

UNITE AND FIGHT!

Last autumn saw a great victory for unilateralism when the Labour Party passed by a massive 2/3rds majority 'Composite 51'.

This declared 'an unequivocal and unambiguous commitment to unilaterally remove all nuclear weapons and all U.S. bases from Britain' in addition to No Cruise and No Trident !

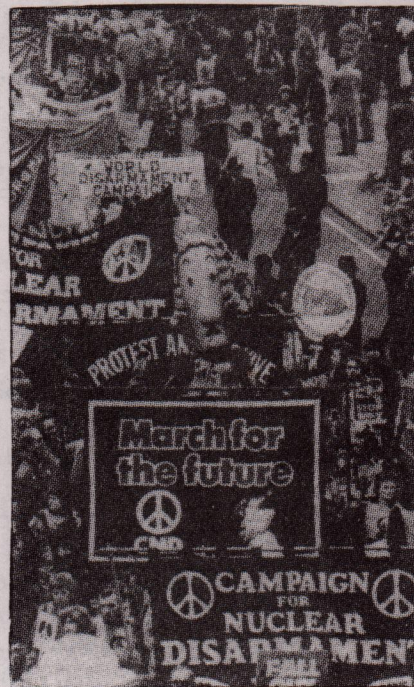

Back in 1960 the Labour Party had a unilateralist position, but the right wing of the party were able to overturn this decision easily the following year.

The right wing leaders went on to initiate secret nuclear weapon deals of which even their Labour government colleagues were unaware.

These same forces in the Labour movement are just as bitterly opposed to C.N.D. and unilateralism as ever, but are not able to win a straight reversal of policy as easily as they could in 1961. Thus the 'fudging'.

Labour's election campaign document has been previewed in the 'Guardian' which comments "the draft weaves the strands of multilateralism and unilateralism together into a single argument".

But multilateralism is DESIGNED TO FAIL and merely provides a cynical cover up for the even greater stockpiling and development of weapons. Attempts to 'interweave' and confuse this with real unilateral disarmament are just attempts at a creeping reversal of Labour's conference policies.

UNITE AND FIGHT!

will campaign behind Labour C.N.D.'s call for a special party conference to demand that the Labour leaders stick to Party policy - and that means the full commitment to unilateral nuclear disarmament !

We urge all Labour Party and trade union members to join us in this fight ...
... and if you are not a member of the Labour Party already, then join.

There can be absolutely no moves towards nuclear disarmament as long as the Thatcher government remains in office.

UNITE AND FIGHT!

Unite and Fight is produced monthly by Labour Party and trade union militants who believe that there is a crying need to regroup activists in the Labour Party and trade unions to beat off the vicious attacks which the Tory government are pushing through, and who cannot see any other to do this than active struggle by the rank and file, making the leaders, especially those on the left, lead the movement against Thatcher.

Unite and Fight campaigns against privatisation of public services, against the Tebbit attacks being mounted on the independence and rights of trade unions, against police harassment of black people and against the sellouts of industrial disputes by union leaders. We oppose the witch hunting of left wingers within the Labour Party and trade unions. We campaign for active support for workers in struggle and for the mobilisation of the whole working class against Thatcher. Our pages are open for contributions and we need sellers. Contact us at:
