SUSPICIOUS CONCERN

Wall Street's concern about 'democracy" in Argentina is all the more suspicious in the light of its complacency about the brutal dictatorial rule of Vargas in the neighboring country of Protests Role

The political situation in Argentina is obviously far more Of U.S. In Java complicated than the capitalist press makes it out to be. Argentina has long been the economic and political battleground of capital dominated in Argentina. After that war, Yankee imperialism made great inroads. Complicating the situation in Argentina, however, was the growth of a relatively strong native capitalist class. Like all such classes the Argentine capitalists maneuver for the best possible position. On the one side they exploit the Argentine workers. Trotskyist Calls On Radio Audience To Back Detroit's Labor Candidates in the next two years equal to the best pre-war years without paying one cent in taxes. What remained of the so-called free enterprise system has now become the guaranteed profit system.

While Big Business has been taking care of its own post-war needs, what guarantees have the workers received against unemployment and insecurity? Very, very little. Even the miserable $25 weekly allowance for the unemployed proposed by the Kilgore Bill obliged to take jobs at weekly wages of one-half what they had been previously receiving. There are innumerable cases where workers have been denied compensation because they refused to take such a large pay cut.

This is the true picture, not only in Detroit but throughout the whole country. This election gives the worker, and the veteran who is taking his place beside the worker in the plant, the first opportunity since the end of the war to express themselves on the important issues facing them. In most cities the workers and veterans are prevented from voting for their own interests because they are given only the choice of two capitalist candidates, the choice between Tweedledee and Tweedledum. We in Detroit, genuine labor candidates and against the candidates of Big workers.

The main issue of this campaign is jobs for all. Big Business found no difficulty in keeping the plants operating in war time. But we already see that monopoly capitalism has neither the production. We have not forgotten that for an entire decade before the war there were between 11 and 17 million unemployed.

Big Business was able to solve the unemployment crisis only through the medium of war. Are we in for a repeat performance? Are we to be faced once again with mass layoffs, depression and misery, to be followed by World War Number Three and perhaps total annihilation by atomic bombs? Why cannot factories operate in peacetime? We have the necessary plants, machinery, materials and workers to produce for plenty.

What Program For Labor?

True, the corporations cannot make as large profits by producing the necessary peace-time goods. Bosses naturally prefer an army of idle to keep wages down and thus maintain a higher rate of profit. To Ford and the rest of the Sixty Families who are the real rulers of this country, both men and plants are expendable. But the working class and middle class have everything to gain from an economy of plenty as against an economy odern industry can produce. With present-day technology the workers see no reason why they should be called upon to work For this reason we Trotskyists call upon the people of Detroit long hours. As against the program of Big Business which calls to vote for Frankensteen for Mayor and Doll, Hill and Edwards the Western hemisphere and tion like that of the "independthe shutting down of plants and the employment of fewer workers at longer hours, the workers want all the men and women to work shorter hours in all the available plants. As long as there is one worker out of a job, the hours of work are too long. The choice is therefore clear: either the continuing rule of the Sixty Families or sixty million jobs.

The Socialist Workers Party states frankly that the question of jobs for all can be fully solved only by the scrapping of this outlived capitalist system and its replacement by a socialist society was rejected by Congress. In many instances workers have been of plenty. But we also have a program to meet the most immediate needs of the working class today. As it appears in our weekly paper, The Militant, our program calls for the government operation of all government-built plants and of all idle plants. To prevent Big Business from interfering with the smooth functioning of these government-operated plants we ask that they be placed under workers' control.

Secondly, we ask for an increase in wages to meet the increased cost of living. This way the workers can purchase the commodities that are being produced. And, thirdly, we call for a reduction in the work week to thirty hours with no reduction in pay. Only this program will solve the growing friction between workers and unemployed, between worker and returning veteran, however, are very fortunate in being able to cast our votes for between white and colored workers, between men and women

Why We Support Frankensteen

·We do not wish to give the impression that Frankensteen is n full agreement with our program. But we state emphatically ability nor the desire to operate all plants for full peace-time that his election will make it easier for the working class to put this program into effect. Having a labor mayor in Detroit will make it more difficult for the auto companies either to provoke strikes or to enforce lockouts.

The plight of the unemployed would at once be eased, for no labor mayor dare permit the callous disregard of the unemployed as was shown by Mayor Jeffries after V-J Day. Frankensteen would be in a position to at once institute a large scale program of public works. He could increase wages of city employes and thus provide a fine example for industry and could, with the aid of the Detroit workers, apply pressure on Big Business if it failed to

He could likewise enforce a reduction in the work week among city employes to 30 hours with no reduction in pay. With the help of Detroit workers he could put pressure on Congress to pass similar laws in the interests of labor. He could set the example for all other cities in this country and encourage the workers there also to elect labor candidates.

The next two years will undoubtedly witness a great upheaval lution, he wrote: on the part of the entire labor movement in this country, especially The workers want higher wages to buy the many things that in Detroit. Under these circumstances labor will have a much better opportunity to defend its rights if it has in office labor men.

