The War in Manchuria

Chinese Mobs Develop Struggle Against Exploiters

Japanese imperialism continues to lose its grip on China, and passions against military operations have begun to increase. There is little light in the immediate future, and there is little evidence of the effectiveness of the American government's policy of appeasement. The United States has been forced to recognize the Japanese as the dominant power in China and to accept their military occupation. The United States has not been able to stop the Japanese, and the Communist position is that the United States has no right to interfere in the internal affairs of China.

Japanese in Manchuria have been treated with extreme severity. The Chinese government has sent troops to Manchuria to drive the Japanese out, but the Japanese have been too strong. The Chinese government has been forced to accept the Japanese as the dominant power in China and to accept their military occupation. The Chinese government has been forced to accept the Japanese as the dominant power in China and to accept their military occupation. The Tom Mooney Case

The New York Times editorial is in agreement with the general sentiment of the majority of the workers of America. The case against Tom Mooney was a travesty of justice. The New York Times has always been on record as favoring the cause of the workers and has always been in favor of the labor movement. The New York Times has always been a friend of the workers and has always been in favor of the labor movement.

We reprint the following address of Tom Mooney, which was delivered at the National League of American Social Democrats convention in St. Louis, Mo., May 18, 1907.

"We are all agreed that the time has come for the workers of the world to unite. But we must be clear in our minds as to what we mean by the word "unite." We must understand that the word "unite" does not mean to bow down to the will of the ruling class. It means to stand up to the ruling class and to fight for justice and freedom. We must understand that the word "unite" does not mean to become part of the ruling class. It means to become part of the working class and to fight against the ruling class.

PLANS FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE...
The Permanent Revolution & the Canton Insurrection

By Leon Trotsky

In November 1927, the pleasure of the Central Committee of the Chinese party was gratified by the following reply from Comrade Li Li Jia-sheng:

"The objective circumstances, existing in China, demand the immediate formation of a military group to carry out a direct revolution in the provinces. In addition, the question of the cantons demands a solution. It is impossible to carry on a protracted struggle, which would necessarily result in counter-revolutionary intrigues. It is impossible to build factories and to develop trade union consciousness among the workers. The question of the cantons demands an immediate solution. The Central Committee of the Chinese party must therefore immediately proceed to the formation of a canton insurrectionary group in order to carry out a direct revolution in the cantons."

On November 1st, the Central Committee of the Chinese party issued the following order to Li Li Jia-sheng:

"The Central Committee considers your proposal to carry out a direct revolution in the cantons very important. The Central Committee of the Chinese party is convinced that it is necessary to carry out a direct revolution in the cantons. The Central Committee of the Chinese party is convinced that it is necessary to carry out a direct revolution in the cantons."

The Permanent Revolution is the subject of this letter.
