MILL WORKERS SLAIN BY GUARD'S GUNS; GOVERNOR RAISES "RED SCARE" SCARE

The Truth about the Morro Fire

The building of the Morro Castle was more than a tragedy; it was a far greater event in the history of this country. The fire was a direct result of the failure of the government to take adequate steps to prevent such disasters. It is clear that the government has failed in its basic responsibility to protect the lives of its citizens.

The government's reluctance to take responsibility for this disaster is unworthy of its leaders. The government's failure to prevent such disasters in the past has led to many deaths and injuries. It is time for the government to take full responsibility for the lives of its citizens.

We demand that the government take immediate action to prevent similar disasters from happening again. We demand that the government take full responsibility for the lives of its citizens.

Deputize the Strikers! Who Owns This Country, Anyway?

As God disarmed one of his children, so too must we disarm the strike. God's children are not meant to live in fear, but rather in peace and harmony. The strike is a threat to our way of life, and it must be stopped.

We must work together to defeat the strike. We must stand together and fight for our rights. We must stand together and fight for our country. We must stand together and fight for our future.

Only with our combined efforts can we defeat the strike. Only with our combined efforts can we secure a better future for all Americans. We must work together to defeat the strike. We must stand together and fight for our rights. We must stand together and fight for our country. We must stand together and fight for our future.

We demand that the government take immediate action to prevent similar disasters from happening again. We demand that the government take full responsibility for the lives of its citizens.

We demand that the government take immediate action to prevent similar disasters from happening again. We demand that the government take full responsibility for the lives of its citizens.
REVIEWING THE NEWS

Embarrassing Questions

Salem, Lawrence Workers Confused

Salem, Mass., Aug. 23—Mr. Portney told the following story on Terrace Street yesterday:

"Yesterday, my car was parked on the sidewalk. I was inside when suddenly I heard a loud noise. Running out, I saw my car had been stolen. I called the police, who arrived promptly. They searched the area but couldn't find the thief. I felt so helpless, knowing my car was gone."

Text Strike in Connecticut

Al Leipzig, Ossining—The American Federation of Labor has struck the Ossining Plant.

The strike is the result of a dispute over wages. The company offers $3.50 per hour, but the union is seeking $4.00.

McCrory Responsible

Lack of proper leadership is the key to the strike, according to union officials.

In the meantime, the company has announced it will continue production with a strike-breaking crew.

Text Strike in Connecticut

Text Strike in Connecticut

Waves of the strike have been spreading across the state. The company has ordered the police to intervene.

Hooliganism Again

The Pfaffen Brothers of New York have distributed anti-union literature.

Sieties, the National Guard and the Mayor of New York have been informed.

MARCH OF EVENTS

The state and the NFA

From the first overall strike of 1924, the state and NFA have been in conflict.

To prevent the strike from spreading, the state and NFA have taken various measures to suppress it.

The state has declared a state of emergency and has called up the National Guard. The NFA has called for a general strike of all workers in support of the strikers.

THE MILITANT

IN THE TRADE UNIONS

The Middle Class Backing of Sinclair

San Francisco, Aug. 23—A group of middle class officials of the American Federation of Labor has thrown its support behind the Sinclair strike.

The group, which includes many prominent businessmen, has offered financial support and has called on all labor leaders to join the strike.

The strike is expected to spread to other areas.

JOIN THE COMMUNITY LEAGUE

To be a member of the Community League, one must pay $1 per month. The organization provides legal aid and redress for workers.

SUBSCRIBE TO THE MILITANT

The Militant is available on a subscription basis. Subscriptions are $3 per year.

THE MILITANT

IN THE TRADE UNIONS

The Middle Class Backing of Sinclair

San Francisco, Aug. 23—A group of middle class officials of the American Federation of Labor has thrown its support behind the Sinclair strike.

The group, which includes many prominent businessmen, has offered financial support and has called on all labor leaders to join the strike.

The strike is expected to spread to other areas.

JOIN THE COMMUNITY LEAGUE

To be a member of the Community League, one must pay $1 per month. The organization provides legal aid and redress for workers.

SUBSCRIBE TO THE MILITANT

The Militant is available on a subscription basis. Subscriptions are $3 per year.
MANIFESTO OF THE WORKERS PARTY OF CANADA

The Militant
S. P. "MILITANT," N. Y.

The Manifesto of the Workers Party of Canada, formerly the Canadian Communist League, is designed to include the results of the many years' experience of this movement, and the opinion of the Party's leaders, who have been in touch with the conditions of the workers in all parts of this country. The Party's motto, "Workers of the World, Unite," is not a mere lip-service to the proletariat, but an expression of the Party's determination to fight for the rights of the working class.

The Canadian Communist League was founded in 1895, and since then it has grown into a powerful organization, with branches in all the principal cities of the country. It has done much to educate the workers in the principles of socialism, and to prepare them for the great struggle that must inevitably come.

The Manifesto of the Workers Party of Canada includes the following resolutions:

1. The need for a united front of the workers against the capitalist class.
2. The necessity of organizing the workers into trade unions, and of making them strong and powerful.
3. The importance of the workers' participation in the government.
4. The necessity of the workers' control over the means of production.
5. The need for the workers' right to own the land.

The Party's platform is based on the principles of Marxism, and its leaders are determined to fight for the realization of these principles.

The Manifesto of the Workers Party of Canada is a call to the workers of Canada to unite in the struggle for their rights, and to fight for the establishment of a socialist society.

ECONOMIC CONDITIONS BEHIND TEXTILE STRIKE

Economic conditions are one of the main causes of the textile strike in the United States. The textile workers are demanding higher wages and better working conditions.

The textile industry is one of the oldest industries in the United States, and it has been a focal point of labor unrest for many years. The workers are demanding a 10% increase in wages, and an end to the system of piece work.

The textile workers are also demanding a shorter work week, and an end to the use of child labor.

The textile industry is one of the most important industries in the United States, and it employs a large number of workers. The workers are determined to fight for their rights, and to improve their living conditions.

SAID WORKERS BECOMING ACTIVE RESISTANCE

Despite the pressure of the police and the courts, the workers are becoming more active in their resistance to the capitalist system.

The workers are organizing into unions, and are demanding higher wages and better working conditions.

The workers are also demanding an end to the use of child labor, and a shorter work week.

The workers are determined to fight for their rights, and to improve their living conditions.

THE ADVANCE OF THE NEW INTERNATIONAL

The New International is a new organization that is growing rapidly in the United States. It is a labor organization that is dedicated to the advancement of the workers' rights.

The New International is a united front of the workers, and it is determined to fight for the realization of the workers' rights.

The New International is a powerful organization, and it is determined to fight for the realization of the workers' rights.
EDITORIAL

For the New Party - For the Fusion of the League and the A.W.P.!

This seems to be an important moment because it again presents the problem of the organization, the building of a political weapon of the working-class—a revolutionary party. By local action, the merger of the League and the A.W.P. is to be brought about in the next few weeks. It is, therefore, a matter of great importance to make this merger as quickly and as smoothly as possible.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merger of the two parties is not merely a question of the future of the two parties, but of the future of the working-class movement as a whole. The League and the A.W.P. are two of the most important organizations in the American labor movement, and it is only by merging them that we can hope to make a really effective fighting machine for the working-class.

The merge...