Congress and the Atom

On domestic use of atomic power, two viewpoints are apparent in Congress. One viewpoint is that of certain capitalists now exploiting coal, oil, gas, steam and hydro-electric power. These parasites fear atomic power will displace their source of profits as thoroughly as it wiped out Hiroshima and Nagasaki. They want to prevent development of atomic power.

The other viewpoint hopes to capitalize on atomic power as a new source of profits. They want atomic power turned over to private interests. They advocate Government "control" with licenses for the use of atomic power "on an equal basis to all comers." Both these schools, naturally, oppose transforming the production and development of atomic power into a public utility. That, they claim, would be socialism.

Far transcending in importance the domestic issue is foreign policy. Three positions can be made out. First, the one held largely by the former "isolationists." They advocate preventing the so-called "secret" of the process from falling into the hands of other nations.

A second group, as rabidly imperialistic as the first, argues that the alleged "secret" cannot be kept for more than two to five years and that the United States should utilize this period to "drive bargains" and "make the world accept our system." This means, in plain language, that Wall Street should conquer the entire world before any other power can set up the plants necessary to produce atomic power.

The third group is more cunning in its politics although its basic aim of conquering world power is the same as the others. This group maintains that since in two or three years "practically every nation will know all about it," the secret should be "freely" divulged. In return, the nations of the earth must consent to placing "control" of the colossal new power in an international organization such as the United Nations Organization. "Control" would consist of close inspection of the factories of every country. If any power appeared to have the aim of utilizing atomic power for war, then the "Control" Commission would administer a salutary dose of atomic bombs to the offender.

This third group argues that our planet must recognize that atomic power makes it absolutely essential that one world government be set up. Competing governments, they insist, must subordinate themselves to this single government. Translated into economic terms, this means that world capitalism, headed by Wall Street, can no longer tolerate the continued existence of planned economy even in its degenerated form in the Soviet Union.

The arguments in Congress thus indicate that Wall Street is already preparing for an eventwal showdown struggle with the Soviet Union in an unimaginably frightful slaughter which would be listed in history—if history books were left at the finish—as the Third World

Where Does He Stand?

No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the law.—Article XIV, Section 1, Constitution of the United States.

Well, Mr. President, where do you stand? What are you going to do about the lynch murder of Jesse James Payne on October 10, down in Madison, Florida?

Maybe young Negro farm-hand Jesse Payne didn't know he was entitled to "due process of law" and "the equal protection of the law." But you know it, Mr. President.

You also know that before the law Jesse Payne, whatever the charges against him, was innocent. Because every man is considered innocent until proved guilty and convicted by a jury of his peers. Young Payne was hauled from the county jail by an organized lynch mob. He was arrested under the usual pretext-you're from Missouri, Mr. President, so you'll guess it right away-"molesting with intent to rape" a fiveyear-old white child. She was the niece of the sheriff. Sheriff Davis had the only key to the jail. 'He just "happened" to be out when the mob walked in to the unguarded jail house. The Socialist Workers Party, through its National Secretary, James P. Cannon, on October 19 wired you as follows: "Urge that you make a public denunciation of the Madison, Florida, officials, whose criminal negligence was responsible for the lynching of 20-year old Jesse James Payne. Strongly urge that you press for the passage of anti-lynch bills in Congress as a minimum protection for Negro-American citizens.

Well, Mr. President, where do you stand?

Free Puerto Rico!

Oppressed by Wall Street for almost a half century, the Puerto Ricans are again demanding their freedom with renewed insistence. Some of the Puerto Ricans want complete independence. But others, fearing crushing economic reprisals if political ties with the United States were severed, want Statehood with all the democratic rights now denied them.

President Truman on October 16 passed the buck to Congress, implying publicly that he favored letting the people of Puerto Rico decide their fate. But after private consultation with Truman, Senator Tydings announced the following day that his committee, in drawing up legislation, would consider only a choice between "complete independence and wider local self-government," excluding Statehood. This would indicate the Puerto Ricans will be offered "independence" with economic reprisals or a slight modification of the present hated

Such an offer would prove that Wall Street is simply maneuvering and does not intend in the least to grant Puerto Rico her freedom. It is the duty of the labor movement to back up the Puerto Rican people. Let them freely choose their own form of government without fear of reprisals!

A Liar Confesses

Two weeks ago, The Militant called attention to a "lie cooked up by John O'Donnell, professional poison-pen columnist of the N. Y. Daily News." . According to O'Donnell's lie, Gen. Patton was ousted from his post in occupied Germany because of "pressure applied by influential" people behind the scenes "whose racial background was Jewish.'

The Militant pointed out that publication of "such propaganda" in a major capitalist paper indicates how far Big Business is opening the throttle on the native fascist movement."

A number of organizations protested O'Donnell's anti-Jewish propaganda. A committee of veterans picketed the News building. Meanwhile the militant reception given America's native fascists on picket lines in Detroit and Minneapolis indicated the people are in no mood to tolerate fascist propaganda constructed so obviously on the Hitler model.

