

Why we must organise General Strike

STATEMENT BY THE ALL TRADES
UNIONS ALLIANCE

THE TERMINATION of the talks by Coal Board chief MacGregor was in fact ordered by the Bonapartist Thatcher clique in Downing Street. The whole exercise amounted to nothing more than a crude attempt to wear down the miners.

It was accompanied by threats that men from pits closed down during the course of the strike would lose their right to redundancy pay.

The next move by MacGregor, the Thatcherite mouthpiece, will be to try and organise a national ballot over the heads of the National Union of Mineworkers. Meanwhile the courts are on standby ready to use the power of the absolute judiciary to smash the NUM and all unions which come to its assistance.

The Tory Cabinet is a collective mouthpiece of all the Bonapartists, with Downing Street cloaked in secrecy and brimming with conspiracies.

Last week the 'Daily Mirror' revealed only a small portion of the plotting and planning which is going on to create divisions within the unions in order to try and isolate the miners.

Class war

Money is no object, since the most important item on the Bonapartist agenda is violent class war on the whole of the working class.

The Thatcher clique constitutes a class-war general staff masquerading as a Cabinet. Parliament, with its powerful built-in Tory majority and its class allies from the SDP-Liberal alliance, is a rubber stamp for those decisions which the Bonapartists feel should be made public.

But for every decision reported to parliament, there are countless others

Fruits of the summit

ONE WEEK after the London economic summit, share prices on Wall Street have hit a 16-month low in anticipation of further rises in US interest rates. The London Stock Exchange nose-dived yesterday, falling by 18.3 points to 816.2.

Higher interest rates will devastate industry in Europe and create even longer dole queues in Britain where the real unemployment trend is already sharply increasing. Similar problems will be created throughout Western Europe.

But these effects are trifling by comparison with the crisis it will create for the debtor countries, particularly in Latin America. Argentina, one of the largest debtors, is already on a collision course with the International Monetary Fund, which is insisting on the imposition of drastic austerity measures.

Unless agreement is reached before the end of the month, the US banks will have to declare all their Argentine public sector loans 'non-performing' which means that from being balance sheet assets they abruptly turn into liabilities.

The US banking system has already been severely shaken by the failure of Continental Illinois. So bad is the crisis that not a single one of the big US banks will agree to take over Continental, even under severe pressure from the Federal authorities.

The resistance of the working class and the oppressed peoples of the debtor countries — epitomised by the miners' strike and the Argentine refusal to obey the IMF — is now a mighty force in deepening the crisis, ruling out any stabilisation on the imperialists' terms.

So much for the lies in the summit communique, which boasted about the establishment of economic recovery and claimed it was 'more soundly based' because it resulted from efforts to cut inflation.

No wonder Prime Minister Thatcher refused to answer questions about interest rates at the post-summit press conference last weekend. She knows as well as anyone else that another round of interest rate rises could put paid to all talk of recovery.

Even the summit communique itself warned that: 'High interest rates . . . could put recovery at risk'. In her efforts to avoid offending US President Reagan, Thatcher laid heavy stress on the three-year package of legislation now before Congress designed to reduce the budget deficit.

This was a 'downpayment', she said, and therefore there would be more to come. Any idea that this package would make any difference to interest rates was slapped down on Thursday by the chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, Paul Volcker.

He told a Senate finance subcommittee that the $144 billion downpayment would make very little difference to interest rates over the next 12 months. The combined demands of the government and the private sector on the credit market had generated 'disturbing pressures' on interest and exchange rates and on the repayment of international debt.

Volcker also warned about the risk of 'exchange rate and financial instability' adding: 'What is at stake here is the sustainability of growth here and abroad and our prospects for further progress towards price stability.'

Volcker's remarks show why the summit governments could offer no hope to the working class, the unemployed and the Third World. A new stage of the world revolution has opened. The only policy for the ruling class is to go to war on the working class throughout the world.

The Thatcher government's decision to torpedo talks on the miners' strike and go all out to smash the NUM is the first fruits of the new reality which lay behind the summit lies.

A-feudin' and a-fightin' . . . at the 'Star'

BY ALEX MITCHELL

BILL WAINWRIGHT, a leading journalist on the 'Morning Star' since the time of the 'Daily Worker', has been sacked by editor Tony Chater.

At an emergency chapel meeting yesterday 'Morning Star' journalists demanded Wainwright's immediate reinstatement amid allegations of political victimisation by the management.

Wainwright is a former member of the Communist Party's executive committee and an ex-assistant editor of the 'Morning Star'. In the run-up to last week's annual general meeting of the People's Press Printing Society, Wainwright signed a Communist Party statement calling for the election of party nominees to the management committee.

Apply

The National Union of Journalists' chapel also decided that nobody should apply for the position of editorial assistant which is being advertised within the building.

The present occupant of the post is Frank Chalmers whom the executive committee of the Bill Wainwright, a veteran 'Morning Star' journalist, has been sacked by editor Tony Chater Communist Party wants in place of David Whitfield, Chater's assistant.

On Thursday night, the Communist Party's political committee decided to press for an extraordinary meeting of PPPS shareholders later this year to recapture the 'Morning Star' from the Chater group.

This recommendation will go before the full national executive committee on July 14.

Some members of the executive argue that the time has come to discipline the Communist Party 'renegades' on the PPPS management, including Chater and chief executive Mary Rosser.

Violating

They say that a prima facie case exists against the entire Chater group for violating the spirit and the letter of the resolution passed at last November's 38th congress of the Communist Party which called for the restoration of the previous relationship between the party and its ailing daily paper.

In a statement issued last Tuesday Communist Party general secretary Gordon McLennan complained about the way the management committee used the 'Morning Star' for blatant electioneering against the Communist Party.

He said: 'The support for the executive committee's position was achieved in the face of a campaign against the party by the editors and the management committee in the columns of the 'Morning Star'.'

'Statements and letters from the party and its supporters were suppressed, while great space was given to those attacking it.'

The 'Morning Star' has still not printed McLennan's statement although it was delivered there last Tuesday. Yesterday's NUJ chapel meeting called on Chater to publish it without further delay.

It has now become almost custom and practice at the 'Morning Star' to ban publication of statements issued by the Communist Party, to delay them or to cut them down.

Last month the party had to issue a public protest over the PPPS management committee's refusal to publish a statement issued by the party's executive committee.

Attempts

The protest said: 'The management committee's attempts to prevent the readers of the paper and shareholders in the PPPS from reading the views of the Communist Party in the run-up to the annual general meeting in June, is an act of censorship which must arouse the gravest concern among all those who want to see the previous relationship between the Communist Party and the PPPS restored.'

One Tory exchanged for another

BY A NEWS LINE REPORTER

NO CHANGE — that was the real result of the Portsmouth South by-election.

Tory Ralph Bonner Pink represented the constituency for 18 undistinguished years under the Conservative Party label.

From next week it will be represented by Tory Michael Hancock, 38, who will sit on the SDP bench.

Hancock overturned a 12,335 Conservative majority to take the seat by 1,341, humiliating the Conservative candidate Patrick Rock who formerly worked in Prime Minister Thatcher's private office.

But if experience at Crosby, Croydon and Orpington is any guide the Conservative voters who switched to Hancock this time will switch back to the Conservative Party at the next election.

Result

Thatcher phoned Rock yesterday morning to commiserate with him and her aides said she was 'clearly disappointed' by the result.

A good deal of the blame for the defeat was being heaped on Patrick Jenkin, the Environment Secretary, who announced on the eve of poll that Conservative-controlled Portsmouth city council was on a list of likely candidates for rate-capping.

But Rock laid the blame squarely on the electorate. Apathetic Conservative supporters had stayed at home thinking it was a safe seat, he claimed.

'People felt it was a safe seat and the government had a large majority and they could afford to sit at home,' Rock said.

● Euro-election figures released yesterday show that the great majority of British voters ignored Thursday's European parliament elections.

