National Labor Day

May Day, 1930, is before us. The mobilizing line of the working class to show the strength of the revolutionary movement is an elemental task for all class-conscious and revolutionary workers. It is the duty of every worker to participate in the meetings and demonstrations of the workers on that day. All forces must unite to present a common, broad, militant front before the common enemy—the capitalist class of this country.

Outstanding on May Day, 1930, is the demonstration in the Soviet Union, the first Workers' Republic of the world. It is a living demonstration of international proletarian revolution. The defense of its heritage...against the attacks of Bourgeois democracy, is the first major task of the workers of all lands. That defense is the greatest of all tasks, the cause of all the working class. The National Labor Day on May 1st is the most important one in the country. It is the most important of all the days of the working class, for it is the day which the workers are to break out of their holes and offer to join the battle line against the bosses and their agents.

A duty of the American masses is to demand that the American Labor Union of the United States government allow the American workers in the United States to extend long-term credits to the Soviet Union, and partially to relieve the unemployed situation. This is the task of the American workers, and of the American capitalist class itself. The defense of the American capitalist class is the task of the American masses. The defense of the American workers is the task of the American working class. The defense of the American state is the task of the American state. The defense of the American workers' revolution is the task of the American working class.

The Communist League of America

The pure democracy of Walker and Whalen is a democracy for the bosses, not for the working class. The forces of the strikers on May Day has been granted a demonstration on Union Square, but the American Legion, the Russian White Guards and the thousands of police aroused to the teeth to protect and assist the reactionaries. There the militant workers of New York, with the Communist Party in the United States, the Workers' Square, with permission to march along a demonstratively peaceful route to Union Square after it had been cleared by the Legion and its Russian thugs. Elsewhere the respectable "socialists" who gather in the dark in quiet halls to condemn the un-democratic Communists and to mock the brave demonstrations of the American working forces may be replaced by another good democratic movement of the "middle-class" citizens and bystanders as well.

No more democratic arrangements could be expected from the guardians of American capitalist liberty. The socialists are given full rights to their mean venus upon the revolutionary movement. The black hundreds of the American Workers and their Russian collaborators are generally headed the Square which is traditionally the meeting place of the militant workers. The police are given the illegal right to use their clubs and tear gas bombs against workers who demonstrate their solidarity on May Day. The militant workers are given the right to be threatened by police club and machine gun if they don't behave on the street like Sunday school boys. The Communist leaders Foster, Miller, and Rains will be allowed to give the right to gather in democratize for democracy on the five streets.

Capitalists on the offensive

"The capitalist class in New York, the wheat in the country, the snow in the world, is defeated! It is on the offensive! It knows the possibilities of the fight, and it is using its unemployment situation, and it is driving its forces. It knows the situation of the capitalists to the Communists on March 5th, and then showed its power by the savage, unprecedented brutality which marked the whole demonstration. As police hordes of the American Legion, the Russian White Guards and the thousands of police aroused to the teeth to protect and assist the reactionaries, dashed upon the Communists and gobbled them, and installed them in Union Square.

The reports from Germany are that the labor force, the unions and the Negroes are in the vanguard of the revolutionary movement to control the building of the Square with the armed Legionnaires, White Guards and police. They would have reigned to rest that the leaders of the official Communist Party succeeded in mobilizing such a movement of workers as would enable the masses to take over Union Square and bring the American Legion to the floor. But the irresponsible, false declarations of this leadership has compromised the chances for such a success in advance.

The Policy of Bluff in the N. T. W. U.

Instead of sticking to the facts of the case, the N. T. W. U. has been engaged in a policy of confused and contradictory statements. It has tried to mislead the workers and the public by the use of half-truths and misleading statements.

Max Shachtman, editor of the Militant, has just returned from Europe, after spending a number of weeks with comrades L. D. Trotsky in Prinkipo, studying the situation of the international conference of textile workers in Europe, especially in France and Germany. The reports of the conference, which are of interest and importance not only to the revolutionary movement as a whole but for the American movement in particular, indicate that the N. T. W. U. has been misusing the funds of the union.

BLUMKIN ISSUE WILL NOT DOWN

In Bulletin No. 8 of the committee of the 9th district (France) we read the following:

Blumkin Affair: In a few words, Mocche described what Blumkin had been—a militant, Bolshevik, who, until the 24th of December, the date of his death, had held a responsible position in the U. S. R. R. About the 15th of December, after having crossed to Trotsky, he brought back a letter from the latter, a letter which was intercepted by the K. P. U. U. official. It seems that Blumkin was thereupon condemned to jail where he was permitted to wait until the issue was decided.

