...the law of supply and demand will work in the case of labor, and wages will come down... It will be the spring of 1928 before readjustment begins to be really satisfactory. (Our emphasis.)

No "satisfactory conditions" for eight-teen months! In the meantime "wages will come down"; and the unemployable mass is praiseworthy to remain un... unem... unemployable. The capitalist class, whose system produced the crisis, seeks to put the burden upon the working class exclusively. The job of the workers is to make the capitalist class, aided by the unemployable mass, stick to the situation.

The frightful position of the unemployed workers must be relieved. But it is not by legislation or class action of the workers that relief will be afforded. The latter will have to struggle themselves to bide for that relief. The workers everywhere—working and work-less—must adopt a program of action. The Communist and working class workers, the Unemployment Councils, must take the initiative to set a genuine mass movement into motion.

The central point in such a program must be the Six-Hour Day and the Five-Day Week with No Reduction in Pay! If the eight-hour day is an evergreen, the six-hour day and the five-day week is the new green. If the eight-hour day has been a garnish of the capitalists, the six-hour day and five-day week is a genuine meal.

We are happy to welcome comrades Malkin back into the ranks of the active fighters for the working class and the Communist Opposition!

Will Release Comrade Malkin December 20

We have just received the welcome news that Comrade Malkin, in prison since January 20, the gate of Comstock, N. Y., Prison, will be released. Comrade Malkin, together with his fellow-prisoners and comrades and comrades of the Left wing and its union, and a foundation member of the Communist Party, was ruthlessly sentenced to the penalit... the prosecution, and began to serve his term of two years in prison.

Comrade Malkin was the first rank and the member of the Party to rally to the banner of the Opposition when the members of the Central Committee that came forward to support it were expelled from the Party. While his imprisonment was still in the hands of the police the sentences of the prisoners expelled him the moment he demanded the reinstatement of the Opposition. This did not prevent Malkin from becoming one of the most active militants in our movement and remained so until he was imprisoned and incarcerated at Comstock. At one time, the Party members and comrades assembled to make a... statement from him through the shamanic process of visions from his family but in the long run their efforts proved unsuccessful, and comrade Malkin again issued a declaration affirming his convictions in favor of the views of the International Opposition.

The Railroad Brotherhoods Meet

By ARNE SWABECK

The Railroad Conference

The first event was the national conference of the chairmen and executive officers of the five railroad workers' unions in Chicago. The conference was convened on November 30th, adopting a resolution for the shorter workday for all federal employees.

The railroad conference had a good proportion of paid officials, church officials, and others who had no sense of responsibility for their actions. They refused to sign a minority report which was prepared for a request that President Hoover call the railroad conferences together and endeavor to have them prepare a plan for ending the differences among the five railroad conferences.

Meanwhile, the Chicago Tribunes appeared with editorials parting some union leaders from their workers and criticizing the workers who were demanding a shorter workday. The railroad conferences also managed, opposed to the demands of the workers, to make a new agreement about a new alibi for higher pay for the railroad workers. They also managed to get an agreement among the railroad unions for the extension of the workday without any reduction in the day's pay, and they managed to get the minimum wage measure passed by the state legislature to prohibit the railroad workday from being reduced.

The railroad conferences have been conducting a national campaign of propaganda to destroy the revolutionary movement among the railroad workers, and they have been conducting a campaign to prevent the railroad workers from organizing themselves into a national railroad union that would be able to fight for the shorter workday and other demands. They have been conducting a campaign to prevent the railroad workers from organizing themselves into a national railroad union that would be able to fight for the shorter workday and other demands.

The policies of the Left wing in the American clothing trade have been criticized by critics through a31fing and finally entered a blind alley. With the Textile Workers Union under the Needle Trades Workers Industrial Union and the International Textile Workers Union, the Amalgamated after the second convention of the latter union, the Left wing in the clothing trade which were never the same as those of the A. W. L. in the Amalgamated, the Left wing would probably have continued to be the leader of the Amalgamated if members urged to join the new union. Nor was it true that under such conditions the work of the Men's Clothing Section could be removed. That the work of the new union was to be the same as those of the T. U. U. L. leadership by the readiness of the leaders to make offers to the union, its fear of losing ground in the struggle for the workers' interests, and the formation of the real core of a Marxian party of the American Communist movement to concretize our program. —OEHLER.

In the M. W. I. U., we will continue to supply the Communist can only be absorbing the lessons of the recent events in the United States today—the lack of success on the basis of a still narrower union. Their hold, instead of reformism but this does not mean that American capitalism and its reformist parties had to point out the opportunist policies were applied. It was the opportunistic political organization of the Bolsheviks, united with the T. U. U. L. leadership of the "second period" that was responsible for the bosses in the T. U. U. L. unions, the idea schemes and the union's front policy as such. The opportunistic" second period" policy did not, however, fail to produce—on the other hand, some measures in the interest of a great many Left wing workers. The policy of the T. U. U. L. leaders of the "second period" that its new "revolutionary" policy brought disastrous results and made a swift turn backward into the opposite direction. This new turn has already been talked in the formation of the new unions, the Workers Industrial Union and notice of it to the adoption of a more revolutionary tactics and "trade union movement, and they act according to the leaders. The latest turn in the trade union tactics in this instance was not an isolated phenomenon in the American labor movement but a reflection of the general turn in the tactics of those revolutionary organizations under its control. The "third period" ideology has made a great many workers abandon their proper course of action, reach the conclusion that it was necessary to abandon the tradition and the 21st Congress of the Communist movement, the official leaders in the past will have nothing in common with the same old policies. Taking advantage of the unusual interest aroused by the assassination of a Russian diplomat, the editor of the Pravda, M. I. Kucheev, in a recent article, has pointed to the futility of the attempts to solve the questions of the hour by means of "injecting a few healthy classes" into the stant from the distrust of the Communist Opposition, as so to the United States and the world with what it truly stood for.

The STRATEGY OF THE WORLD REVOLUTION

By LEON TROTSKY

A brilliant summary and analysis of the policies pursued since 1923 by the leading group in the Communist Interna

The Process of Extended Reproduction

Extended reproduction occurs in real-