So the News decided to pull in its neck. On October 18, O'Donnell retracted the lie, confessing: "On the evidence, our statements... were untrue. We regret having made them."

When the capitalist press is forced to admit a lie that's news!

Radio Censorship

Any capitalist political crook, any monopoly corporation, any dealer in high-priced, lowgrade commodities, any anti-labor commentator can buy time on the radio.

But The Militant, which speaks against these elements and all they stand for, can't buy time for a 30-second advertisement over New York stations WHN and WINS.

WHN had contracted for eight spot announcements advertising The Militant. At the last minute, the announcements were rejected. Station WINS then accepted the announcement for two weeks. Then, abruptly, it was refused for a third week.

Why? The agency which placed the advertisements wrote: "From our own observations and telephone conversations with the manager of WHN, we feel that the station does not want to promote the sales of a newspaper like 'The Militant.' Of course they did not admit this to us."

When WINS refused the third week's time that had already been reserved, the agency wrote: "WINS does not care to advertise 'The Militant' in the future. 'The product,' they say, 'is too radical for them.'

In short, The Militant is the victim of political censorship by radio stations operating under federal license. Such censorship is a blow against a free press and radio. It is clearly anti-labor. Our readers and the labor movement are urged to protest by letter and wire to Stations WHN and WINS.

Tax The Rich!

First the Senate rejected a proposal for $25 weekly maximum unemployment compensation. Then the House shelved all legislation on aid to the unemployed. With its decks thus cleared for action, the capitalist Congress got down to the business closest to its heart—"relief" for Big Business.

In record time, the House passed a bill providing close to $7 billion tax "relief" for the corporations and the higher income brackets. This included a 35 per cent reduction in corporation "excess profits" taxes for 1946, total elimination of the tax in 1947.

The Senate Finance Committee, showing an even greater solicitude for the hog-fat war profiteers, on October 18 voted, on the recommendation of Truman's Secretary of the Treasury Vinson, to eliminate immediately all, "excess profits" taxes. This means a further cool tax savings for Big Business of $2,555,000,000 (that's billions) annually.

Who is going to pay the huge interest and amortization of the government's $300 billion war debt? Not the profit-bloated war profiteers. They are guaranteed "normal profits" after the war by tax rebate and other tax measures. It is the workers who will pay, through wage cuts, inflation, direct and hidden taxes.

But we say, "Tax the rich, not the poor!" Make the war profiteers disgorge! Let organized labor demand: One Hundred Per Cent Taxation Of All Accumulated War Profits—No Taxation Of Incomes Under $5,000 Per Year!

"But why must I pay a luxury tax?—This is a necessity!"

PROBLEMS FACING WAR VETERANS

-By CHARLES CARSTEN-

The Loan Guarantee Fraud

The loan guarantee provisions of the so-called "G. I. Bill of Rights" have been more grossly misrepresented to servicemen than any other section of the legislation. Eight out of ten men being discharged asked about it, says an "exit interviewer" in a letter to The Militant, and these men indicate that although they don't expect to apply for a loan at present, they expect to in the future. "There is more mis-information about this point than all the others put together," says our correspondent. "and the disappointment that shows in their faces when that gaudy bubble explodes is pitiful!"

Servicemen have been led to believe that the Veterans' Administration will make it possible for them to borrow money to furnish a home, buy an automobile or tide them over a difficult period. But this is not the case.

After a thorough investigation of the veteran to determine whether or not his income is ample and secure, the government will "guarantee" one-half on a loan up to $4,000 or a maximum of $2,000 on a larger loan negotiated to buy a business, home or farm. Government appraisers must be satisfied that the price does not exceed "the reasonably normal value," which can mean, in relation to either present inflated prices or prewar prices. The veteran must be able to repay the loan in monthly installments within 20 years.

If the government and the agency making the loan do not consider it a good investment, they will not grant the loan. It is just about as easy for the veteran to get a loan without the "guarantee." In fact, he then has less red tape to wade through!

Those wishing to utilize the "loan guarantee" must fight their way through a maze of snafu. The forms are so complicated that an expert is required to fill them out. Delays are endless. The government is well aware that such a procedure discourages application for loans. And that is its aim.

As a result of these restrictions, difficulties and red-tape only two per cent of those who received eligibility certificates for loans to buy farms or businesses, had received them last spring. Those who had applied for home loans had fared only a little better

-18 per cent had received the loan. This situation is surprising only to those who had been misled into believing that the government was actually willing to guarantee a loan to be used as the veteran saw fit, or to tide him over a difficult period. Such is not the case

"It was never intended that veterans should obtain easy credit and the restrictions are necessarily tight," flatly stated Mr. John B. Paddi, vice president of the Manufacturers Trust Company, in a talk before the Veterans Guidance Counselors School. This capitalist, speaking for business and the government, made it clear that loans are to be exclusive; they will be made only to men who have the "experience" and the financial backing to make the loan a secure investment.

