Gordon Arrested at Boston Meeting

BOSTON—Joint Action for the Communist League of America (Opportunists) was a Western Massachusetts group, which Gordon had been active in as one of its leaders. A Morgan and his followers had been arrested, and they were released soon after. The group was facing serious difficulties, and it had been decided to have a meeting to discuss the situation.

The meeting was scheduled for Boston, and the group invited Gordon to attend. He agreed, and he arrived in Boston on the appointed day. The meeting was held at a local cafe, where a group of activists gathered to discuss the situation.

At the meeting, Gordon was arrested by the police. He was charged with violating a local ordinance, which prohibited meetings of more than five people. The police gave him a summons to appear in court.

The arrest of Gordon put the group in a difficult position. They had to find someone else to fill the position he had vacated. They also had to consider how to respond to the police action.

After the meeting, the group decided to continue its activities, but they were aware that they might face further difficulties in the future.

The arrest of Gordon underscored the challenges that the group faced, and it highlighted the need for a strong leadership structure to guide the group through these difficulties.

FROM MOSCOW & DEPORTATION
From Moscow:

After a first brief interruption, I have once again been permitted to write. The censorship is currently being evaded by having me spread a blanket over the book I am writing and helping me to pass a package of cigarettes. This is the only way I can evade the recent restrictions, which are stricter than those imposed during the war. I do not know whether this is because the authorities are afraid of the extent of my work, or because they wish to make me become more accustomed to their regulations. The fact is that I have been able to continue my work only through the assistance of my friends who are abroad and who are willing to risk their lives to help me. I am very grateful to them for their support.

The situation in Spain continues to be very difficult. The Spanish government has not been able to take any effective measures to protect the workers and peasants. The only thing that can be done is to keep the workers and peasants on the march and to try to maintain their support for the Republican government. The situation is very critical, and we must act quickly to prevent a disaster.

THE INCIDENTS AT SEVILLE

Anarchists and today's revolution can be described as a new form of struggle against authority and the established order. The situation is that the old order has been replaced by a new order, but it is not yet clear whether this new order will be able to survive. The struggle is not yet over, and the situation is still very dangerous.

The Party has been able to influence the public opinion of the workers and peasants, and they are now more willing to support the Communist Party. A Letter from Berlin to Election

It is necessary to make clear that the Socialist Party cannot continue to support the Anarchists in Spain. The Socialist Party is a bourgeois party, and it will not support any movement that is not in the interests of the bourgeoisie.

The elections in Spain will be a very important event. The Socialist Party will have to take a clear position on the question of supporting the Anarchists.

Further "Cynical" Prophecy

The new electoral law will give the right to vote only to those who have paid their taxes. This is a very cynical proposition, and it will have a very negative effect on the ability of the workers and peasants to vote. The Socialists will have to take a clear position on this issue, and they will have to support the workers and peasants in their struggle to obtain the right to vote.
