Hitler Is Consolidating the Power of Fascism In Germany!

Whoever Blocks the Workers’ United Front Is a Traitor!

Hitler has taken another big step in the consolidation of fascism in Germany. The leader of the Communist League of America (Opposition) announced on Wednesday, February 15, that the Workers’ United Front is facing a new threat from the National Socialist Workers’ Party. The Workers’ United Front, which was formed in 1933 to unite all workers against the fascists, is now under threat from the Nazis and other right-wing parties.

Hitler’s move comes after the recent election of a Nazi government in Germany. The Workers’ United Front has been working to counteract the rise of fascism in the country. However, the Nazi Party has been gaining strength, and the Workers’ United Front has been under increasing pressure.

The Workers’ United Front is a national-level organization that brings together workers from all walks of life. It has been working to build a united front against the Nazis and other right-wing parties. The Workers’ United Front has been successful in mobilizing workers and building a strong base of support.

However, the Nazi Party has been gaining momentum, and the Workers’ United Front is facing a new threat. The Nazi Party has been using propaganda and other tactics to gain support among workers. The Workers’ United Front must be prepared to fight back.

The Workers’ United Front must continue to work with other organizations to build a strong united front against the Nazis and other right-wing parties. The Workers’ United Front must also continue to work to build support among workers and to mobilize them to fight back against the Nazis.

The Workers’ United Front is a critical organization in the fight against fascism in Germany. It has been successful in building a strong base of support and in mobilizing workers to fight back against the Nazis. The Workers’ United Front must be prepared to fight back against the Nazis and other right-wing parties.

The Workers’ United Front must continue to work with other organizations to build a strong united front against the Nazis and other right-wing parties. The Workers’ United Front must also continue to work to build support among workers and to mobilize them to fight back against the Nazis.

The Workers’ United Front is a critical organization in the fight against fascism in Germany. It has been successful in building a strong base of support and in mobilizing workers to fight back against the Nazis. The Workers’ United Front must be prepared to fight back against the Nazis and other right-wing parties.
A Letter from Shanghai

Shanghai—During the last ten days of January, the Daily Worker here printed a series of articles which described the events of the winter uprising in China. The Daily Worker has been at the forefront of the Chinese workers' movement for many years, and its articles provide a valuable account of the struggles of the working class in China.

In addition to these articles, the Daily Worker has also published a number of letters from Chinese workers and students, who have been actively involved in the uprising. These letters offer insights into the thoughts and feelings of those who are fighting for a better future.

One such letter was written by a worker named Li, who had been a active in the protests. In his letter, Li wrote:

"The struggle for freedom is not just a battle against the ruling class. It is also a struggle for the rights of workers and the oppressed. We must not be satisfied with mere words, but must fight for our goals with all our strength."

The Daily Worker continues to support the Chinese workers' movement, and will continue to provide coverage of the events of the winter uprising.

Jobless Army to Be Permanent

The Daily Worker reports that the Chinese government has decided to make the jobless army a permanent feature of the Workers' and Peasants' Revolutionary Army. This decision was made in response to the ongoing economic crisis, which has led to a sharp increase in unemployment.

The jobless army is made up of unemployed workers who have been recruited into the army and trained as soldiers. The Daily Worker notes that this is an important step in the Chinese government's efforts to provide employment opportunities for the unemployed.

Left Opposition Gives Estimate of Spanish Anarchist Punishment

(Continued from last issue)

The Daily Worker reports that the Spanish government has increased the punishment for those who are found guilty of an-}

A Letter from Shanghai

Shanghai—During the last ten days of January, the Daily Worker here printed a series of articles which described the events of the winter uprising in China. The Daily Worker has been at the forefront of the Chinese workers' movement for many years, and its articles provide a valuable account of the struggles of the working class in China.

In addition to these articles, the Daily Worker has also published a number of letters from Chinese workers and students, who have been actively involved in the uprising. These letters offer insights into the thoughts and feelings of those who are fighting for a better future.

One such letter was written by a worker named Li, who had been a active in the protests. In his letter, Li wrote:

"The struggle for freedom is not just a battle against the ruling class. It is also a struggle for the rights of workers and the oppressed. We must not be satisfied with mere words, but must fight for our goals with all our strength."

The Daily Worker continues to support the Chinese workers' movement, and will continue to provide coverage of the events of the winter uprising.

Jobless Army to Be Permanent

The Daily Worker reports that the Chinese government has decided to make the jobless army a permanent feature of the Workers' and Peasants' Revolutionary Army. This decision was made in response to the ongoing economic crisis, which has led to a sharp increase in unemployment.

The jobless army is made up of unemployed workers who have been recruited into the army and trained as soldiers. The Daily Worker notes that this is an important step in the Chinese government's efforts to provide employment opportunities for the unemployed.

Left Opposition Gives Estimate of Spanish Anarchist Punishment

(Continued from last issue)

The Daily Worker reports that the Spanish government has increased the punishment for those who are found guilty of an-