Furthermore, veterans must apply for the loans within two years of their discharge or the end of the war, whichever comes later. The few who qualify must buy property at the present tremendously inflated prices.

This is most true of farm prices and will be a particular handicap for the 800,000 or so servicemen who have declared their intention of buying farms. "Today the national average is 40 to 50 per cent higher than it was in 1940," stated Marquis W. Childs in his column in the N. Y. Post. August 21. This is similar to the inflated farm prices that followed the First World War and ended with a crash that ruined many small farmers in 1921 and '22.

The "loan guarantee" is not at all a benefit as it has fraudulently been represented. Labeling it as such is part of the swindle perpetrated against service-

Big Business Authored 'Industrial Peace' Bill

The big business, open-shop agents, who drafted and sponsored the viciously anti-labor Ball-Burton-Hatch Bill, known as S.1171, introduced into the Senate on June 20, 1945, are described in an analysis of the bill prepared by the CIO, United Automobile Workers Executive Board and its Legal Department, published in a recent UAW Report.

Not a single representative of labor was included on the so-called "Committee to Promote Industrial Peace." which drafted the bill. The Committee itself was financed by multi-millionaire Samuel S. Fels, head of one of the largest soap manufacturing companies in the country, and a member of the committee.

Donald R. Richberg, chief author of the bill and Chairman of the Committee, is a representative of Standard Oil, Chrysler and other big corporations with a consistent record of warfare against union

The whole Committee of 13 is packed with prominent labor haters. It includes Arthur D. Whiteside, president of Dunn and Bradstreet; George W. Alger, attorney for Wall Street interests; Harold Glenn Evans, president and director of insurance and real estate companies and vice-president of the Reading Chamber of Commerce; George Sjoselius, Assistant Attorney-General of Minnesota: Kirk Smith, banker and lawyer, and others of similar stripe, All of them are openly in the service of Big Business,

Despite this, Senator Hatch, in introducing the bill. brazenly declared that "not a single provision, not even a word has been written at the suggestion of any partisan of management . . ."

The Ball-Burton-Hatch bill is designed to liquidate the National Labor Relations Act which-on paper-is supposed to protect the workers' right to organize and bargain collectively "on a basis of equality with employers."

But even on paper the authors of the proposed new "industrial peace" bill gag at the word "equality." Richberg spoken bluntly about the "superiority" of the bosses and the "inferiority" of the workers which creates "inequality."

He recently wrote: "The problem . . . is not to create or maintain a fictitious equality but to establish social and economic inequalities on the basis of genuine differences . . . Some individuals are superior to others," And this servant of Big Business doesn't mean the workers!

Grateful for Finding Socialism

My first encounter with The Militant was through a friend of mine whom I met while working in the shipyard.

In reading The Militant I found explanations and answers for problems that I didn't believe existed. It was inconceivable where the answers came from until I studied the theory of Socialism by Karl Marx and found that instead of being just a theory, Socialism is also an established fact.

I have learned to appreciate Socialism and believe in its inevitability through the teachings and interpretations of Leon Trotsky. In my study of Socialism I have found an explanation not only to my problems and the problems of the working class but the economic, social and political problems of society in general.

Being a Negro, I am extremely happy that I have knowledge of the fact that justifies my existence on this earth. I know now that I am not really a second rate citizen and that my Union Militant race is not inferior to any other

Although barred from certain forms of society because of race by Jim Crow and discriminations of all kinds, I know that Socialism is inevitable and that under Socialism my race can make its greatest contributions to the progress of mankind.

Previous installments of Comrade Cannon's book described the emergence of the American Communist Party out of the left wing of the Socialist Party in 1919, the expulsion of the Trotskyists in 1928, the formation of a new party and the beginning of mass work. The Minneapolis truckdrivers' strike

In our movement we never played with the absurd idea that of labor" in the guise of federal mediators. only those directly connected with a union are capable of giving anything else. If our party, our Le As is always the case with trade union leaders, especially in strike times, they were under the weight and stress of a thousand pressing details. A political party, on the other hand, rises above the details and generalizes from the main issues. A trade union leader who rejects the idea of political advice in the struggle against the bosses and their government, with its cunning devices, traps and methods of exerting pressure, is deaf, dumb and blind. Our Minneapolis comrades were not of this type. They turned

We sent quite a few forces into the situation. I went there about two weeks before the outbreak of the second strike. After I had been there a few days, we agreed to call in more aid—a whole staff, in fact. Two additional people were brought from New York for journalistic work: Shachtman and Herbert Solow, an experienced and talented journalist who was a sort of sympathizer of our movement at that time. Borrowing an idea from the Toledo Auto-Lite strike, we called in another comrade whose specific task was to organize the unemployed to assist the strike. That was Hugo Oehler who was a very capable mass worker and trade unionist. His work in Minneapolis was the last bit of good he ever did for us. Soon afterwards he caught the sectarian sickness. But up to then Oehler was all right, and he contributed something to the strike.

