious, but equally powerful, groups.

In the case of the tobacco industry, for example, millions are being spent on research grants to universities. These grants are often used to influence the research being done, and to influence the conclusions of the research.

In the case of the coal industry, millions are being spent to influence the environmental policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to environmental groups, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the coal industry.

The tobacco industry is also spending millions to influence the health policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to health organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the tobacco industry.

In the case of the automobile industry, millions are being spent to influence the transportation policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to transportation organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the automobile industry.

In the case of the oil industry, millions are being spent to influence the energy policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to energy organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the oil industry.

In the case of the agriculture industry, millions are being spent to influence the agriculture policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to agriculture organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the agriculture industry.

In the case of the defense industry, millions are being spent to influence the defense policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to defense organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the defense industry.

In the case of the aerospace industry, millions are being spent to influence the space policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to aerospace organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the aerospace industry.

In the case of the construction industry, millions are being spent to influence the construction policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to construction organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the construction industry.

In the case of the financial industry, millions are being spent to influence the financial policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to financial organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the financial industry.

In the case of the technology industry, millions are being spent to influence the technology policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to technology organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the technology industry.

In the case of the energy industry, millions are being spent to influence the energy policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to energy organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the energy industry.

In the case of the health industry, millions are being spent to influence the health policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to health organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the health industry.

In the case of the pharmaceutical industry, millions are being spent to influence the pharmaceutical policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to pharmaceutical organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the pharmaceutical industry.

In the case of the biotechnology industry, millions are being spent to influence the biotechnology policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to biotechnology organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the biotechnology industry.

In the case of the food industry, millions are being spent to influence the food policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to food organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the food industry.

In the case of the fast food industry, millions are being spent to influence the fast food policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to fast food organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the fast food industry.

In the case of the restaurant industry, millions are being spent to influence the restaurant policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to restaurant organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the restaurant industry.

In the case of the airline industry, millions are being spent to influence the airline policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to airline organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the airline industry.

In the case of the travel industry, millions are being spent to influence the travel policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to travel organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the travel industry.

In the case of the tourism industry, millions are being spent to influence the tourism policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to tourism organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the tourism industry.

In the case of the hospitality industry, millions are being spent to influence the hospitality policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to hospitality organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the hospitality industry.

In the case of the leisure industry, millions are being spent to influence the leisure policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to leisure organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the leisure industry.

In the case of the education industry, millions are being spent to influence the education policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to education organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the education industry.

In the case of the publishing industry, millions are being spent to influence the publishing policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to publishing organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the publishing industry.

In the case of the media industry, millions are being spent to influence the media policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to media organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the media industry.

In the case of the entertainment industry, millions are being spent to influence the entertainment policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to entertainment organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the entertainment industry.

In the case of the sports industry, millions are being spent to influence the sports policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to sports organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the sports industry.

In the case of the travel and tourism industry, millions are being spent to influence the travel and tourism policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to travel and tourism organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the travel and tourism industry.

In the case of the hospitality and tourism industry, millions are being spent to influence the hospitality and tourism policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to hospitality and tourism organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the hospitality and tourism industry.

In the case of the leisure and recreation industry, millions are being spent to influence the leisure and recreation policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to leisure and recreation organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the leisure and recreation industry.

In the case of the tourism and hospitality industry, millions are being spent to influence the tourism and hospitality policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to tourism and hospitality organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the tourism and hospitality industry.

In the case of the travel and leisure industry, millions are being spent to influence the travel and leisure policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to travel and leisure organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the travel and leisure industry.

In the case of the hospitality and leisure industry, millions are being spent to influence the hospitality and leisure policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to hospitality and leisure organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the hospitality and leisure industry.

In the case of the tourism and hospitality and leisure industry, millions are being spent to influence the tourism and hospitality and leisure policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to tourism and hospitality and leisure organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the tourism and hospitality and leisure industry.

In the case of the travel and tourism and hospitality and leisure industry, millions are being spent to influence the travel and tourism and hospitality and leisure policies of the government. This is done by providing financial support to travel and tourism and hospitality and leisure organizations, and by providing financial support to politicians who are favorable to the travel and tourism and hospitality and leisure industry.
Bell Strike —

—from page 1
One man was arrested for "black-handing" workers at a local factory. The picketers were angry because the management had refused to recognize their union. The strike had started over a dispute about wages and working conditions.

OHAHIO LABOR NEWS

Fawick Pickets Jailed; Negro P.O. Workers' Protest Gains Support

By ROY CLARK

CLEVELAND, Aug. 19—Fawick pickets were jailed for violating the state's injunction against making a strike. The company, a major manufacturer of buses, had fired several workers for joining the strike. The workers were arrested under state law, which makes it illegal to strike against an employer.

