During the years 1949 through 1957 Labor Action published an annual (subject) index in its last issue of the year. These are reproduced in the following pages. The index for 1958 (up to suspension) was made specially for this publication. No index exists for 1940-1948.

HISTORY. This newspaper was the weekly published by the Workers Party/Independent Socialist League from 1940 to 1958. The New International was its companion publication. For part of the political background, see the "Special Notes" on page 109.

The Workers Party was formed in 1940 as the result of a split in the Trotskyist group, the Socialist Workers Party, over support of Russia in the war. The minority which formed the Workers Party rejected support of any camp in World War II, including Moscow’s. This organization changed its name to Independent Socialist League in April 1949. It dissolved in 1958.

This should not be confused with two previous publications which also bore the name Labor Action. The first was published by the Conference for Progressive Labor Action, later the American Workers Party, led by A.J. Muste. This Labor Action was merged into The New International at the beginning of 1935, when the A.W.P. and the (Trotskyist) Communist League of America merged to form the Workers Party of the U.S. In 1936 this organization dissolved to join the Socialist Party, and there was no overtly Trotskyist organ during the period of "entry," i.e. till the beginning of 1938. But in the Socialist Party the Trotskyist left wing dominated in California; during this period a Labor Action was published from San Francisco, with James P. Cannon as editor, as the organ of the Socialist Party of California, later the organ of the Western States Federation of the Socialist Party.

When the new Workers Party established Labor Action in May 1940, the name was borrowed from the California paper.

BEGINNING. The first issue was a two-page "Preview Number," also labeled "Special May Day Edition," hearing no date, issued for May 1, 1940. It announced: "Out next week! First regular issue of LABOR ACTION," but in fact the "First regular issue" was published with the date May 20, 1940.

This first issue bore the designation "Vol. 4, No. 6," which is explained by the fact that, in establishing the paper, the editors took over the numbering system of the Challenge of Youth, the organ of the young socialist section which had split from the S.W.P. along with the minority. Legally, therefore, Labor Action continued the volume/number series of the Challenge of Youth.

This legal fiction also explains why the editorial box stated "Published by the National Council of the Young People's Socialist League (Fourth International)," in addition to the subtitle "Official Organ of Workers Party (Section of the 4th International)." This legalistic reference to the youth group remained in the editorial box through the issue of Sept. 30, 1940 (v.4, no.25). In the next issue (Oct. 7, no.26) the box read: "Published by the Labor Action Publishing Company"—which formula remained to the end.

SUBTITLES. The subtitle "Official Organ..." etc. remained, but, with the issue of Nov. 11, 1940 (no.31), the phrase "Fourth International" was dropped—the reason being legal considerations, not political. For the same reason, the "Official Organ" subtitle was dropped with the issue of Dec. 22, 1941 (v. 9, no.31), and replaced with "A Paper in the Interest of Labor." Much later, this subtitle changed to "A Paper in the Interests [later Interest] of Socialism," with the issue of Sept. 22, 1947 (v.11, no.36). When the format was changed to tabloid (Feb. 27, 1950), the subtitle became "Independent Socialist Weekly.

FORMAT. The first format was "blanket-size" (the usual newspaper size, with four pages, an eight-pager being issued as an infrequent exception. The size became eight pages regularly with the issue of Aug. 5, 1946 (v.10, no.31), the inside four pages being called "Labor Action Magazine Section."

There was a complete change in format and appearance as well as size when Labor Action was transformed into a tabloid of eight pages beginning with the issue of Feb. 27, 1950 (v.11, no.9).
FREQUENCY. The paper remained a weekly, without missing an issue, until near the end, through the issue of July 15, 1957. The first biweekly number was July 29 (v.21, no.29), with a new editor.

LIST OF EDITORS. The volume/number designations are given in condensed form after the dates:

How to Use the Index

All articles are indexed by main subject, sometimes under more than one heading. References to people, places, etc. within each article have not necessarily been indexed.

In the case of 1949-1950, the index omits some articles of mainly local interest, especially small local items.

Entries relating to foreign countries are listed under the country, usually regardless of subject.

For items on a given trade union, look up the name of the industry or occupation; e.g. AUTO WORKERS, STEEL WORKERS, etc.

*For items marked by an asterisk, see note on "Student and Youth Sections," below.

Under a given heading, items are separated by periods, except when successive entries are related to each other, in which case they are separated by semi-colons to so indicate. In some cases, related entries are grouped under sub-heads.