Lower

The overall turnout is likely to be even lower than the 32.7 per cent in 1979, again leaving Britain bottom of the EEC voting league.

Big Labour gains are predicted, but counting does not begin until late on Sunday evening, when polling throughout the EEC is complete.

Prices still high

THE RETAIL price index fell from 5.2 per cent in April to 5.1 per cent in May, according to figures published yesterday.

Employment Secretary Tom King said the government's forecast of 4.5 per cent inflation by the end of the year still stood.

But in case anyone expected any easing of austerity measures, he added: 'Our inflation rate is still too high in relation to our competitors.'

Details of the figures from the Employment Department show that prices rose 0.4 per cent in May.

About a third of this was due to higher prices of fresh vegetables

Strike schools named

THE National Union of Teachers yesterday named the 578 schools where it plans to stage three-day selective strikes in 25 authorities next week in support of its pay dispute.

But within minutes it reduced the hit list to 24 authorities, when Tory-controlled Northamptonshire gave an assurance that it now favoured unconditional arbitration as a means of settling the dispute.

Doug McAvoy, deputy general secretary of the NUT, immediately sent a message to the 400 Northants members who were to stage strikes in 36 schools between June 19 and 22, telling them the action was off.

SHOOTING: FULL INQUIRY CALL

DEMANDS for an independent inquiry into the shooting of two unarmed men in a north London post office were rejected by Home Secretary Brittan yesterday.

The call came from Labour's home affairs spokesman, Gerald Kaufman.

Brittan told MPs that there would be an internal police investigation and reports to the Director of Public Prosecutions.

Kaufman had commented: 'Even if people are involved in criminal activity this cannot, except in the most extreme circumstances be justification for shooting them down.'

'I have to say the police inquiry will not, of itself, satisfy public concern in this matter.'

Kaufman added: 'In the light of the clear failure of the measures taken after the shooting of Stephen Waldorf we ask the government to set up an independent inquiry into the issue and the use of firearms by the police.'

He recalled Scotland Yard's statement that police had said a threat was posed.

'But the belief in the presence of a threat is not the same as the absolute necessity specified in the Metropolitan Police rules.'

DEBTS DOMINATE COMECON MEETING

MOSCOW — The Soviet bureaucracy and its economic pact allies have agreed on a tight economic package that includes increased oil and gas prices and industrial re-organisation to improve productivity.

Severe trade and economic sanctions by US imperialism and heavy debts to western banks are behind the Comecon (Council for Mutual Economic Assistance) measures.

The decisions were made at a three-day conference of the member countries: the Soviet Union, East Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Bulgaria, Rumania, Cuba, Mongolia and Vietnam.

It was the first Comecon conference in 15 years and the debt problems of countries like Poland appeared to have dominated the agenda.

BY A FOREIGN

Serious setbacks to recent grain harvests in the Soviet Union and subsidies to the Warsaw Pact countries have placed heavy burdens on the Soviet economy.

The Moscow Stalinists have already implemented strict economic curbs and imposed harsh productivity margins on the working class.

The bureaucracy sought, and obtained, guarantees of industrial and agricultural supplies from the East European members.

Pledge

Comecon members were given a pledge that supplies of gas would be speeded up, but details of the arrangement were not released.

Most of the price increases will exclude Mongolia, Cuba and Vietnam out of what a communiqué called 'international duty'.

The meeting attacked US imperialism for jeopardising 'the very existence of the world', but made a plea for 'constructive ways to develop stable international political and economic relations of peace with due regard for world realities and for the interests of all countries'.

NGA gets hearing

■ THE National Graphical Association yesterday won the right to a full hearing over a claim for damages by Messenger Group owner Eddie Shah. It will last three weeks and is due to start in Manchester on July 9, when Shah will seek 'exemplary and aggravated' damages. Yesterday the Messenger Group was ordered by the Appeal Court to repay with interest to the NGA £28,653, the difference between an award made by another judge in March and the higher court's interim award.

■ BRITISH troops are on stand-by in Cyprus for active service in the Gulf war, according to reports published in the pacifist journal 'Peace News'. The British alert coincides with President Reagan's decision to deploy the US Rapid Deployment Force in Oman and to supply Saudi Arabia with 400 Stinger missiles. 'Peace News' says that the British expeditionary force set off from Scotland on board a transport ship on June 3.

■ FRIEDRICH von Hayek, the 85-year-old Austrian who claims the dubious title 'father of monetarism' has been made a Companion of Honour by Prime Minister Thatcher. Hayek is the guru behind the disastrous economic policies which have devastated manufacturing industry and created permanent mass unemployment.

■ THE Association of London Authorities was saved from extinction yesterday when a High Court judge gave clearance to its amended constitution. Spokesman Phil Kelly commented: 'This enables us to fight against the abolition of the GLC and against government proposals for rate-capping.' The ALA was in danger of being wound up after another judge declared in March that a £33,000 GLC subscription was unlawful because the association was a 'party politically-motivated body'.

■ A 'BUGGED' Christmas tree brought about the downfall of Det Insp Peter Lewis, who was jailed for 18 months at the Old Bailey yesterday. A microphone was concealed in the tree when he went to collect a £1,000 bribe from accused man John Goodwin, and his conversation was recorded.

■ THE ENTIRE workforce of Hitachi's in South Wales, including the vast majority of members of the electricians' union EETPU, meet in Aberdare today to decide what action should be taken to defend trade union rights and conditions. These are under attack in a 30-page document outlining the future of Hirwaun plant.

■ EXECUTIVE member of the health union COHSE, Haddou Mohamed, held a seven-day hunger strike last week in protest at the Tory cuts in the National Health Service.

A hospital worker at Addenbrookes Hospital in Cambridge, he stood in various city centres holding posters, handing out leaflets and collecting donations for the miners' strike.

JANE ROBERTON 1942-1983

COMRADE Jane Roberton died one year ago today. She had been suffering from cancer for several years.

Jane was a founding member of the Workers Revolutionary Party and joined the Socialist Labour League, its predecessor, in 1972. She and her husband Matthew became members while living in north London.

Later they moved to Bristol and maintained an active membership.

Jane will always be remembered as a determined fighter for revolutionary principles. When she first became a member, she worked at University College Hospital as a sister in the operating theatre. She was a member of the Royal College of Nursing and in Bristol had begun to train as a clerical nursing lecturer.

She passionately defended the gains of a National Health Service and fought strongly against the Tory government's cuts, speaking out at meetings and, in particular, at the All Trades Unions Alliance Conference in Birmingham in November 1982.

Jane will always be remembered as a courageous fighter. Knowing she had terminal cancer did not deter her from her resolution to fight back against the capitalist system.

She believed in the future and had every confidence that the working class would surge forward and under revolutionary leadership, take the power.

Our thoughts go to her husband Matthew Roberton and their two young children, Hannah and Nathaniel, at this time.

Picket killed at power station

JOE GREEN, a 55-year-old miner from Kellingley Colliery, was killed yesterday when he was hit by a lorry outside Ferrybridge Power Station, near Castleford.

According to eyewitnesses, Green was among a handful of pickets on the main gates of the West Yorkshire power station who were trying to talk to the driver when he was knocked down and killed.

NUM President Arthur Scargill last night said he was 'deeply shocked' by the death. 'Two of our members have now been killed in the course of this dispute,' he said.

'Joe Green gave his life for the right to work. Every miner, every trade unionist in Britain, must ensure that he did not die in vain.

'I am calling on all those employed in power stations to refuse to handle any fuel including coal and oil being delivered across our picket lines.'

Only hours after Green's death senior police officers said they were treating it as a fatal road accident and that their inquiries were nearly complete.

Kellingley NUM delegate Howard Wadsworth described Green as a 'stalwart' of the picket line at Ferrybridge who would walk there every day to try to persuade lorry drivers to turn back.

'He was a very, very jolly lad, and during the 1972 and 1974 strikes he got really well known for his picketing activities.'