The 1900 workers surrounded three men from the strike picket, who were attacking the company's property. The men were injured in the scuffle and one of them, who had a broken arm, was taken to the hospital. The workers were given a temporary injunction to stop the harassment.

TICKETING UNDER CRASH

New York City Transit Authority started. Peter M. Moseley, 27, vice-president of the transit authority, was appointed as the new head of the transit system. The appointment was approved by the city council.

Moseley has been with the transit authority for 10 years and has been responsible for the system's operations and maintenance.

He will take charge of the transit system and work closely with the city council.

The selection was made after a series of meetings with representatives of the transit union and other interested parties.

When the crash, which occurred at 3:15 a.m., killed 22 people, Moseley was one of the first on the scene.

He immediately took charge of the investigation and worked tirelessly to ensure that the system was back in operation as quickly as possible.

The selection of Moseley was a major win for the transit union, which had been fighting for years to improve the system's safety and efficiency.

Reaction to Moseley's appointment was mixed. Some praised his experience and leadership, while others questioned his ability to deal with the challenges of running the transit system.

The ceremony was held at the transit authority's headquarters, and was attended by employees, city officials, and members of the public.

The selection of Moseley was a major milestone in the transit authority's history, and was seen as a significant step forward in the organization's efforts to improve the system.

The selection was announced during a press conference at the transit authority's headquarters.

The selection was praised by both the transit union and the city council.

The selection was a major win for the transit union, which had been fighting for years to improve the system's safety and efficiency.

The selection was praised by both the transit union and the city council.
World Review

How Just Free Are the "Free Elections" in Austria Going to Be?

By GEORGE KARANKE

Austria, in the eyes of many who know it, is claimed to be a land where the people of Austria will be able to elect their own representatives. According to its founders, the National People's Assembly, which will rule the country, will be elected by a majority of the people. The country, however, is not yet free from the influence of the capitalistic power blocs of the West. Austria is a land where the people are still subjected to the influence of the capitalistic power blocs of the West.

How Free Are the "Free Elections" in Austria Going to Be?

By GEORGE KARANKE

The people of Austria will be able to elect their own representatives. According to the National People's Assembly, which will rule the country, will be elected by a majority of the people. The country, however, is not yet free from the influence of the capitalistic power blocs of the West. Austria is a land where the people are still subjected to the influence of the capitalistic power blocs of the West.

Nobodys Knows...

DEANGELIS PAMPHELOT BLASTS, JIM CROW IN ARMED SERVICES

By GEORGE KARANKE

Aннободис Пампелот, директор Уинтер Колледжа в Нью-Йорке, в своём докладе на конференции в Бостоне, заявил, что Джим Крол и военные службы в США используют силу для подавления демократических движений.

Nobodys Knows...

- by Gabriel Bekele, director of the "British市政协" (B.P.S.)

A NATION IN ARMS REPORTS

JIM CROW IN ARMED SERVICES

By GEORGE KARANKE

Аннободис Пампелот, директор Уинтер Колледжа в Нью-Йорке, в своём докладе на конференции в Бостоне, заявил, что Джим Крол и военные службы в США используют силу для подавления демократических движений.

New Fashion Fraternization

AND EDDIE DAVIES' NEWS

DANIELFUS BLOOMFIELD, BLAINE SULZBERGER

New York City

CITY HALL

In a statement released yesterday by Mayor Edward F. Collins, Mr. Collins announced that he would recommend the opening of the city’s public schools to education officials. Mr. Collins said that the city’s public schools were operating on a budget of $2 billion, up from $1 billion last year.

Election Results

TUESDAY NIGHT

JIM CROW IN ARMED SERVICES

By GEORGE KARANKE

Аннободис Пампелот, директор Уинтер Колледжа в Нью-Йорке, в своём докладе на конференции в Бостоне, заявил, что Джим Крол и военные службы в США используют силу для подавления демократических движений.
U.S. Press Screams About 'Revival of Nationalism' but Who's Fostering Pro-Nazi-Politics in Germany?

While the U.S. press has been decriing the rise of nationalism and authoritarianism in Europe, particularly in Germany, there are many in the U.S. who believe that the U.S. government is fostering similar trends. The concept of nationalism has been around for centuries, and while it has had both positive and negative connotations, it has generally been viewed as a force for unity and solidarity. The rise of nationalism and authoritarianism in Europe, particularly in Germany, has raised concerns among many in the U.S.

The U.S. government has been accused of fostering nationalism and authoritarianism in Europe, particularly in Germany. This is due to a variety of reasons, including the government's close relationship with far-right leaders and its support for nationalist movements. The U.S. government's support for far-right leaders in Germany has been particularly troubling, as these leaders have been known to espouse racist and xenophobic views. The U.S. government's support for nationalist movements has also been a concern, as these movements are often linked to authoritarianism and have been known to suppress democratic freedoms.

The rise of nationalism and authoritarianism in Europe, particularly in Germany, has raised concerns among many in the U.S. The U.S. government's support for these movements has been particularly troubling, as these movements are often linked to authoritarianism and have been known to suppress democratic freedoms.