More UE Locals Join CIO; Carey Hits ACTU Power Bid

The swap of the nation’s electricity workers into the new International Union of Electrical Workers (CIO) was a whole lot bigger than anyone expected. Some new locals are joining the IUE-CIO in what is likely the biggest unionization drive of the decade. The move is also a blow against the traditional power of the AFL-CIO’s Electrical Workers council, which has been in existence for over a century. The new locals are coming from a variety of industries, including steel, rubber, and other blue-collar fields. The move is seen as a significant challenge to the traditional union structure, and it is likely to have a major impact on the labor movement.

New Issue of C.I. Due This Month

Published exclusively in the English-language newspapers of the country, the new issue of C.I. (Communist Information) will be released on the 15th. The publication is the official organ of the Communist Party of Canada and provides a platform for the exchange of ideas and information among the party’s members and supporters. This issue will feature articles on a range of topics, including the latest developments in the struggle for socialism, the role of the working class in building a socialist society, and the challenges facing the socialist movement today.

SP Says No More Campaigns, to Let Members Support Dems in Elections

The Socialist Party (SP) has announced that it will not launch any new campaigns in the upcoming election cycle. Instead, it will allow its members to support the Democratic Party (Dems) in any way they see fit. The decision was made after a series of meetings and discussions among the party’s leaders and activists. The SP has been a leading voice in the fight for a democratic socialist society, and its members have played a key role in pushing for democratic reforms and social justice. However, with the upcoming election, the party has decided to take a step back and allow its members to make their own decisions regarding political participation.

Cotton Pickers in Calif. Beat Associated Farmers

In a significant victory for workers, the cotton pickers in California have successfully organized and won the right to unionize. This is a major win for the labor movement, as it represents a significant challenge to the powerful farm owners who have long been able to exploit their workers. The success of the cotton pickers in Calif. is a testament to the power of organizing and standing up for one’s rights.

Labor Action / November 28, 1969

More UE Locals Join CIO; Carey Hits ACTU Power Bid

The swap of the nation’s electricity workers into the new International Union of Electrical Workers (CIO) was a whole lot bigger than anyone expected. Some new locals are joining the IUE-CIO in what is likely the biggest unionization drive of the decade. The move is also a blow against the traditional power of the AFL-CIO’s Electrical Workers council, which has been in existence for over a century. The new locals are coming from a variety of industries, including steel, rubber, and other blue-collar fields. The move is seen as a significant challenge to the traditional union structure, and it is likely to have a major impact on the labor movement.

New Issue of C.I. Due This Month

Published exclusively in the English-language newspapers of the country, the new issue of C.I. (Communist Information) will be released on the 15th. The publication is the official organ of the Communist Party of Canada and provides a platform for the exchange of ideas and information among the party’s members and supporters. This issue will feature articles on a range of topics, including the latest developments in the struggle for socialism, the role of the working class in building a socialist society, and the challenges facing the socialist movement today.

SP Says No More Campaigns, to Let Members Support Dems in Elections

The Socialist Party (SP) has announced that it will not launch any new campaigns in the upcoming election cycle. Instead, it will allow its members to support the Democratic Party (Dems) in any way they see fit. The decision was made after a series of meetings and discussions among the party’s leaders and activists. The SP has been a leading voice in the fight for a democratic socialist society, and its members have played a key role in pushing for democratic reforms and social justice. However, with the upcoming election, the party has decided to take a step back and allow its members to make their own decisions regarding political participation.

Cotton Pickers in Calif. Beat Associated Farmers

In a significant victory for workers, the cotton pickers in California have successfully organized and won the right to unionize. This is a major win for the labor movement, as it represents a significant challenge to the powerful farm owners who have long been able to exploit their workers. The success of the cotton pickers in Calif. is a testament to the power of organizing and standing up for one’s rights.

Don’t You Believe in Democracy? Asks Curran—Behind Cops’ Cells

Pete the Line of police who have just thwarted the vote for the rights of the prisoner, is asked by the Party of the Right to send a message to the National Maritime Union (CIO) and the International Union of Electrical Workers (CIO) that it is asking for support of the American Labor Movement (CIO) in the vote for the rights of the prisoner. The Party of the Right is asking for support of the American Labor Movement (CIO) in the vote for the rights of the prisoner.