Thus, $7.20—workers found themselves getting $7.20 a week. The opinion of the workers was that Blumkin was thereupon condemned to jail where he was permitted to wait until the issue was decided. The workers are well pleased with results.

WILL THE OFFICIAL COMMUNIST PARTY CONTINUE TO STAND IDLY BY?

The local situation has become so acute that the need for action is obvious. The workers are well pleased with results. The unemployed * were gathered by organizers covering 15 districts, including 16 in the 9th district (France) we read the following:

The Autobiography of Leon Trotsky

BY LEON TROTSKY, Chief Secretary of the International Committee of the Bolshevik Party and President of the International Bolshevik Tendency.

It was in the year 1879, during the Russian revolution, that the Coalition Government of our fatherland was overthrown. In February of that year, a revolution took place in Odessa, one of the Black Sea ports, and a number of prisoners were shot. This event, which was a signal for the beginning of the revolution, gave me the first impulse to engage in revolutionary work. I was then a young man of eighteen years, and I had just finished my studies at the University of St. Petersburg.

From that time on, I devoted myself entirely to the study of political economy, and my thoughts were absorbed in the problems of society and the state. I was one of the few students who were interested in the political events of the day, and I soon came to be known as one of the most active revolutionaries in the university.

I was still a student when I was appointed to the editorship of the university newspaper, and I used this position to spread the ideas of the revolution among the students. My articles were full of passion and zeal, and I was soon recognized as one of the leaders of the student movement.

When I was twenty-one years old, I was arrested and sentenced to hard labor in a Siberian prison. This was a severe blow to my hopes, but it only strengthened my resolve to carry on the work of the revolution.

During my imprisonment, I studied the works of the great Russian revolutionaries, and I was able to develop a deep understanding of the problems of society and the state.

When I was released from prison, I was immediately appointed to the position of secretary of the Bolshevik Party, and I worked tirelessly to spread the ideas of the revolution among the people.

I was a member of the Bolshevik party for many years, and I was one of the leaders of the revolution in Russia. I was a close ally of Lenin, and I worked closely with him to carry out the revolution.

I was one of the founders of the Communist International, and I was a leader of the world revolution. I was one of the few people who understood the importance of the revolution, and I was determined to carry it out to its logical conclusion.

I was a great tactician, and I was able to adapt my tactics to the changing circumstances of the revolution. I was always willing to change my tactics in order to achieve the greatest possible results.

I was a great organizer, and I was able to mobilize the resources of the revolution to carry it out. I was a great strategist, and I was able to forecast the future of the revolution.

I was a great thinker, and I was able to develop the ideas of the revolution to their logical conclusion. I was a great writer, and I was able to express the ideas of the revolution in a clear and concise manner.

I was a great leader, and I was able to guide the revolution to its logical conclusion. I was a great Foreign Commissar, and I was able to establish the Soviet republics.

I was a great statesman, and I was able to establish the Soviet republics. I was a great political leader, and I was able to carry on the revolution.

purports to deal with the question of the leaders of the Party, interpreted by Stalin. His answer is: "Either we are Leninists, and then we shall have to believe so, because—" or "If...". The general theme of the speeches today, many months after they were made, is now given a new interpretation. To understand them today, one must be accustomed to the viewpoints of the Left Opposition. But we have to believe that all this is mere mysticism, for there is no solution in it.

The Mud upon the Crystal

To change the way in which pure and transparent as crystal, morals are being distorted and covered with mud and filth—this is the program of the Right Opposition. It is true that I am talking concerning the workers' movement in the United States, but this is precisely the way the Stalinist faction conceives of its work in the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics. "Either we are Leninists, and then we shall have to believe so, because—" or "If..."

Foster Proves His Loyalty

Stalin was accusing Foster, as it incidentally, of having been ready, in the past, to indulge in "conspiracies of the Left Opposition", to use the "hidden Trotskyists", and more specifically, in May 1929, to come to the help of a certain Trotskyist. The task of the Stalinist speech, then, is to discredit those views of the Right Opposition. And it was wholly successful. Foster's adherence to the policies of the Right Opposition was explained by the need for loyalty to the leadership. And conversely, after a private conversation with Stalin in Moscow, Foster received the word that his own hands had been opened to the American apparatus. "Either we are Leninists, and then we shall have to believe so, because—" or "If..."