Student and Youth Sections: For 1951-1953, the "Student Socialist" sections of Labor Action were page-numbered 18, 26, etc. Thus, the index entry 18-27, 80 refers to page 20 of that issue. From 1954 on, the "Student Socialist" sections were replaced by "Young Socialist Challenge" sec-volumes, whose articles are still part of the general index. Beginning 1955, these "Challenge" articles are distinguished by an asterisk (*). Note that when the "Young Socialist Challenge" section consisted of four pages, the pages were numbered 1-C, 2-C, etc. The bulk of "Challenge" articles are found under the following subject headings: ACADEMIC FREEDOM; EDUCATION; MILITARISM; SOCIALIST YOUTH (INT'L); STUDENT MOVEMENT; YOUNG SOCIALIST LEAGUE; YOUTH PROBLEMS.

The general subject of war, foreign policy and international relations is indexed as follows: For U.S. government acts and policy, see EISENHOWER ADMINISTRATION (FOREIGN POLICY). For other discussion of U.S. foreign policy, see FOREIGN POLICY. For discussion of socialist policy, see WAR POLICY. For the U.S.-Russian diplomatic struggle, international conference disputes, etc., see COLD WAR. For U.S. foreign relations with other countries, see under the foreign country. See NORTH ATLANTIC TREATY ORGANIZATION and UNITED NATIONS for those subjects. Other entries may be found from year to year under: ANTI-AMERICANISM; ATOM BOMB; CIVIL DEFENSE; KOREAN WAR; MILITARISM; POINT FOUR; PSYCHOLOGICAL WARFARE; THIRD CAMP.

The general subject of civil liberties and related topics is indexed under some of the following headings: ACADEMIC FREEDOM; CIVIL LIBERTIES; DEMOCRACY; FBI; INDEPENDENT SOCIALIST LEAGUE (Subversive List & Passport Case); KUTCHER CASE; SUPREME COURT.

This magazine was the leading rad-
- ical student magazine of the 1950s.
- Twenty
- issues were published in all.
- A list is appended.

Beginning with Fall 1952, a 'whole
- number' designation was added to the date and volume numbering. But the
- 'whole numbers' are all wrong: Fall
- 1952 was labeled 'Whole No. 8' but
- was in fact the ninth issue. This
- was probably the result of forgetting
- the first issue, which was mimeo-
- graphed rather than printed.

With its third issue (Spring 1950),
- Anvil, subtitled 'A Student Anti-War
- Quarterly,' merged with Student Parti-
- sisan, a similar magazine which had
- been published by the Politics Club
- of the University of Chicago for nine
- issues, from Autumn 1947 through Win-
- ter 1950. Henceforth the title form-
- ally became Anvil and Student Parti-
- sisan—still subtitled as before—but
- the name Anvil alone was featured on
- the cover. Beginning with the Summer-
- Fall 1954 issue, the subtitle changed to 'A Student Magazine,' and with the
- Winter 1956 issue to 'A Student So-
- cialist Magazine.'

Anvil was launched by the New York
- Student Federation Against War, an
- amalgamation of several socialist and
- radical campus clubs in New York Ci-
- ty. For the first two issues, the
- publisher was listed as the Federa-
- tion alone; thereafter and up through
- the 12th issue, to the name of the
- Federation was added a number of rad-
- ical and socialist clubs in other
- parts of the country, the list vary-
- ing from time to time. The New York
- Student Federation had never really devolved as a going concern apart
- from the constituent clubs, and it
- ceased to be listed with the 13th issue.
- In fact, no student groups as such were thenforth listed
- as publishers, the sponsorship be-
- ing represented only by the editori-
- al board.

At its founding the editor was Ju-
- lius Jacobson. He was eventually succeded by Bob Bone (10th issue), Har-
- garet Slev (11th-12th), Dan Harris
- (14th), George Rawick (15th-18th),
- and Michael Harrington (19th-20th).

Through these changes the maga-
- zine's political tendency remained
- constant. This political tendency
- was essentially that of the Independ-
- ent Socialist League and its youth
- group, modified somewhat by associa-
- tion with radical-pacifist clubs and
- members not connected with Independ-
- ent Socialism but sympathetic to its
- anti-war views and general militancy.

The Independent Socialist youth group
- which sparked the enterprise was called the Socialist Youth League until February 1956; at that time it merged with the Young People's Socialist League (which had broken away from the Socialist Party the preceding year) and the fusion adopted the name Young Socialist League. In short, Anvil reflected on the student field the name political current as the New International and Labor Action.