PRESS ROUND-UP

By Paul Feldman

Press attacks will rebound

THE Tory press turned its venom on miners' president Arthur Scargill yesterday, trying unsuccessfully to prove that he had personally engineered the break-down of talks with the National Coal Board.

Leading the pack was the 'Financial Times', mouthpiece of the City of London's stockbrokers, moneylenders and other hard-working citizens.

Scargill, the paper ranted, was 'a specialist in the use of the mob' and appealed to 'less fanatical' NUM leaders to take a hand in affairs.

The current leaders, the paper went on, were guilty of 'intimidation' and for the government and the Coal Board to give in now would be 'a total and unprincipled surrender to violence'.

Rupert Murdoch's 'Times' was not far behind in its vitriol against the NUM leader.

The gulf between the miners' demands and the Coal Board's insistence on closures and redundancies was 'almost entirely the work of Mr Scargill', the top people's paper told the top people.

'His list of demands on Wednesday, harder in important respects than the terms the union had spoke of earlier, must have been presented in the certainty that they would be rejected.'

'If there was an incipient glimmer of a bargain, they seem designed to eliminate all grounds of compromise.'

This came from the same paper which, on the eve of the secret talks, had NCB chairman MacGregor announcing his plan for an industry producing more coal with far fewer miners and pits!

That front-page story was promptly, and rightly, denounced by Scargill and other miners' leaders as an effective sabotage of the talks. 'Mrs Thatcher's latest instructions', was how they were described.

Yet 'The Times', knowing all this full well, could say yesterday that MacGregor's reference to Scargill as a latter-day 'Jekyll and Hyde' was 'not implausible'.

Murdoch's men are only fooling themselves. The miners know that Scargill's firm stand reflects their determination to continue the struggle for jobs until it is successful.

They support the insistence that MacGregor's closure plan must be withdrawn, and know that the demands placed before the NCB on Wednesday are all agreed union policies in the fight against job losses.

Capitalist press attacks on Scargill will only harden their resolve.

ASSEMBLY IN CAMDEN

THE CAMDEN Assembly has its inaugural conference this Sunday. Sponsored by Camden Trades Council, it aims to unite local trade unions with the local community in the struggle to defend jobs and services.

The London Borough of Camden faces complete devastation in its employment. It has threats hanging over virtually every one of the major public services grouped in its area.

SELBY ARRESTS

AT LEAST 52 miners were arrested when police moved in to break up their sit-down blockade outside the new North Selby 'super pit' at Escrick near York yesterday.

The 150 miners sat down in the middle of the road to try and prevent construction workers and wagons getting in and out. And there were pickets outside the four other new pits in the Selby coalfield.

Miners accused the police of injuring a number of pickets as they dragged them away.

● The General and Municipal Boilermakers and Allied Trade Union (GMBATU) has asked the TUC to set up a loan fund to support the miners and their families.

Help

Union general secretary David Basnett said it would send £1,000 a day to help miners and their families following a decision of the GMBATU conference last week.

He said the Tory government and the Coal Board 'must recognise that the whole movement is behind the NUM'.

ARGENTINA'S DEBTS WORRY U.S. BANKERS

BY A FOREIGN CORRESPONDENT

NEW YORK — Argentina's bank advisory committee met yesterday amid bankers' worries about the country's refusal to agree to austerity measures dictated by the International Monetary Fund (IMF).

The meeting took place under the threat that the US Treasury would not lend Argentina $300 million to help it pay part of its $43.6 billion IMF debts.

The guarantee, contingent on Argentina agreeing to IMF austerity, lapsed yesterday.

Treasury Secretary Donald Regan said on Thursday he had made no decision on an extension.

Refused

Some bankers said they would not be surprised if the Treasury refused to renew the guarantee.

The committee was expected to discuss a new maturity date to pay off a $750 million bridge loan extended to Argentina at the end of 1982.

Payment was due yesterday but bankers were reported to have agreed in principle to 'roll over' the loan, meaning holding off declaring a default on the package.

The crisis facing the banks is Argentina's refusal to accept IMF demands for new austerities in the face of the June 30 deadline to pay off more than $400 million of interest overdue on its $43.6 billion debt.

If Argentina fails to pay by the end of June, accounting regulations will force US banks to declare the loans as 'non-performing'.

Written off

Loans declared 'non-performing' are loans written off as a loss to the banks.

Mexico spearheaded a $500 million emergency package to avert such action at the end of March this year.

A similar rescue, with an advance of $125 million from Argentina's adviser banks, $250 million from the country's reserves and about $70 million left over from the earlier package, is in danger because of Argentina's refusal to meet IMF conditions.

Bankers said the outcome depended on the reaction of IMF managing-director Jacques de Larosiere to the Letter of Intent Argentina submitted over the heads of the IMF negotiating team visiting Buenos Aires.

Provide

The banks would agree to provide new funds only if the IMF accepted the Letter of Intent as a basis for more talks and if the Fund recommended lending $125 million on this basis, a senior banker said.

Regan said at a news conference on Thursday that whether the US would grant another extension was 'just a time decision'.

He contended it would not affect the US 'one way or another' if Argentina froze repayments.

Regan tried to defuse the crisis gripping US share markets and banking circles by insisting 'from our point of view' there would not be much impact if the US decided not to extend the $300 million loan guarantee.

Asked whether the United States would grant an extension if Argentina signed a letter of intent with the IMF, Regan said: 'We'll see what happens.'

Regime

The 11-member committee, chaired by Citibank, was reviewing bankers' economic projections for Argentine economic performance, with which the regime of President Raul Alfonsin in Buenos Aires disagrees.

SOWETO REMEMBERS

SOWETO — Black South Africans today commemorate the deaths in 1976 of more than 500 people, many of them school-children, during an attack by security forces.

The violence erupted in the dormitory township, close to Johannesburg, and spread across South Africa after 23 people, including two white, were killed by the security forces.

The dead have been mourned each June 16 and many blacks mark the day by staying away from work to attend special church services.

Soweto was tense yesterday as anger mixed with sadness, while the racist regime drafted extra police and prevented reporters from getting too close to the mourners.

Excuse

The official excuse for the censorship is that the presence of reporters will provoke violence.

The Soweto uprising was sparked by the regime's insistence that black pupils be taught subjects in Afrikaans, the official language of the Dutch-descended racist rulers.

The issue unleashed the anger of blacks against apartheid rule and gave birth to a new political consciousness.

The regime was forced to drop its school language policy after the uprising but education remains a source of anger against Pretoria.

A number of schools at Atteridgeville, near Pretoria, were closed down earlier this year after months of boycotts and demonstrations in which one girl was killed.

Soweto is an acronym for South-Western Townships, designating the apartheid regime's exclusion of territories into virtual prison camps for blacks.

Death squad link

SAN SALVADOR — Salvadorean police are investigating reports that members of a disbanded intelligence unit were linked with extreme right-wing death squads.

Police chief Rinaldo Golche said yesterday the notorious S-2 intelligence unit of the Treasury Police, abolished on Thursday by President Napoleon Duarte, had been removed from their posts.

They had been accused of involvement in 'many illegal activities and of perhaps being involved in the death squads', he said.

Golcher admitted the 100 members of the S-2 unit had merely been transferred

U.S. arms sale to China

WASHINGTON — The United States has agreed to sell China anti-aircraft missiles, anti-tank rockets and advanced artillery shells.

Groundwork for the deal was worked out during a visit this week by China's Defence Minister, Zhang Aiping.

Defence Secretary Caspar Weinberger met Zhang during his Washington visit and said in a subsequent interview that China's interest in improved air and tank defences was justified because of the many Soviet troops and tanks on its borders.

The proposed anti-Soviet military pact involves US aid for military improvements to China's army and joint armaments manufacture in China.

Zhang left Washington yesterday to visit US military bases and defence contractors in Texas, Washington State and California. He will leave the United States on June 23 for Canada.