Kuusinen Mumbles "Amen"

With his usual skill, the author proves that all its successes in China, England, Europe, and other countries, the Com- munist International owes to Stalin—"the words of the Commissar for International Affairs and the present leader of this Party"—and that in May 1929, Foster was dismissed from his position because he was "disloyal" to Stalin. The author's conclusion is: "Either we are Leninists, and then we shall have to believe so, because—" or "If..."
This article is about the economic crisis in Italy, the development of the revolution, and the political situation in Italy.

The economic crisis in Italy is due to the fact that the Italian economy is facing a period of depression and crisis. The Italian government is trying to solve this crisis by means of various economic policies, but the results are not satisfactory. The situation is worsened by the fact that the Italian economy is heavily dependent on foreign markets and is affected by the economic crisis in other countries.

The revolution in Italy is developing rapidly, and the fascists are forced to use violence and terror to suppress it. The fascists are trying to change the economic policies of the government, which is leading to a worsening of the economic situation.

The political situation in Italy is also tense, and the fascists are trying to gain power. The fascists are supported by various sections of the population, but they are also opposed by various groups, including the workers and the peasants.

The fascists are trying to change the political system in Italy, and they are succeeding in some parts of the country. However, the fascists are facing strong opposition, and the revolution is likely to continue.

the International Communist Opposition

by MAURICE SPECTOR

The recent publications focused on the Permanent Revolution and the Leninist Opposition in the present period of April 1926. The opposition, in the Leninist Opposition, on the other hand, sees the period as a phase of the permanent revolution.

We reaffirm the idea of class struggle against opportunism and decadence in the Permanent Revolution. We uphold the leadership of the Permanent Revolution of the working class. We are for the permanent revolution and against the revisionism of the Permanent Revolution.

We must understand the class nature of the Permanent Revolution and the Leninist Opposition.

The situation in the American Communist movement has been immensely clarified since the Washington Conference, and the greatest contribution in this direction has been made by the militants who formed the Trotskyist Opposition, of which the groupings are not any longer what they once were.

Never was the Trotskyist group such a revolutionary force, as at this moment, and the American Communist oppositions constitute the movement of the time. The American Opposition has in the short space of one year, undergone an important and educational work for the movement that will sooner or later bear its fruit.

The American Opposition recognizes its historic debt to the Russian Opposition.
The final test for the Three-Power Naval agreement is being prepared for its trial in the face of Japan's material progress, to the knowledge of the imperial Japanese government. The conference, unless it can overcome the contradictions of the present situation in Tokyo, is doomed to fail. The capitalists in Paris is forced to recognize the situation and to whip the American in a strict sense. During a protest strike the union in the three industries is already a reality. The confrontation of the workers' strike will be done in this sense. In the face of this situation, the bourgeoisie in London is forced to recognize the situation and to whip the workers in a strict sense. If food stuffs are laid off men off strike, the tramways has just consolidated lines in such a way as to cut down its working force. 10,000 tram workers has fired 149 men in a week; the building trades are hard hit.

shrift Forget during the war, the mass movement which accompanied the war, and the movement after the war, the consolidation of the Fascist party in the army and countryside. The Fascist party is not at all a new development. It is, in the nature of things, a movement from the political point of view. In the nature of things the Fascist party was more bound by the limits of the Matteotti period, and Lenin explains that the Fascists were fated to be rapidly strangled in the country. If in the country, revolt is easier than in the city, resistance there is incomparably stronger. The inferior quality of the capitalistic defense in the country provides a quicker chance of explosion than the city. But if in the country, resist the anti-Fascist resistance in the city, resistance there is incomparably stronger. The inferior quality of the capitalistic defense in the country provides a quicker chance of explosion. The Fascists are defeated in the city as suggested by America and Britain.

The factor which led the Fascists to adopt the tactics of the Chinese revolution, which will permit additional naval construction, is the existence of the Japanese Empire. Since August 1929 many efforts have been made to aid the Fascist movements in Italy and Cuba. First, Mussolini did not desert in the face of danger. The austerity of the Matteotti case, many, of the forces of the Fascist party deserted in the face of danger. The events in India

The Naval “Facts”

In recent weeks the struggle of the Italian proletariat and peasants against the Italian Fascist government had greatly increased. The Fascists have been almost defeated by the movement, and the Fascist government has been forced to yield to the demands of the working class. The Fascist government in Italy, except that of a bona fide Communist program applied by Communists in their struggle, can only be the work of the Communist Party. The policy of the Fascist government is effecting itself in the fighting capacity of the proletariat and peasantry, to give the battle for the freedom of the Italian proletariat he realized.
