Fascists In Complete Control of Police

German Left Opposition Appeals for United Proletarian Resistance

The Militant

The work of establishing the Fascist state in Germany has been completed. The Fascist state is now in the process of putting into effect a series of measures designed to consolidate and strengthen it. These measures include the following:

1. The establishment of a Fascist police force, the Schutzstaffel (SS), which is controlled by the Nazi Party and is responsible only to the Party leader. The SS is the organization that will carry out the Fascist policies of the state.

2. The establishment of a Fascist labor service, the Arbeitsdienst, which is responsible only to the Party leader. The Arbeitsdienst is the organization that will carry out the Fascist policies of the state.

3. The establishment of a Fascist educational system, which is controlled by the Nazi Party and is responsible only to the Party leader. The educational system is the organization that will carry out the Fascist policies of the state.

4. The establishment of a Fascist military system, which is controlled by the Nazi Party and is responsible only to the Party leader. The military system is the organization that will carry out the Fascist policies of the state.

5. The establishment of a Fascist economic system, which is controlled by the Nazi Party and is responsible only to the Party leader. The economic system is the organization that will carry out the Fascist policies of the state.

6. The establishment of a Fascist judicial system, which is controlled by the Nazi Party and is responsible only to the Party leader. The judicial system is the organization that will carry out the Fascist policies of the state.

7. The establishment of a Fascist religious system, which is controlled by the Nazi Party and is responsible only to the Party leader. The religious system is the organization that will carry out the Fascist policies of the state.

8. The establishment of a Fascist cultural system, which is controlled by the Nazi Party and is responsible only to the Party leader. The cultural system is the organization that will carry out the Fascist policies of the state.

9. The establishment of a Fascist political system, which is controlled by the Nazi Party and is responsible only to the Party leader. The political system is the organization that will carry out the Fascist policies of the state.

10. The establishment of a Fascist social system, which is controlled by the Nazi Party and is responsible only to the Party leader. The social system is the organization that will carry out the Fascist policies of the state.

These measures, taken together, constitute the Fascist state. The Fascist state is the organization that will carry out the Fascist policies of the state.

The establishment of the Fascist state is a direct result of the defeat of the working class in the class struggle. The working class was defeated by the Fascist state, and the Fascist state was established in its place. The working class now has no choice but to accept the Fascist state and to work for the benefit of the Fascist state.

The working class must therefore take active steps to overthrow the Fascist state and to establish a new state that is based on the principles of social democracy. Such a state will be built on the following principles:

1. The working class will be the ruling class in the new state.

2. The new state will be based on the principles of social democracy.

3. The new state will be based on the principles of internationalism.

4. The new state will be based on the principles of democracy.

5. The new state will be based on the principles of equality.

6. The new state will be based on the principles of freedom.

7. The new state will be based on the principles of justice.

8. The new state will be based on the principles of peace.

9. The new state will be based on the principles of human rights.

10. The new state will be based on the principles of the environment.

The working class must therefore take active steps to overthrow the Fascist state and to establish a new state that is based on the principles of social democracy.
The Relief March in Minneapolis

"The Relief March in Minneapolis" is a term used to describe a series of protests and strikes that took place in Minneapolis in 1905. The protests were primarily against the Pinkertons, a private investigation firm hired by the Great Northern Railway to break a work stoppage by the railroad workers. The term "March in Minneapolis" refers to the movement of workers from various areas of Minneapolis to the city center to voice their demands and protest the Pinkertons' actions.

Governor Strikes Blow at Ill. Miners

The term "Governor Strikes Blow at Ill. Miners" likely refers to a specific event related to labor relations in Illinois. The governor of Illinois might have taken some action against the miners, potentially striking a blow for worker rights or against labor unrest. However, without more context, it's challenging to provide a precise interpretation of the term.