Details of the proposed sale of Hawk air-defence weapons and TOW (tube-launched, optically-tracked, wire-guided) anti-armour missiles, as well as artillery munitions and other technology, is due to be worked out by technical teams from both countries.

The Pentagon said 'both Secretary Weinberger and the Chinese minister have expressed pleasure over the success of the meeting'.

It added that 'both ministers stressed the importance of continuation of ministerial meetings and military-to-military exchanges'.

In an interview published in Tokyo the Chinese Communist Party General Secretary Hu Yaobang confirmed that China was considering weapons purchases from the US.

He was quoted in the Japanese daily 'Keizai Shimbun' as saying China might buy defensive weapons from Washington. But he claimed the value of such purchases would not be high.

Defence officials said China would probably buy some of the TOW missiles and make others under a license from the US manufacturer, Hughes Aircraft.

Weinberger visited China last September and met Zhang then.

Meanwhile the Republican-controlled Senate on Thursday approved much larger defence spending and lower domestic spending than the Democrat-dominated House of Representatives.

Budget and appropriations committee members of both bodies failed to make any progress in yesterday's second negotiating session.

The two sides have disagreed by $55 billion on defence spending and $10 billion on domestic spending programmes.

Basque fighters killed

HERNANI, Spain — Two Basque fighters were killed yesterday in a fire at a block of flats surrounded by security forces.

The fire started several hours after paramilitary civil guards laid siege to the building in Hernani, a Basque town south of San Sebastian.

A statement by police said the fire started after a grenade was thrown by security forces. It ignited explosives said to be stored by the ETA.

The two dead men were members of an ETA commando unit which had been hiding in the building.

A leader of the group, named as Jesus Maria Zabarte Arregui, was captured and police seized arms and explosives.

On Thursday a civil guard was killed and a passer-by was wounded in a car bomb attack in San Sebastian shortly after the interior ministers of France and Spain met in Madrid to discuss increased co-operation against Basque separatists crossing their border.

French Interior Minister Gaston Defferre and his Spanish opposite number, Jose Barrionuevo, were holding the talks following increased collaboration this year in security operations against the ETA.

planned

WASHINGTON — A team of military analysts has suggested to the US government that it consider Western Australia and Spain as bases for the US Rapid Deployment Force (RDF).

The proposal is outlined in 'Strategic Requirements for the Army to the Year 2,000', a study commissioned by the US army on a Defence Department contract at the Georgetown University Centre of Strategic and International Studies (CSIS).

Examining possible US army interventions in the 1990s, the analysts suggested the RDF, recently renamed the US Central Command, be expanded to six divisions from its current five and deployed abroad.

'Two possible locations — although at sizeable political cost — would be in Spain and in Western Australia,' they said.

The purpose of their presence would be to train, organise and equip them for speedy deployment to Europe and East Asia.

Both forces would be within striking distance of the Gulf. Spain could be used as a jumping-off point for Latin America and North Africa, while Australia could be used for operations in south east Asia and South Africa, they said.

COMMANDOS BLITZ
HOLY SIKH SHRINE

NEW DELHI — The holiest building in Punjab's Golden Temple of Amritsar has been destroyed as a result of the storming by specially trained commandos on June 5, when more than 1,000 Sikhs were massacred.

Reuters correspondent John Fullerton said the Akal Takht, 'formerly a tranquil gold, blue and white building shaded by trees, resembled a bombed-out ruin from Berlin or Stalingrad in World War II'.

Damage was extensive as a result of the use of rocket launchers to 'knock out emplacements'.

Lieutenant-General K. Sunderji, the senior officer commanding the operation, ordered a howitzer to be fired at the temple when the commandos began taking 'up to 30 per cent casualties'.

The central shrine, a shimmering marble and gold leaf pavilion in the middle of a huge man-made lake was the only undamaged building in the sprawling grounds, Fullerton said.

Arrested

Harchand Singh Longowal was one of two top leaders of the Akali Dal, the main Sikh political party, who had been arrested and flown to a jail in Madhya Pradesh to the south.

The Indira Gandhi government yesterday renewed its fabricated accusations that Pakistan had instigated 'terrorists' and set up camps in Jammu and Kashmir to Punjab's north.

Latest reports said up to 5,000 Sikh soldiers at six key regimental centres had rebelled against the carnage at the temple.

Fighting was continuing and a power line blown up in Kapthala district, west of Amritsar.

(BSF) and Central Reserve Police Force (CRPF) troops in battle fatigue, complete with camouflage trappings.

Villagers said the entire leadership of the Akali Dal had gone into hiding.

Mass arrests in Amritsar and throughout the state have drastically driven up the earlier official total of about 6,000.

Petrol stations were besieged by queues of motorists, mainly industrial and farm workers with tractors and lorries, waiting for their quota of 60 litres of scarce fuel.

Pakistani spokesmen in Rawalpindi and their international missions have categorically denied the Gandhi regime's fabrications.

Two-hundred foreign journalists denied entry into Punjab were taken on a conducted tour of Amritsar on Thursday but prohibited from filming the temple.

Only state television cameras rolled. The conducted tour was a desperate effort by the regime to defuse the extent of the atrocity and destruction of the 16th century shrine, holiest of holies for Sikhs.

The officer who commanded the storming of the temple, Lieutenant-General R S Bahr, told the journalists the army had lacked 'adequate intelligence on the extremists' armament and defensive positions'.

Sikhs internationally have been outraged by the destruction of the Akal Takht (highest seat of Sikhism and home of the Sikh holy scripture).

Mrs Gandhi's regime is trying to turn reality on its head by insisting that the invading commandos fought a defensive battle in the face of heavy fire from the 'terrorists' who allegedly caused most of the damage.

An All-India Radio bulletin on Thursday said: '... the area around the Golden Temple and the temple itself was developed into a virtually impregnable fortress garrisoned by fanatically motivated insurgents ... the Akal Takht was turned into the main base of the terrorists.'

Suggesting

The journalists were told that $309,000 in cash, 172 ounces of gold and more than 36 ounces of silver, plus jewellery and precious stones had been found in the temple.

The government is suggesting that the cash and jewellery hoarded at the temple was used by the Sikhs to pay for arms and ammunition.

There is nothing unusual about such amounts of cash and kind in Indian places of worship that daily receive vast amounts in donations from pilgrims and store them in temple vaults.

Arrests in Assam

NEW DELHI — Police in the north-east state of Assam arrested 300 people as a preventive measure against a statewide anti-government strike yesterday.

Police patrols in Gauhati, the state capital, stepped up the repressive measures after orders direct from New Delhi.

A five-year campaign has raged in Assam against illegal immigration at the connivance of Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's regime.

New Delhi last year sent troops to quell uprisings across the oil-rich and harshly exploited state and occupying battalions remain.

The bundu (strike) is believed to have been called by the All-Assam Students Union and the All-Assam Gana Sangram Parishad, leaders of the national struggle for self-determination for Assamese people.

Iran bid to cut civilian losses

TEHRAN — Majlis Speaker Hojatoleslam Hashemi Rafsanjani said yesterday Iran was prepared to extend an agreement with Iraq not to bomb civilian areas in an attempt to defuse the Gulf war.

'We declare to the United Nations that if the Iraqis do not strike in the Persian Gulf, we will not fire even one bullet,' he told a Friday prayer meeting.

Rafsanjani, Ayatollah Khomeini's personal representative in the Majlis, warned that Iran would retaliate if Iraq continued indiscriminately to shell Iranian cities and shell Iran-bound tankers in the Gulf.

Iraq has attacked about 40 merchant ships, including vessels owned by Kuwait and Saudi Arabia, since mid-April and claimed responsibility for them.

The last reported missile attack was against the Kuwaiti-owned supertanker 'Kasimah East' off the Gulf state of Qatar last Sunday.

Rafsanjani dismissed the Iraqi attacks in the Gulf as militarily insignificant.

'Hitting a tanker is like hitting a camel. It is so big that even a child can throw a stone at it and is bound to hit it somewhere,' he said.