On top of this, we imported a general attorney for the union, Albert Goldman. We knew from previous experience that a lawyer is very important in a strike, if you can get a good one. It who gives you honest advice and protects your legal interests. There are all kinds of ups and downs in a hard-fought strike. Sometimes things get too hot for the "disreputable" strike leaders. Then you can always push a lawyer forward and he says calmly: "Let us reason together and see what the law says." Very handy, especially when you have such a brilliant lawyer and loyal man as Al Goldman.

We gave all we could to the strike from our center in New York, on the same principle as I mentioned before, which should serve as the guiding line for every kind of activity of a serious party, or a serious person for that matter. This is the principle: If you are going to do anything, for heaven's sake do it properly, do it right. Never dabble, never do anything halfway. Woe to the lukewarm! "Because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spew thee out of my mouth."

That is something new, that is something specifically Trotskyist. Second, Trotskyism introduced into all the plans and to cases, put pressure on the bosses and made concessions to the preparations of the union and the strike, from beginning to end, the class line of militancy; not as a subjective reaction—that is seen in every strike-but as a deliberate policy based on the theory of the class struggle, that you can't win anything from the bosses unless you have the will to fight for it and the strength

These slick rascals would come in, take advantage of the ignoassistance. Their assign- not see public sentiment disoriented by the capitalist monopoly served to exist it would have come to the aid of the local comrades. ment was to "settle the trouble" by extorting concessions from the weaker side. Inexperienced and politically unschooled strike leaders were their prey. They had a routine, a formula to catch the unwary. "I am not asking you to give any concession to the bosses, but give me a concession so that I can help you." Then, after something had been given away through gullibility: "I tried to get a corresponding concession from the bosses but they refused. I think you had better make more concessions: public sentiment is turning against you." And then pressure and threats: "Roosevelt will issue a statement." Or "We will feel obligated to publish something in the papers against you if you aren't more reasonable and responsible." Then get the poor greenhorns into conference rooms, keep them there hours and hours on end and terrorize them. This was the common routine these cynical scoundrels em-

> They came into Minneapolis all greased up for another standard performance. We were sitting there waiting for them. We said, "Come on. You want to negotiate, do you? All right. That is fine." Of course our comrades put it in the more diplomatic language of the negotiations "protocol," but that was the gist of our attitude. Well, they never negotiated two cents out of the Trotskyist leaders of Local 574. They got a dose of negotiations and diplomacy which they are still gagging from. We wore out three of them before the strike was finally settled.

Despicable Role of Federal Mediators

A favorite trick of the confidence men known as federal mediators in those days was to assemble green strike leaders in a room, is very important to have your own "mouthpiece" and legal front play upon their vanity and induce them to commit themselves to some kind of compromise which they were not authorized to make. The federal mediators would convince the strike leaders that they were "big shots" who must take a "responsible" attitude. The mediators knew that concessions yielded by leaders in negotiations can very rarely be recalled. No matter how much the workers may oppose it, the fact that the leaders have already committed themselves in public compromises the position of the union and creates demoralization in the ranks.

This routine cut many a strike to pieces in that period. It didn't work in Minneapolis. Our people weren't "big shots" in the negotiations at all. They made it clear that their authority was extremely limited, that they were in fact the more moderate and reasonable wing of the union, and that if they took a step out of line they would be replaced on the negotiations committee by other types. This was quite a poser for the strike-butchers who had come to Minneapolis with their knives out for unsuspecting sheep. Every once in a while Grant Dunne would be added to the Com-

The strike was a hard and bitter fight but we had plenty of friendship for the strikers. They were nothing but the agents of employing class as a whole. That was perfectly clear to a Marxist, and we took it as rather an insult for them to assume that we could be taken in by the methods they employed with novices.

very useful in dealing with the federal mediators. Unlike stupid the one that tipped the scale to victory, was the publication of the sectarians, we didn't ignore them. Sometimes we would initiate daily paper. Without the "Organizer" the strike would not have discussions. But we didn't let them use us, and we didn't trust them for one moment. Our general strategy in the strike was to the most interesting and perhaps the most decisive—was that | may appear to be a very simple and obvious prescription, but that | the leadership of the strike. The lessons of the hotel strike, the we met the government mediators on their own ground. I tell you, is not the case. It was not obvious to the great majority of strike leaders of the time.

> The fifth and crowning contribution that Trotskyism made to the Minneapolis strike was the publication of the daily strike newspaper, the Daily Organizer. For the first time in the history of the American labor movement, strikers were not left dependent on of the press. The Minneapolis strikers published their own daily newspaper. This was done not by a half-million coal miners, a hundred thousand auto or steel workers, but by a single local union of 5,000 truck drivers, a new union in Minneapolis which had Trotskyist leadership. This leadership understood that publicity and propaganda are highly important, and that is something very few trade union leaders know.