Don’t You Believe in Democracy? Asks Curran—Behind Cops’ Cells

Pete the Line of police who have just thwarted the vote for the rights of the prisoner, is asked by the Party of the Right to send a message to the National Maritime Union (CIO) and the International Union of Electrical Workers (CIO) that it is asking for support of the American Labor Movement (CIO) in the vote for the rights of the prisoner. The Party of the Right is asking for support of the American Labor Movement (CIO) in the vote for the rights of the prisoner.
IN PHILADELPHIA—

Westinghouse UE Elects CIO Men

By BRUCE HARRER

November 29, 1949

The call of the Democrats is a general one, and the victory of the United Electrical, Radio & Machine Workers of America over the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union, which scored bigest victory for the CIO in the Philadelphia area, is expected to mean a change in the political scene in the city.

The election, held in the Westinghouse plant, was conducted by the National CIO voting board, and the results were announced by CIO District 3, which has jurisdiction over the area.

The candidates selected were:

President: John J. O'Brien

Vice President: John J. Burke

Secretary-Treasurer: John J. Curley

The CIO men were elected by a margin of 5,000 votes.

The CIO is expected to use the victory to increase its influence in the city.
BACKGROUND OF NMU FIGHT

(continued from page 1)

On campus, however, the situation was dramatically ruled by Curran.

"Curran," who has been described as "the man with the plan," was the driving force behind the NMU fight. He was known for his aggressive tactics and was not afraid to take risks. Curran was a complex figure, and his motivations were not always clear, but his influence was undeniable.

CONVENTION A FRASCO

The NMU fight was a unique event in the history of the university. It was a convention that was more than just a gathering of people. It was a movement, a revolution, a battle.

The NMU fight was not just about the workers; it was about the students as well. The NMU students were just as committed to the cause as the workers. They were the ones who took the lead in organizing the protests and rallies.

The NMU fight was a historic event that will go down in the annals of labor history. It was a testament to the power of organized labor and the strength of the human spirit.

U. OF C. REGENTS HEDGE ON ACADEMIC FREEDOM

BY A. GIBBONS

The Academic Senate of the University of California, representative of the academic profession, has expressed concern about the recent decision of the U. C. Regents to impose a series of cuts on the University's budget. The cuts include a reduction in the number of full-time faculty members, a reduction in the number of graduate assistants, and a reduction in the number of courses offered.

The Academic Senate is concerned about the implications of these cuts on the quality of education offered by the University. The cuts will have a direct impact on the ability of the University to provide a quality education to its students.

The Academic Senate has been working with the University administration to find a solution to the budget crisis. The Senate has been pushing for the University to find alternative sources of revenue, such as through increased student fees or through partnerships with other institutions.

The Academic Senate believes that the cuts imposed by the Regents are not the answer to the budget crisis. The Senate calls on the Regents to reverse their decision and to work with the Academic Senate to find a more equitable solution.

TIMES IN JAPAN

The University of California is facing a serious financial crisis. The University's budget is under threat due to the current economic climate. The University has been forced to make significant cuts in its budget, which has caused a reduction in the number of faculty members and courses offered.

The University administration has been working to find ways to reduce the budget deficit. They have been looking at ways to increase revenue, such as through increased student fees, partnerships with other institutions, and partnerships with businesses.

The University administration has been working hard to find a solution to the budget crisis. They have been working with the Academic Senate and other stakeholders to find a way to ensure the University's financial stability.

The University administration calls on the Regents to reverse their decision and to work with the Academic Senate to find a more equitable solution to the budget crisis.

LIVING IN JAPAN

The University of California is facing a serious financial crisis. The University's budget is under threat due to the current economic climate. The University has been forced to make significant cuts in its budget, which has caused a reduction in the number of faculty members and courses offered.

The University administration has been working to find ways to reduce the budget deficit. They have been looking at ways to increase revenue, such as through increased student fees, partnerships with other institutions, and partnerships with businesses.

The University administration has been working hard to find a solution to the budget crisis. They have been working with the Academic Senate and other stakeholders to find a way to ensure the University's financial stability.

The University administration calls on the Regents to reverse their decision and to work with the Academic Senate to find a more equitable solution to the budget crisis.