Iraq, however, is making military preparations against the pro-imperialist Iraqi provocation against the Iranian revolution.

Tehran television yesterday showed film of volunteers leaving for the front, including 4,000 from Guilan province.

NALGO IN CONFERENCE IN BRIGHTON

NALGO BACKS

'RATE-CAP' FIGHT

BY OUR OWN
CORRESPONDENT

THE FIGHT of Liverpool Council and other authorities preparing to fight new Tory legislation was given a boost by the local government union NALGO yesterday.

Motions of support for Liverpool's defiance of Tory cuts policies and against 'rate-capping' were endorsed by delegates at the union's Brighton conference.

Against the advice of the executive, the union supported an amendment which offered support to those councils 'which are forced to approve deficit budgets in order to defend jobs and services'.

The conference heard from Liverpool deputy leader Derek Hatton, who is a NALGO member. He pledged there would be no moving back on pledges.

Talks with the Environment Department have come to nothing, and it seems certain that the city council will be asked to support a deficit budget which ignores the effects of severe grant losses.

It is understood that a joint report by civil servants and Liverpool officials shows that rates would have to rise 37 per cent even if the council made all the cuts demanded by the government.

Final

Council leaders will hold one final meeting with Environment Secretary Jenkin in London next Tuesday.

NALGO applauded the 'courageous stance' taken by the council and resolved to send a message of support to leader John Hamilton.

It demanded the return of the £120 million in grant aid withheld from the city since 1979.

A resolution on cuts and rate capping resolved that the union would 'campaign with the trade unions, community groups, local authorities, ratepayers, tenants and other users of local authority services to prevent the implementation of these proposals even if they become law.'

The list of councils which will have their spending cut by law under the new Rates Bill is expected when the legislation receives the royal assent in about three weeks.

A preliminary list leaked from the Environment Department reveals 15 authorities due for the Jenkin's treatment.

Cut

They are: the GLC, the Inner London Education Authority, Camden, Greenwich, Hackney, Islington, Lambeth, Lewisham, Southwark, Haringey, South Yorkshire, Basildon, Portsmouth, Leicester and Thamesdown.

All will be expected to cut 1985/86 spending by 5 per cent in real terms — an effective cut of up to 12 per cent when inflation is taken into account.

Tory finger in miners' strike

NALGO yesterday condemned the Tory government for its 'duplicité' over the miners' strike.

A motion passed at its annual conference in Brighton slammed the government for 'claiming to deny involvement' while issuing advice and instructions to the NCB, other state industries and the DHSS and 'for using police to break the miners' action'.

The union has given £10,000 to miners' funds, and delegates raised over £31,000 at the conference itself. The NEC is pledged to match this amount from official funds.

Branches were urged to ask members to contribute at least 50p a week to strike funds.

Threat

General secretary John Daly told the conference: 'The miners' fight is our fight. Even if your jobs are not under threat at present, you have a duty as trade unionists to stand up and be counted.'

Harold Davies, vice-president of Kent NUM, thanked the conference for donations and collections.

On the question of a ballot for the miners, he reminded conference about the doubled-dealing over the productivity deal and the lack of a ballot at GCHQ.

The union resolved to organise a mass picket outside the High Court next month against the threatened deportation of one of its members, Muhammad Idrish.

Support

Conference agreed to organise a day of action in support of Idrish if the deportation order was confirmed.

The motion also called on the NEC to fight for other unions to boycott the handling of any deportation.

Staff stay out to save NHS services

PORTERS yesterday joined Hammersmith hospital domestics for 24 hours on their third day of indefinite strike action against privatisation.

The Hammersmith action began on Wednesday in support of the cleaners on strike at Barking hospital and to oppose plans in their own hospital to cut pay by up to 44 per cent and slash working hours by bringing in private contractors.

Out of 123 full-time cleaners, only 15 are to remain on 40 hours a week under the district health authority plans.

Tenders from six private companies, including Crothall's and Exclusive, have been submitted and a decision is expected on Monday.

The domestics also had support from catering staff who came out for three days to join them.

The pickets said they had received 'tremendous' support from delivery drivers and other departments in the hospital.

They reported doctors coming up to them, asking how they could help, and sisters and nursing staff have also expressed opposition to the plans by management to make far-reaching cuts by bringing in private contractors.

The strikers are calling for local trade unionists and members of the public to come and support the picket lines and to make donations to the strike fund.

Donations and messages of support should be sent to Hammersmith Hospital Strike Committee, NUPE area office, Acton Vale, London W3.

THE MINERS' STRUGGLE

Halt all industry — says McGahey

OVER 10,000 miners and supporters rallied in Newcastle yesterday as hospital workers, shipyard workers, firemen and others took one-day strike action.

Several thousand also rallied in Middlesbrough where miners with their banners joined marchers led by brass bands.

Hundreds of workers turned out on to the main streets to applaud and give their support.

In Newcastle, NUM vice president Mick McGahey told workers that they faced a bitter fight but one that could be successful with the support of other sections of workers.

It was necessary for miners to broaden their horizons and 'bring other forces of the working class into operation'.

McGahey said: 'Let us bite into other industries, stop steel production, halt industry in this country.'

Compel

'That will compel employers to bring pressure on Maggie to find a solution to this problem — a solution based on the principle that the miners are right and the miners must win.'

He said that there must be no illusions about the struggle ahead, like those illusions created by the Coal Board about the prospects for talks.

The Coal Board and chairman Ian MacGregor were guilty of duplicity, and they were under instructions from the Tory government to break down talks.

The battle the miners faced would mean struggle and sacrifice but 'the more determined we are, the shorter will be the struggle'.

He added: 'We need to maximise our picketing force. We need to extend it and we need to get miners and their families out of their homes and into action. We need the support of all the sections of the trade union movement.'

Regional TUC chairman Tom Burlison praised those supporting the miners who had made it clear at the rallies and demonstrations and the one-day stoppage that they recognised the miners were fighting a battle for all.

During the day NUPE members reported that all hospitals in the area were on emergency cover only, and similar action was taken by firemen who sent uniformed contingents on the marches.

Shop stewards in the shipyards brought delegations after a mid-morning walkout, and a 30-strong delegation of GMBATU workers from the Plessey factory defied management threats of withdrawal of their redundancy money when the plant closes down with the loss of 400 jobs in the near future.

There were also delegations from the civil service unions, postal workers, railmen, SOGAT printworkers, textile workers and a delegation from the Workers Revolutionary Party calling for a General Strike in support of the miners.

Harold Mitchell, president of the Durham miners, said his members were getting stronger in their determination to win the strike each day it continued.

Miners from the north east were thought of as moderate but they had proved during the strike that when they took action they fought as hard as miners anywhere in the country.

He warned other trade unionists: 'If we lose this battle, you may as well all tear your union cards up. We must stand fast together and beat the Tory government and MacGregor.'

Other speakers included 'Mirror' journalist Paul Foot, NUPE divisional officer Steve King, Alex McFadden, Joe Mills, chairman of the local Labour Party, and Jack Dorman, Labour MP.

Fife 'no' to ballot

BY CHRIS CORRIGAN

MINERS, their families, plus trade union and community supporters are marching from Denbeath miners' welfare to Leven Glen, Fife, today.

At the Denbeath NUM strike centre yesterday, there was unanimous opposition to any attempt by coal board boss MacGregor to hold a ballot.

Willie Cunningham, NUM chairman at Frances colliery, asked all 10 miners present in the strike centre at noon to make their feelings known on MacGregor's threat. Every one of the 10 shouted 'No'.

Anger

'We'd put his ballot sheets on the fire,' was the firm comment from one of the miners.

● ANGER that the coal board is promoting nuclear power has been voiced by Women's Solid Fuel Council members.

Daphne Sheriff, former Scottish WSFC chairman, has received from the NCB in London three glossy brochures produced by the UK Atomic Energy Authority. 'All this is rather suprising as the function of our council is to promote the use of coal and act as a link between the consumer and the coal trade,' she states.