> It is almost impossible to convey the tremendous effect of this daily newspaper. It wasn't a big one-just a two-page tabloid. But it completely counteracted the capitalist press. After a day or two we didn't care what the daily papers of the bosses said. They printed all kinds of things but it didn't make that much difference in the ranks of the strikers. They had their own paper and took its reports as gospel. The Daily Organizer covered the town like a blanket. Strikers at the headquarters all used to get it straight from the press. The Women's Auxiliary sold it in every tavern in town that had working class customers. In many saloons in working class neighborhoods they would leave a bundle of papers on the bar with a slotted collection can beside them for contributions. Many a dollar was collected that way and carefully watched by the friendly bartenders.

Union men used to come from the shops and railroad yards every night to get bundles of the Organizer for distribution among the men on their shifts. The power of that little paper, its hold on the workers, is indescribable. They believed the Organizer and no other paper. Occasionally a story would appear in the capitalist press about some new development in the strike. The workers wouldn't believe it. They would wait for the Organizer to see what the truth was. Press distortions of strike incidents and outright fabrications—which have destroyed the morale of many a strike didn't work in Minneapolis. More than once, among a crowd that álways surged around strike headquarters when the latest issue this: "You see what the Organizer says. I told you that story in the Tribune was a damned lie." That was the general sentiment of the workers toward the voice of labor in the strike, the Daily Organizer.

The Daily Organizer Arms the Workers

This powerful instrument didn't cost the union a penny. On the contrary, the Daily Organizer made a profit from the first day and carried the strike through when there was no money in the treasury. The profits of the Organizer paid the daily expenses of the commissary. The paper was distributed free to anyone who wanted it, but nearly every sympathetic worker gave from a nickel to a dollar for a copy. The morale of the strikers was kept up by it, but above all, the role of the Organizer was that of an educator.

Every day the paper had the news of the strike, some jokes about the besses; some information about what went on in the labor movement. There was even a daily cartoon drawn by a local comrade. Then there would be an editorial drawing the lessons of the past 24 hours, day after day, and pointing the way ahead. "This is what has happened. This is what is coming next. This s our position." The striking workers were armed and prepared madvance for every move of the mediators or Governor Olson.

We would be poor Marxists if we couldn't see 24 hours in advance. We called the turn so many times that the strikers began to take our forecasts as news and to rely upon them as such. But they didn't make an inch of headway until they got down | The Daily Organizer was the greatest of all the weapons in the arsenal of the Minneapolis strike. I can say without any qualifibeen won.

All these contributions which I have mentioned were infight it out. That was Trotskyjst contribution number four. It staff sent by the National Committee and the local comrades in were arrested by the Militia, they took it just as light-heartedly.

| lamentable experiences with swelled-headed and disloyal people, were fully assimilated in Minneapolis. There was the closest collaboration from beginning to end.

The strike presented Floyd Olson, Farmer-Labor governor. with a hard nut to crack. We understood the contradictions he was in. He was, on the one hand, supposedly a representative of the workers; on the other hand, he was governor of a bourgeois state, afraid of public opinion and afraid of the employers. He was caught in a squeeze between his obligation to do something, or appear to do something, for the workers and his fear of letting

Our policy was to exploit these contradictions, to demand things of him because he was labor's governor, to take everything we could get and holler every day for more. On the other hand, we criticized and attacked him for every false move and never made the slightest concession to the theory that the strikers should rely on his advice.

Floyd Olson was undoubtedly the leader of the official labor movement in Minnesota, but we did not recognize his leadership. The labor bureaucrats in Minneapolis were under his leadership, just as the present bureaucrats of the CIO and AFL are under the leadership of Roosevelt. Roosevelt is the boss, and Floyd Olson was the boss of the whole labor movement in Minneapolis except Local 574. But he wasn't our boss; we didn't hesitate to attack him in the most ruthless manner. Under these attacks he would flinch a little bit and make a concession or two which the strike leadership would grab on the fly. We had no sentiment for him at all. The local labor bureaucrats were weeping and wailing in fear that his political career would be ruined. We didn't care. That was his affair, not ours. What we wanted was more concessions from him, and we hollered for them day after day. The labor skates were scared to death. "Don't do this; don't push him into this calamity; remember the difficulties of his position.

Governor Olson Declares Martial Law

We paid them no mind and went our own way. Pushed and pounded from both sides, afraid to help the strikers and afraid not to, Floyd Olson declared martial law.

This is really one of the most fantastic things that ever happened in the history of American labor. A Farmer-Labor governor proclaimed martial law and stopped the trucks from running. That was supposed to be one on the side of labor. But then he allowed the trucks to run again under special permits. That was one of the Organizer was delivered, one could hear remarks such as for the bosses. Naturally the pickets undertook to stop the trucks, permit or no permit. Then, a few days later, the Farmer-Labor governor's militia raided the headquarters of the strike and arrested the leaders.

