NMU Independents Gear to Take Fight to Rank and File

By R. H. GADDEN

NEW YORK, Sept. 27—The second annual convention of the National Medical Guild (NMU), concluded here yesterday afternoon after four days of meetings, during which time the members adopted a resolution calling for a “rank-and-file” fight against the management and a national strike to protest against the recent wage cuts. The resolution was passed by a large majority of the delegates, and the guild will now prepare a national strike committee to take action.

The national strike committee will be composed of representatives from each of the guild’s local units, and will work to organize a nationwide campaign of resistance to the management’s actions. The strike is expected to begin within the next few weeks, and will be a major test of the guild’s ability to mobilize its members.

The new rules include measures to ensure that all strikers are in complete conformity with the union’s strike objectives.

The new rules are expected to make it more difficult for the company to break the union, and the strikers are confident that they can hold out for the duration of the strike.

Gogus Members to Boost Rightist Candidates, Attacks veg Benefits

The medical lobby has been busy in recent months, attacking the benefits of socialism and pushing for more powerful individual lobbying campaigns. The lobby has been particularly active in attacking the benefits of socialism, and has been working to undermine public support for the benefits.

The lobby has been successful in its efforts, and has been able to limit the growth of public support for the benefits. In Memorium of Heroes: Warsaw’s Three Insurrections During World War II

By A. KISELKO

In September we observe the tragic anniversary of the Warsaw Uprising, which started on the 1st September, 1939, and of the two other insurrections of the Second World War and the 6th August Insurrection of 1944 during the liberation of the Polish capital. The third insurrection, the Warsaw Ghetto Uprising of 1943, was a unique episode in the history of the Warsaw Ghetto, in the face of the Polish resistance movement. The United States, Great Britain and the Red Army did not directly participate in the Warsaw Uprising. For two years, before the beginning of the Uprising, the Red Army was based in the town of Bialystok, at the northeastern boundary of the Warsaw Ghetto. On the 1st September, 1944, the majority of the Red Army troops were in the central area of the Ghetto, in the neighborhood of the Ghetto Uprising. The Uprising started on the 1st September, 1944, when the Red Army troops, under the command of General Wladyslaw Anders, started a general attack on the German occupying forces in the Ghetto. The Uprising lasted for three weeks, during which a large number of Polish resistance fighters, including civilians, died. The Uprising was eventually suppressed by the German forces, and the Ghetto was destroyed.

The three insurrections in Warsaw were a significant event in the history of modern Poland. The Warsaw Uprising was a major event in the history of the Polish resistance movement, and it is considered one of the most significant events in the history of the Second World War. The Uprising was a symbol of the Polish resistance movement’s determination to fight against the German occupiers, and it is considered a key event in the history of modern Poland.