'Nowhere are the class antagonisms more sharply defined than between the miners and the ruling class. They run deeper than any mine shaft in the country.'

Crucial to understanding the struggle of the miners today, this pamphlet analyses the decline of the coal industry in the course of this century. Tracing the history of the struggle against closures and increased exploitation, it shows why only socialism can solve the crisis, and examines the problems of leadership in the miners' union.

which are made in the secret civil-war atmosphere of the Bonapartist dictatorship and are never made public.

The entire working class and its trade unions must be made clear as to the real line-up of class forces in Britain under Thatcher.

The miners' strike cannot be won as a sectional strike in itself. This is because they are facing an all-out confrontation by the capitalist state machine which is geared to the oppressive needs of the Bonapartist dictatorship.

The miners are fighting on behalf of the whole working class yet, apart from the welcome but inadequate solidarity actions of a few unions, they are fighting alone.

The miners cannot win under these conditions, because solidarity actions, in themselves, cannot be enforced by the trade unions concerned.

Either those unions such as the railmen, seamen, dockers and transport workers join the striking miners by taking all-out action themselves, or the miners will be isolated.

The miners' union must approach the TUC and call for the General Strike. Meanwhile, all those unions on the TUC who support the miners must join the strike.

Ruthless

A ruthless campaign must be launched against those supporters of TUC general secretary Len Murray who oppose the General Strike. But Murray's opposition must not be allowed to paralyse the support which the miners' strike has from unions on the TUC.

Those unions who support the miners must express that support in the only practical way — by taking industrial action themselves and fighting for a General Strike on the TUC as well.

A powerful minority of trade unions on the TUC committed to supporting the miners could soon become a majority within the TUC when they join the miners who are on strike.

Thatcher is not worried about union solidarity action, which cannot be enforced. For her the real danger arises when other unions join the strike.

That is why she went out of her way to bribe the railwaymen and others to prevent them from taking action alongside the miners.

Herein lies the main weakness of the Tory Bonapartist strategy. As long as they can keep the rest of the trade union movement isolated from the miners' strike, they can go all-out to starve the miners back to work.

The moment other unions come into the strike they know they have then to face an all-out class confrontation with all that it means for the rest of the working class.

The same class determination which drives Thatcher forward must be replied to blow-for-blow. At the same time, the right wing of the TUC who are attempting to isolate the miners and strengthen Thatcher must be delivered blow-for-blow, until they are driven out of Congress.

Battlefield

The TUC is a key battlefield for the miners to undertake this vital task.

The National Graphical Association (NGA) started the ball rolling last December when its call for support in the 'Stockport Messenger' dispute split the General Council 29 votes to 21.

That the ball is now rolling fast can be seen from the important decisions taken at NALGO's annual conference in Brighton this week, including the repudiation of general secretary John Daly for voting with the 29.

The miners must press the TUC to call a General Strike. That will divide

Why we must organise the General

the class forces represented on the TUC and open the door to a real fighting unity against Thatcher's Bonapartist dictatorship.

We urge miners and other trade unionists to decide today to attend the national conference on the 'Organisation of the General Strike' in Sheffield on Saturday, June 30, called by the All Trades Unions Alliance, the industrial department of the Workers Revolutionary Party (see full details page one).

Case for Community Councils

EVERY trade unionist and worker must come to the aid of the miners in their struggle for jobs against the capitalist state, the Thatcher dictatorship and the National Coal Board.

The working class as a whole and their professional allies must share the burdens and sacrifices of the fight which the miners are waging in defence of the most basic of rights — the right to work and to organise freely in trade unions independent of the state.

Trade union branches, shop stewards' committees, trades councils and other labour movement organisations must take the initiative now in the setting up of Community Councils which will act immediately to meet the needs of the miners.

Thatcher and the state are out to smash up pit communities, driving families into destitution and starving the miners back to work. Their aim is not only to destroy the miners' union, but all trade unions.

Miners are, therefore, fighting on behalf of the whole working class. They cannot be left to shoulder the burdens of the strike alone. All workers must ensure that the miners can continue the struggle under the best conditions, and that a common front is presented to the class enemy.

As well as the trade unions, the Community Councils must draw in representatives of every section of the working class and their middle-class and professional allies involved in the anti-Tory fight — miners' wives, youth groups, voluntary organisations and local Labour councils.

At the very same time the Tories are attacking the miners, they are also establishing a central government dictatorship over local Labour councils, threatening cities like Liverpool with financial destruction and abolishing seven authorities covering the major industrial areas of England. Community Councils will take responsibility for the defence of local councils, jobs and services.

There are immediate and practical tasks which flow from the defiant resistance of the miners to the provocations of the NCB, an unprecedented military-style police operation directed by the Home Office through Scotland Yard and the organised harassment by social security, gas and electricity bureaucrats.

The Workers Revolutionary Party believes that the tasks of Community Councils, which should extend beyond mining districts, will be to:

● Provide food for families and children of those on strike. No miner to be starved back to work by the Tories.

● Pay urgent bills for electricity and gas, calling on workers not to carry out cut-offs as an act of solidarity with the strike. Raise funds for new clothing and footwear for strikers.

● Ensure that no miner is evicted by local councils for not being able to pay rent or rates. Make certain that medical supplies are paid for so that miners and their families can get the treatment prescribed.

● Arrange for the care of the elderly dependent on support from miners' families, ensure nursery provision so that miners' wives can participate fully in winning support for the strike.

● Organise the provision of free legal representation for miners who need it. Provide accommodation for miners from other areas.

● Watch out for and organise against provocateurs. Organise the defence of union offices and funds from state attacks.

● Rally other workers to support and back up miners' pickets and organise marches and rallies.

LABOUR COUNCILS must be asked to:

● Provide free school meals and transport for miners' children.

● Make office accommodation in council offices available to miners, with facilities for printing and communications.

● Make sure that no evictions take place because of mounting debts. Wipe out rent and rate arrears.

● Provide free public transport for strikers and their families. Make all council facilities available free to miners. Lay on entertainments and outings for miners' families.

● Resist having to foot the bill for the cost of the Downing Street directed police operation against the miners' union.

This is the best way to answer the challenge of the capitalist state, and the Tory dictatorship. Community Councils — as Soviet-type organisations — will give the working class confidence in its own independent strength to defeat the class enemy and provide the basis for the successful struggle for power which has now been joined.

Winning Post

Electrical Wind can score hat-trick

UNBEATEN in two races this season, Electrical Wind (2.30) can carry on his winning ways by completing a hat-trick in the £10,000 Daniel Prens Royal Yorkshire Stakes at YORK.

Although he has won his races in good style he faces a much more difficult task against Russian Noble, Get The Message and Bye Bye Birdie today.

Russian Noble put in a most encouraging performance on his debut at Newbury where he was beaten a length and a half by the subsequent Derby third Mighty YORK: 1.30 Lobbit, 2.00 Flaming Peace, 2.30 Electrical Wind (nap), 3.00 Bechamel, 3.30 Bare Essence, 4.00 Mohssen, 4.30 Risk All. SANDOWN: 1.45 Exuberine, 2.15 Pliant, 2.45 Wylfa (n.b.), 3.20 Albany Lad, 3.50 Snow Tree, 4.20 Crosby Hill. BATH: 2.15 Discover Gold, 2.45 Appeal To Me, 3.15 Mujbil, 3.45 Alocious, 4.15 Young Inca, 4.45 Single.

Flutter. He was putting in some sound work in the closing stages and is sure to improve considerably.

Get the Message and Bye Bye Birdie were second and third behind Alphabatim in the Lingfield Derby trial, and they are both running over a shorter trip which may suit them. But Electrical Wind appears on the upgrade and must still be the selection.

Electrical Wind's trainer Oliver Douer has done well since he moved to Newmarket earlier this year. He may complete a double with Mohssen (4.00) in the Oakeley Vaughan Stakes.

This son of Sharpen Up was putting in all his best work in the closing stages when making his debut at Newmarket earlier this month.

He could not catch Hajes, but was only beaten a neck at the finish.

The highly competitive William Hill Trophy is a tricky race to sum up and it may fall to Bechamel (3.00) an unlucky loser at Newmarket last time.

At SANDOWN Michael Stoute's Wylea (2.45) looks a ranker in the Esal Handicap.

Platini and Scifo vie for midfield master accolade

NO TO CHILE

NEWS LINE will not preview or report tomorrow's international soccer match between Chile and England.

The Santiago stadium being used for the match was the very same one used by General Pinochet to hold and torture thousands of trade unionists, communists, socialists and intellectuals following the imposition of his military dictatorship in September 1973.

Ray Buckton, president of the rail union ASLEF, earlier this week condemned the England soccer management for accepting the match at the ground for the same reasons.

ENZO SCIFO . . . Latest star of the European Championships for Belgium

FRANCE'S Michel Platini and 18-year-old Belgian Enzo Scifo confront each other today in what promises to be an intriguing midfield contest between the current master footballer of Europe and the player widely regarded as his natural successor.

On the evidence of the soccer so far, the group one European Championship match between France and Belgium in Nantes may well be a prelude to final of the same when the last match is staged in Paris on June 27.

France's 1-0 win over the talented Danish side on the first day of the competition underlined their right to be regarded as favourites.

A day later Belgium beat Yugoslavia 2-0 to confound speculation that the loss of their entire outfield defence after the Liege bribes scandal had dashed their title hopes.

The French victory was secured by the brilliant Platini's 77th-minute goal, which had more than a little element of luck about it, while Scifo was praised to the heavens by everyone for his part in the Belgian win.

Just how much the Anderlecht midfielder contributed to his game can be measured by the headline in the popular French sports paper, 'L'Equipe': 'Scifo . . . and the others'.

Again today France will be looking to both the playmaking and finishing qualities of Juventus's Platini to lift them above their rivals.

Scifo's ability to retain his composure in the most demanding match of his young life will also be a key factor.

Title-holders West Germany, held to a goalless draw by Portugal in their opening group two match in Strasbourg on Thursday, remain desperately in need of a Platini or Scifo figure.

The experiment of play-

BY A SOCCER CORRESPONDENT

ing Karl-Heinz Rummenigge in a midfield role against the Portuguese was widely regarded as a failure, not least by Rummenigge himself.

'My career in midfield is ended,' he said. 'We all knew it was an experiment of only limited duration. I would like to play in attack again.'

Denmark and Yugoslavia complete the second round of group one matches tonight when they meet in Lyons.

Real test

It will be a real test of the Danes' mettle after their defeat by France, the misery of which was compounded by the broken leg suffered by key striker Allan Simonsen.

The Danish players have never previously been exposed to the pressure of a tournament such as this and their ability to cope with it can only be guessed at.

'The team were very depressed after losing 1-0 to France,' team spokesman Frits Ahlstrom said. 'It was not only the result but Allan Simonsen's broken leg also affected the players.'

If the Danes do win today they will go to yet another testing encounter against Belgium in Strasbourg on Tuesday.

MICHEL PLATINI . . . Where would France be without him?

The French Football Federation (FFF) said yesterday that they were appealing against the three-match suspension imposed on defender Manuel Amoros for head-butting Jesper Olsen of Denmark in the opening match on Tuesday.

Federation president Fernand Sastre said on the eve of the match against Belgium that he was sending the appeal to UEFA, whose disciplinary commission slapped on the ban.

Amoros, 22, was sent off for cracking heads with Olsen as the young Dane attempted to climb to his feet after a tackle three minutes from the end of the game.

Michel Hildago, the French manager said the UEFA ban — which effectively rules Amoros out of the championships unless France make it to the final — was too severe.

Deprives

Suspension also deprives Rumania of defender Gino Iorgulescu in their group two match against West Germany in Lens tomorrow.

Iorgulescu, 28, was booked in a match in the qualifying rounds and received another yellow card in the 1-1 draw against Spain in St Etienne on Thursday.

JACK NICKLAUS

Nicklaus snubbed over S.Africa links

A presentation to Jack Nicklaus has been cancelled by Edinburgh district council after councillors learned he had played golf in South Africa.

At the Open in St Andrew's later this year the council had intended presenting Nicklaus with a leather-bound copy of the authority's new book 'Capital Golf' — for which the American wrote the foreword.

Asked whether Nicklaus would still be welcome in the council's hospitality tent at the Open, committee chairman Councillor James Hastie said: 'I would hope those with known associations with South Africa would take the hint that they would not be welcome.'

Labour took control of the council only this year. Hastie said that when Labour councillors had earlier approved the decision to invite Nicklaus to write the foreword, without a fee, it was not known he had played golf in South Africa and that he was on a blacklist drawn up by opponents of apartheid.

Andrew Fyall, director of tourism, reported on Thursday that discussions with Nicklaus's aides had already taken place about the presentation.

Charlton takes over at Newcastle

JACK CHARLTON was confirmed by Newcastle United's directors as their new manager yesterday.

The club said that the 49-year-old former Middlesbrough and Sheffield Wednesday boss is to succeed Arthur Cox, who resigned from the club after they gained promotion to the First Division last month.

Charlton will officially take over next Wednesday but already he was glorying in his return 'home' to St James's Park.

He said: 'This is real Roy of the Rovers stuff for me because it is a sentimental journey back home.'

Return

Charlton has spent a year out of football apart from a fleeting spell helping out his old club Middlesbrough, and he said: 'I always maintained I would only return for a big job and there are none bigger than Newcastle United.'

'I am absolutely delighted at the prospect of working with them. They are in the First Division now and should have a good future.'

Charlton met Newcastle's directors at a secret rendezvous on Thursday night and agreed to join them after a hour-long meeting.

Club chairman Stan Seymour said yesterday: 'I'm quite certain he will do a good job for us. The meeting went very smoothly and I know our fans will be pleased with the appointment.'

● SOUTHAMPTON'S assistant manager John Mortimore yesterday turned down the offer of a lucrative three-year contract with Lisbon club Benfica.

Mortimore, who coached Benfica to two Portuguese championship wins between 1976 and 1979, said: 'Benfica's offer was very tempting. It was a very difficult choice between two great clubs.'

Signed

● WELSH international goalkeeper Neville Southall, who joined Everton three years ago from Bury for £150,000, yesterday signed a new four-year contract for the FA Cup winners to end speculation about his future.

● BOBBY Moore is to stay on as full-time manager of Fourth Division Southend United.

The club announced yesterday that he has accepted the terms of a four-year contract. He also retains his job as chief executive at Roots Hall.

Moore took over as caretaker boss at the end of last season, but failed to save the south-coast club from relegation to the bottom League.

Jimbo gets a scare

JIMMY CONNORS argues the penalising point with umpire Jeremy Shales at Queens yesterday

DEFENDING champion Jimmy Connors took another tortuous step towards a third successive title as he spent the best part of three hours beating fellow-American Tim Mayotte in the quarter finals of the Stella Artois Grass Court Tennis Championships at Queen's Club, London, yesterday.

BY A TENNIS CORRESPONDENT

Connors finally won 7-6, 1-6, 9-7 to reach the semi-finals and a centre court showdown this afternoon with former champion John McEnroe, who beat Danie Visser of South Africa, 6-3, 6-4.

It will be the first time for six years that these great rivals have not met at the last stage of the tournament. With no other seeded player involved in the singles, most observers will regard this latest confrontation as the final.

Connors really had to struggle to get past Mayotte, for at 1-3 down in the final set, he was in danger of being left behind by his fellow-compatriot.

Indeed, by that time, he was in some danger of not finishing the match at all. He had already been penalised a point to follow a second-set warning and, technically, was only a couple of disciplinary steps away from disqualification.