I am jumping a little ahead of the story. Upon the declaration of martial law, the first casualties, the first military prisoners of Olson and his militia became myself and Max Shachtman. I don't know how they found out we were there, as we were not very conspicuous in public. But Shachtman was wearing a great big ten-gallon cowboy hat—where he got it, or why in God's name he wore it, I never knew-and that made him conspicuous. I suppose that is how they located us. One evening Shachtman and I came away from the strike headquarters, walked downtown, and, being in need of diversion, looked around to see what shows were playing. Toward the lower end of Hennepin Avenue we were confronted with an alternative: in one place a burlesque show, next door a movie. Which to go to? Well, naturally, I said a movie. A couple of detectives, who had been on our trail, followed us in and arrested us there. What a narrow escape from being arrested in a burlesque show. What a scandal it would have been. I would never have lived it down, I am sure.

They kept us in jail for about 48 hours; then took us into court. I never saw so many bayonets in one place in my life as there were in and around the courtroom. All these young, up-state "apple-knockers" and white collar squirts in the militia seemed to be quite eager to get a little bayonet practice. Some of our friends were in the court watching the proceedings. Finally the judge turned us over to the military, and Shachtman and I were marched down the corridors and down the stairs between two rows of union. The collective political experience of our movement was cation that of all the contributions we made, the most decisive, bayonet-clutching militiamen. As they were marching us out of the courthouse, we heard a shout overhead.

Bill Brown and Mick Dunne were sitting comfortably up in third-floor window watching the procession, laughing and waving at us. "Look out for those bayonets," Bill shouted. Anything fight it out, not give anything away to anybody, to hold on and tegrated and carried out in the greatest harmony between the for a laugh in Minneapolis. When a few days later Bill and Mick

While taking responsibility for Browder's "revisionism" during the discussion last summer, the present crop of C.P. leaders promised to do better in the future. What real change, if any, has occurred since? In the current New York elections the Stalinists repeat the Browder formula for betrayal almost word for word. They call upon the workers to "unite" with the bankers, landlords and bosses in a "broad labor-progressive coalition" in support of the Tammany Democrat O'Dwyer.

MONOPOLY CAPITALISM

The Democratic Party, as well as its Republican counter-part, is a political agency of the American capitalist class. "American capitalism," as Browder explained, "is monopoly capitalism." To support the Wall Street controlled candidates of the capitalist political parties means to support the continued rule of monopoly capitalism. It is impossible to escape from this conclusion. Camouflage it as they will, the "new" Stalinist line remains but a replica of the old.

In the beginning man killed animals with crude stone weapons, and he was a slave to famine and cold

Centuries fell away. Man invented the bow and arrow, found that the horse and ox could serve him. More ages slipped down into the twilight, but man was still a slave to earth.

Man learned to clothe himself in the hair of the sheep; he shod himself with the skin of the bullock. In kilns and crucibles he baked and melted earthen deposits, changed their form, forged his products. But still he was a slave to ignorance.

Another brief passage of time, and man took the materials his fathers had taught him to make, collected them, and constructed the steam engine. Then man became the slave of the machine.

What ten men had done, one machine did. Where men had cunningly plied their trades for hours, for days, one machine hummed and pounded stolidly for a few hours, and the same amount of work was turned out.

Bewildered shoemakers, despairing weavers, starving artisans flocked to the workshops, stampeded to the factory doors pleading, begging to work on the machines that had ruined them. But the shops were soon filled, and the outlived craftsmen were turned away from the gates.

What twenty men had done, one machine did. Inventions, improvements daily turned more hungry men from the factory doors. What fifty men had done, one machine did.

Not Leisure, But Fear

Machines, labor-saving devices brought not leisure but fear to those who labored. Workingmen began to look upon the machines as their enemies. They broke the doors of the factories and smashed the machines. They died before the musketry of the militia. They fell beneath the clubs of the constabulary. But there were more machines and more, and the workers could not win. The machine age had come, and the capitalists owned the machines.

Walk through the factories today: See the sweating slaves that feed the machines. See the nerve-cracking scramble of the conveyor lines, the time-studied crash of the presses, the frenzied dash of the drills. See the seamed faces, the burning eyes, the flying fingers and racing feet. . . . A machine has no blood. It has no nerves. It can be geared and speeded up. And the workers, men and women with blood and nerves, must race the machines to a dead heat. They must match split second for split second. For they are shackled to the machines with, the chains of poverty.

Never is there rest, never leisure. When the factories are silent and dusty, when the stilled machines give lodging to the spider, and the cricket chirps in the dead conveyors, and rats burrow in the cool furnaces, even then is there no rest. In death the machine clasps the worker as in life. Still is the worker chained to the machine. When the machine is idle, the worker is idle, hungry, and desperate.

The age of the machine is the age of capitalism; and that he has used up his space "with- clude any of the men's basic de- displayed a suspicious concern age is drawing to a close. What had to be done was done. What a thousand men did, one machine does.

The new age glows brighter with the dawn of each new day. Soon it will burst forth and shed its light upon us all.

