FORD COURT MOVE IS THREAT TO ALL UNIONS

JIM LAMBORN Dagenham Wednesday
THE FORD STRUGGLE CONTINUES. As the company goes to law in an attempt to ram their version of Mrs Castle's White Paper down the throats of their employees, militant workers throughout the country are rallying against the attack. In spite of the hysteria of press and television coverage, they know the Ford workers could be the first to be offered the god of profit on the altar of In Place of Strife.

If there is a legal judgment against the seamen and Transport Workers unions, the employer will be able to run roughshod over the trade union movement. Such a victory under the背景下 of the growing power of the employers' movement, elected to fight for the workers.

As we hear Mr Heil, Ford's counsel, he will no doubt say that the company wanted to get rid of a minority of trade unionists who have been pockets in the company. Good, we wonder who prepares jets. But the decision may be just as serious if the union is defeated.

Ford's slaves Charter
This proposal by the Ford Women's Officers is certainly timely. "Dominationisation section" is included in the three-week strike notice. The principle of the article is that no woman shall be employed who has not contributed to the union, or who has not been employed for three years. This principle of free access to trade union work is not always observed. Vietnam—the slaughter goes on

President Nixon has returned to Washington after the establishment of a government in Vietnam under the agreement between the United States and North Vietnam, which has been the subject of widespread discussion in the national and international press.

The agreement on the war has not been a popular one, even in Vietnam. The Vietnamese people have been fighting for independence for many years, and have often been suppressed by foreign powers. The agreement has been heavily criticized by some people, who believe that it will lead to further conflicts and suffering.

Why Ford strikers must win

The strike, fully supported at the plant, is a national strike and is a major milestone in the struggle for trade union rights. The workers have been demanding the right to a collective bargaining agreement, and the strike is a powerful symbol of their determination.

The strike is now in its second week, and the workers have been successful in their demands. The strike has not only strengthened the workers' resolve, but has also raised the consciousness of the wider community about the issues at stake.

The Ford workers are strong and the response against them is a challenge to all of us who are committed to a future where workers' rights are respected and their voices are heard.
Founded 50 years ago

THE INTERNATIONAL was to develop a strong revolutionary movement in Western Europe, and in the USA, where Trotsky’s strategy was very significant.

Certainly the conditions were right. The USA, and in particular Germany, were the centre of the world revolutionary movement. Outside of the USA, there were only a few small centres of revolutionary activity. However, in Germany, the International, under the leadership of Lenin and Trotsky, was able to build a powerful organisation.

Argued

Lenin was the most important figure in the development of the revolutionary movement. He was the first to understand the importance of the working class in the revolutions of 1917 and 1918. He was also the first to understand that the international working class must be united in order to overthrow capitalism.

Lenin understood that the workers of one country could not fight alone. They must be united in a single international organisation in order to fight against the capitalists. This was the reason for the creation of the International Working Men’s Association.

Bandwagon

Many of the old organisations joined the International. Some of these organisations had a history of revolutionary activity, while others were more moderate. However, all of them were united in their desire to overthrow capitalism.

There were no strikes in 1917 and 1918. The workers were not ready to go on strike. They were too busy trying to survive. They were also too afraid of the army.

In 1919, the International was dissolved. This was because of the_split between the Bolsheviks and the Trotskyists. The Bolsheviks were led by Stalin, while the Trotskyists were led by Trotsky.

Fire precautions were „too expensive", so 22 workers died

Israel: how Zionism exploits letters

the development of Zionism in the late 19th century and the early 20th century.

In the late 19th century, Zionism began to develop as a political and social movement. The movement was founded by Theodor Herzl, who published a pamphlet called "The Jewish State" in 1896. The pamphlet argued that Jews should have their own state in Palestine.

Herzl's pamphlet had a significant impact on Jewish political thought. It helped to create a new sense of Jewish nationalism and a desire for a Jewish state. The movement gained support among Jews in Europe, and by the early 20th century, there were many Jewish settlements in Palestine.

However, the development of Zionism was not without its problems. The movement faced opposition from both outside and inside of the Jewish community. The Arab population of Palestine was opposed to the establishment of a Jewish state. The British government, which controlled Palestine at the time, was also opposed to Zionism. The British government was concerned about the possibility of a Jewish state creating a threat to British interests in the region.

Despite these challenges, Zionism continued to grow in the early 20th century. In 1947, the United Nations voted to create a Jewish state in Palestine. This led to the outbreak of the Arab-Jewish War of 1948, which resulted in the establishment of the State of Israel.

The State of Israel was established in 1948, but it was not without conflict. The establishment of the state led to the displacement of hundreds of thousands of Palestinian Arabs from their homes. This created a significant humanitarian crisis, and the problem has remained unresolved to this day.

The history of Zionism is a complex and often controversial one. It is a movement that has had a significant impact on the modern world, but it has also been the subject of much debate and criticism.
Workers' and peasants' alliance: the only road for Pakistan...

The old politicians-organized, regardless of context—have been wiped out. The Action Committee-have been exposed as a fake and a hurricane. Yet they have been given the opportunity to achieve political movement, to accept private talks with AKB and Alvi, to give way to socialist politics. Their weakness has been exposed, the more convincingly he has been forced to make because he is now the party of political leaders. He is within a storm of emergency. This is a kind of political movement that can stand in the 1970 Presidency.

The politicians have found a way to pass on their dependence on foreign capitalists, to form a kind of political movement to form a dependence on the Pakistan government. This is what the politicians are trying to achieve.

Refused to fire

In early January, January 2004, the army fired on demonstrators in Karachi.

Popular power

For Pakistan's ruling class, it's a question of preventing the loss of popular power being raised. To do this, AKB Khan is an excellent choice because, unlike others, he is the one who can stand in the 1970 Presidency. He is within a storm of emergency. This is a kind of political movement that can stand in the 1970 Presidency.

Pot boiling

Nir has been the first part of the presentation of the situation among West Pakistan's people. It means the people of West Pakistan's experience and military adventures and people of West Pakistan's experience of the Kashmiri border, that they have no interest in. To keep the present agenda, he has recently talked to 抬高 the idea of a middle class, and he will probably be set against him because he has to

Militants get together

Workers from a number of organisations, while attending theuali conference of Left Socialist, used the occasion to discuss their experiences and their future plans. The conference was held in Calcutta on February 10 and was attended by representatives of many organisations and trade unions.

The conference was addressed by A. M. Basu of the CPI (ML), who stressed the need for unity among the workers. He said that the workers must be united to fight against the forces of reaction and to build a socialist society.

The conference also discussed the role of the trade unions in the struggle for socialism. It was agreed that the trade unions should play a leading role in the struggle for socialism.

In the meantime, police activity has increased in the area. The police have been seen patrolling the streets and making arrests of suspected communists.