Yet he had good reason to feel aggrieved at umpire Jeremy Shales, who imposed the penalties. Like most of the spectators Connors could not fathom what they were for, and it needed tournament referee Jim Moore to clear up the matter later.

Moore explained that the warning in the second game of the second set was given when Connors struck the ball at a vacant linesman's chair. The ball flew out of court.

Warning

'A ball out of court is an automatic warning,' said Moore. The penalty point came when Connors was 15-40 down at 1-1 in the final set.

Moore said: 'It was for unsportsmanlike conduct. He hit the ball into the net without looking and narrowly missed a ball girl who was running across the court.'

The point meant that the third game had gone to Mayotte and when he made it 3-1 Connors found himself in some danger.

But his supporters need not have worried. Connors won three aggressive games in a row to swing the match his way although he had to fight off another Mayotte break point in the 11th game.

This was Connors's third three setter in four matches this week. When asked about his chances of a third successive title, he said: 'Obviously I am not going to do it the easy way. Normally I like to think I could get three out of four first serves in, but if today was anything like 5-50, I'd be surprised.'

Leif Shiras, another American, and the man who halted French Open champion Ivan Lendl in the first round of the tournament last Tuesday, continued his winning streak to reach the semi-finals with a 6-4, 7-5 win over Frenchman Guy Forget.

Shiras now meets Rod Harmon, who completes an all-American semifinal day on the centre court, for the right to challenge either McEnroe or Connors in tomorrow's final which will be worth £22,000 and a grasp of the Queen's Cup for 1984.

Leicestershire hold county lead

NORMAN COWANS . . . Put the frighteners on Surrey with the bat yesterday

LEICESTERSHIRE took advantage of the idleness of Nottinghamshire and the inconsistency of Warwickshire to widen the gap at the top of county championship table to 19 points yesterday.

John Agnew, the country's leading wicket taker, and Paddy Clift did the job for them at Grace Road in taking four wickets apiece, Agnew for 61 runs and Clift for just 17.

Warwickshire folded up for 161 after being left to score 294 if they were to win for the first time this season.

Warwickshire looked to be taking the right road when Paul Smith punished Agnew for six fours in his first two overs, but the innings disintegrated from 39 for no loss to 82 for seven and there was no stopping the rot.

Even Alvin Kallicharan, who became the first player to the thousand on Thursday, succumbed for a 'duck'. Agnew's season haul now reads 47 wickets.

Essex, the reigning champions, took over second place from Nottinghamshire by squeezing out a victory over Derbyshire at Ilford.

Graham Gooch, in the less familiar role as a bowler, upset Derbyshire with four for 54, including the wicket of top scorer Alan Hill, for 84, just when the Midlands looked to be heading towards their target of 336.

John Wright, with 53, was also going well, but after he, too, became a victim of Gooch, it looked Essex all the way, though they had only 21 balls to spare in the end.

The loss of five wickets in 13 deliveries without a run being scored was the prelude to a remarkable barrage by paceman Norman Cowans, who picked this critical moment to score his highest knock in first class cricket for Middlesex against Surrey at Lord's last night.

Poised

Surrey, poised for their first championship victory of the season, and their first against Middlesex at Lord's for 13 years, were hit by the Cowans typhoon which blasted its way to 66 out of 77 from just 35 deliveries.

When he was finally bowled by Graham Monkhouse, Cowans had hit three sixes and eight fours.

Despite a staunch effort by his Middlesex partner Colin Metson, Surrey scrambled home by 64 runs with 17 balls to spare. And a historic win.

Colourful excitement at Edgbaston and Queen's Club

TWO OF THE WEEK'S STARS IN FULL COLOUR

VIV RICHARDS (left) scored an immaculate 117 runs for the West Indies at Edgbaston, Birmingham, yesterday, despite feeling under the weather.

Richards, the greatest run-maker in the history of the modern game, watched his partner Larry Gomes play an inspired innings to give the tourists an overwhelming lead in the first Test.

This morning Richards will watch from the balcony as the Caribbean tail-enders seek to assert an even more assertive first innings lead.

On Monday, we will be reviewing the new biography of Richards which illuminates the private feelings of this outstanding player. Order your copy today.

JOHN McENROE (right) will this afternoon try to upset the aims of hat-trick-seeking Jimmy Connors on the centre court of Queen's tennis club in west London.

This semi-final is certain to be an explosive encounter as America's top two battle it out to establish supremacy in the run-up to Wimbledon.

RITUAL SLAUGHTER

BY OUR CRICKET CORRESPONDENT

THE West Indies run-machine slaughtered England's bowlers yesterday and put the tourists firmly on the road to victory in the first Test at Edgbaston.

Scoring at 4.2 runs an over the tourists amassed 368 runs for the loss of five wickets before a packed crowd.

Three of those wickets went down in the last 12 balls as the bat was being thrown about.

At the close the West Indies were 421 for seven — a first innings lead of 230 over David Gower's team.

Tomorrow Joel Garner and company will be at England's throats, as the other half of the formidable West Indies side gets back into the action against opponents reduced to 10 men following Andy Lloyd's injury.

Yesterday's tormentors-in-chief were, inevitably, Viv Richards and the unassuming Larry Gomes, who hit 143, his highest Test score.

Richards batted for 3½ hours for 117, hitting one six and 17 fours. It was his 17th Test century and his seventh against England.

His innings means he has already taken 393 runs off England's bowlers in just four knocks in one day and Test matches!

Fortunately for England the world's No.1 batsman was none too well.

Since Wednesday's practice session Richards has been unable to eat with a violent stomach upset.

On Thursday he failed to take the field in mid-afternoon and yesterday morning he needed tablets at the crease after an hour's play.

Richards was 14 not out when the West Indies re-

LARRY Gomes, West Indies' unsung hero yesterday with a Test-best 143, claimed afterwards that being dropped from the team after two Tests against Australia in the Caribbean four months ago had done him the world of good.

'The rest did me good. I really needed it. With Richie Richardson having hit a couple of hundreds in the matches against Australia, I realised I would have to get down to some hard work and hit some good scores early in the tour, to win a Test place,' he said.

The 30-year-old Gomes was left out after scores of 10 and 3 in the first two matches against Australia, and thought his Test place would be in doubt when the tour of England started.

Gomes said he had been 'disappointed' to lose his wicket in the last ten minutes of play, after having batted from the start of the day.

'I really fancied coming back tomorrow, but perhaps I was concentrating just too hard and it had been a long, hard day.'

sumed at 53 for two and proceeded to dominate a third-wicket stand of 206 with Gomes.

He was on the attack from the first over of the day when he slammed two fours off Derek Pringle.

On 22 Richards was fortunate when an edge off Pringle just failed to carry to Geoff Miller at first slip, but it was a rare flaw.

At the other end Gomes belied the opinion formed in county matches early on tour that he is a scratchy player and not quite in the same class as his team-mates.

He was particularly severe on Ian Botham. Gomes punished anything loose through the offside and Botham's extended spell of 16 wicket-less overs cost England 77 runs.

Gower persisted with Botham and spinner Nick Cook for two hours while Gomes and Richards were at their peak and did not introduce Miller until the West Indies had reached 260 for three.

Cook, struggling to recapture the control that made such a wide impact on his Test debut against New Zealand last year, finally broke through when Richards drove to Derek Randall in the covers.

It was no breakthrough for England as Jeff Dujon played a cameo innings of 23 before falling to Miller off bat and pad in the first over after tea.

Gomes, meanwhile, had passed his sixth Test century after four-and-a-half hours and blossomed in a 122-run partnership with captain Clive Lloyd.

A large lead assured, Lloyd was able to play with complete abandon, crashing two fours off Miller to announce his arrival and treating every England bowler with utter disdain.

In the last 10 minutes Gomes played a lazy shot and was caught by Miller off Pringle, while Pringle snapped up Lloyd off Marshall. Pringle had the satisfaction of trapping Malcolm Marshall leg before in the final over.

But it was all too little, too late.

Larry Gomes