It will be the age of Socialism, the age of man. Machines, labor-saving devices, will bring not insecurity, want, and despair but leisure. The machine will be the slave of man. And man will

Stalinist Party Heads Support Capitalist Candidates; Diary of a STEEL WORKER Find It Difficult To Explain To Grumbling Members

Truman "is inherently an imperialist," William Z. Foster says, according to the October 18 Daily Worker. (P. 2.)

Therefore? Therefore vote for Truman's fellow-Democrat, General William O'Dwyer, because "more than the city election is at stake in the coalition behind O'Dwyer," according to the October 19 Daily Worker (p. 7.)

This sounds like double-talk, not only to us, but also to lots of Communist Party members and sympathizers, who, complains Max Gordon in the October 17 Daily Worker, "think that labor ought to 'go it alone' behind a labor candidate instead of linking up with a bourgeois party . . . Now, these labor people argue State Department policy tends to merge with Hooverite foreign policy and Truman is going to the right on domestic issues. Hence there is no longer any differentiation among the bourgeoisie and no basis for coalition between labor and either one of the bourgeois parties."

Gordon undertakes the impossible task of explaining why these labor people should support the "inherently imperialist" Truman-O'Dwyer.

"I think these people are a bit hasty," says Gordon. Why? Follow this very closely now, or you'll miss the point: "Truman tends to be conciliatory to reaction. But that does not mean that there are not serious differences within the bourgeoisie generally, and even within the Administration, on these questions."

STALINIST GAME

Subsequent events proved that the Stalinists were playing a long-chance game for control of the insurgent longshoremen. The Stalinists were aiming to convert the genuine struggle against the employers and for union democracy into a union - raiding

The first action of the Warren committee was to call for police protection against Ryan's goons. Next, it agreed to submit all the shoremen to choose between Warren and Ryan. This was not a choice that the rank and file longshoremen took to kindly, especially, when it became obvious that this was a Stalinist maneuvagainst Ryan into a jurisdictional conflict.

SHOP TALKS ON SOCIALISM

By V. Grey

A curious student and a smart professor were walking along the road, and the student asked, "Isn't it possible to end wars and give prosperity to all if we had socialism?"

"Hah, hah, hah!" laughed the smart professor. "You are very young and have not yet read Smith and Jones on this subject. I also recommend Dupont, Rockfeller, and Morgan. Socialism is too uniform and regimented for creative minds. It is an ant hill society. Everyone would be just like everyone else under socialism. What would be the use of going to college?" the smart professor sneered politely, and added, "Perhaps to learn to live in an ant

A couple of ants were trudging along the same road, each staggering under large bread-crumb loads. They paused in disgust when they heard the above professorial wisdom.

"Can you beat that, Junior?" the elder said. "Here you and I are-slaves to the master-ants because they stole our cocoons before we had any proper bodies or brains, and that smart professor calls us socialists!"

"Well, he's a professor, aunty, so maybe he's right," said Junior. "Those professors are very deep. They know Latin and Greek and - and everything!"

"I daresay," replied the aunt tolerantly. "I daresay. But these human giants are mostly slaves just like you and me, for all their smartness. Just how they get that way I don't know. I suppose their masters steal their cocoons before the slave's brain starts growing. Now just consider that smart professor. He's a slave too,

"But aunty," objected little Junior, "The Professor wasn't carrying any breadcrumb loads or leaves for the boss-ants."

The Professor Pours Out Goo

"There are many things you have to learn, Junior. You know how the nurse-aunts have a somewhat better life than us worker-ants. They spend all their time doing nothing but fluttering around the cocoons and taking the eggs back and forth all over the place. They pour honey and all kinds of goo into the baby ants. Well the professor is like a nurse-ant - only he pours in a different kind of goo."

"I see!" said Junior, as he clapped his feelers. "And I bet the queen human ant tells the professor just what kind of goo te pour into the young humans.'

"That's right, my boy," said his aunt. "Only the humans don't have busy queens just like we do. Their ruling people are more like our drones, who do nothing."

"But even so," said Junior, "these humans have quite a good ant heap as it is—what with their having worker-slaves, professornurses, and the big shots being drones!"

"Yes, Junior. It's right now these humans are living in an ant heap, even if the smart professors don't know it. Still, I must admit it's a different sort of ant-heap than ours. The worker-humans can't afford to go to the capitalist colleges. But somehow in their capitalist ant heap these workers learn something that most college boys and their professors can't learn, and us slave-ants never learn. And that's TO REBEL."

company is waiting for an opportunity to crush the picket line is the unusual number of police, at times outnumbering the pickets, concentrated around the plants. One day last week, I counted a hundred policemen gathered around the plant. This provocative police con-

Block pointed out that "the more than 3.000 employes at SKF have been locked out for nearly a month," and that the "company's refusal to meet with the union has caused a situation to exist which seriously interferes with the reconversion problem . .

He went on to say that the situation will lead to the layoff of thousands of other workers in this area because of the essential need for SKF products in other industries. Block concluded his letter to Schwellenbach, saying, "The situation may become so acute that a general work stoppage might occur." SKF's anti-union policy, dat-
