12 MORE MINERS KILLED BY GREED OF OPERATORS

Southern Drive Of CIO Faces Bitter Struggle

By Art Prosl

The Congress of Industrial Organizations (CIO) this week began a new offensive against the United Mine Workers (UMW) by simultaneously launching a number of attacks on the UMW's 12-day-old strike against the Southern Coal Field Region (SFCR) in the States of Alabama, Georgia, and Florida. The SFCR is owned by the Consolidation Coal Co. which controls about 90 per cent of the coal fields in the southeast. The CIO has been trying for years to organize the SFCR without success.

The CIO's drive is part of a larger campaign against the UMW, which is the only union that has been able to effectively organize the coal miners. The UMW is a powerful union with a membership of about 300,000, and it has been able to negotiate contracts that provide miners with higher wages and better benefits than any other union. The CIO's attacks on the UMW are part of its strategy to weaken the union and to make it easier for the UMW to be defeated.

The SFCR strike is a key test of the CIO's ability to organize the coal miners. If the CIO is successful in organizing the SFCR, it could open the door for the CIO to organize other coal fields in the region. However, if the CIO is unable to organize the SFCR, it will be a setback for the CIO's efforts to organize the coal miners.

The UMW is fighting the strike with all its might. The union has called in strikebreakers and has threatened to strike any miners who support the CIO. The UMW has also threatened to strike any companies that support the CIO.

The strike has sparked widespread support from miners and their families. The miners are fighting for better wages and benefits, and they are determined to defeat the CIO. The miners are also fighting for the freedom to organize their own union, and they are determined to protect their union from threats by the CIO.

The strike is a key test of the strength of the UMW and the CIO. The outcome of the strike will have a significant impact on the future of the coal mining industry in the southeast.

“Should We Buy a House?”

The two boys and two of the girls moved closer to their families as they gathered around the table. Their mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson, was there with a basket full of food.

Then she told us all about the people who had come in and out of their house over the years.

I don’t know how it happened, but we all agreed that it was the best day of our lives.

The coal operators are happy that we can get some help, but they don’t want to make any promises.

May 1 in Greece—Its Significance

By S. Gjogov (Special to The Militant)

The first May Day Festival since the 1944 liberation of Nazi-occupied Greece, attended by 250,000 workers, was held on May 1 in Athens. It was the 50th anniversary of the 1893 struggle of Greek workers. The May Day demonstration was followed by a night of street fighting between the Trotskyist youth groups and right-wing storm troopers. In Athens, at least 63 people were killed and more than 200 wounded.

The demonstration began at the Techninen University, where 100,000 students and workers were assembled. It proceeded down the main street of Athens to the central square, where the speeches were held.

The principal speakers were Victor Paleologos, the leader of the Panhellenic Union, and Nestor Makhos, the leader of the Greece National Council of Revolutionary Unions.

The demonstration was a great victory for the working class and a blow to the reactionaries. It also marked the beginning of the National Strike, which is expected to last until May 11.

India Famine Fostered By Imperialist Policies

By Eugene Volya

The American press has intensified its propaganda war against the Indian famine, which has been estimated to have killed 10,000,000 Indians.

The existence of food shortages in Indian cities and villages is indefensible if any imports were not made during the famine. The famine in India is not caused by any lack of food, but by the policies of the imperialist powers.

The famine in India is not caused by any lack of food, but by the policies of the imperialist powers.

The American media have been particularly active in their efforts to blame the Indian famine on the policies of the Indian government. This is a complete fabrication.

Capitalist Criminals Made The Famine

Official estimates of the number of people throughout the world threatened with death by famine are reaching astounding figures. A billion people are threatened by starvation conditions, and this is by no means the last word. There are many other millions in need of food. In fact, the world is in a precarious balance, with tens of millions of people on the verge of starvation, if not actually starving. Those who are already suffering from famine conditions are in dire need of assistance. The situation is desperate and requires immediate action by the international community to prevent a major humanitarian disaster.

WAR

CARLSTEN

Vast Percentage of Veterans
Here is a letter which should be of interest to wartime veterans. It is written by a veteran who has lived through the horrors of war and has experienced firsthand the hardships and sufferings of others. His message is one of hope, and he urges all veterans to come forward and support the cause of the working class. The letter is signed by a veteran who is deeply committed to the cause of peace and justice.

Dear Mr. CARLSTEN,

I am writing to you from France, where I served in the army during WWII. After losing so many good friends, I feel it is important to reach out and help my fellow veterans. Many of us have had a tough time since we returned home, and I think our government has not done enough to support us. It is time for us to come together and demand better treatment from our government.

I also want to thank you for your service and for your sacrifice. Your courage and dedication have made a difference in many lives. I hope this letter reaches you and your organization.

Sincerely,

GE Mouthpiece Relates Strikethrough Tactics

Now the giant General Electric Corporation that has been using its immense power and influence to crush the labor movement is starting to advertise for the military service. The first instance of this advertising was revealed by the Detroit Free Press on May 20th. The ad started on Jan. 1, 1946, with the headline "General Electric Advertises for Men and Women." The ad read: "General Electric and its subsidiaries are offering millions of dollars worth of stock and bonds to veteran workers who will return to work in the factory. GE says it will offer these workers higher wages and better benefits than they have ever had before."

The ad went on to state that GE was offering "fair wages" and "good working conditions" to veterans. The company also promised to "provide a future for the veteran worker." The ad was signed by "George CARLSTEN," the president of GE.

This is a clear attempt to corrupt veterans and trick them into going back to work in the factory. GE is using its power and influence to undermine the labor movement and to make it easier for veterans to be exploited. We must stand up to this advertising and fight for our rights.

Sincerely,

Action On Prices

In an effort to combat the price hikes which have been occurring in this country, a bill was introduced in Congress to provide for the establishment of a Consumer Price Council. The council would be responsible for monitoring and regulating the prices of essential goods and services. The council would be made up of representatives from the government, business, and labor. The council would have the power to investigate and report on any price increases that it deemed excessive.

The council would be charged with the responsibility of keeping a close watch on the prices of essential goods such as food, clothing, and housing. The council would also have the power to investigate any price increases that it deemed excessive and would have the power to take action to stop any price increases that it deemed excessive.

Lichfield G.I. Guard Imprisoned For Brutality Ordered By His Officers

The second Lichfield Army detail tried ended in Lichfield last week when an enlisted man, Sgt. James M. Jones, was found guilty of brutality against two sentries and sentenced to six months in the Lichfield jail.

Jones admitted brutal treatment of two British sentries at Lichfield but denied his actions on the grounds that he had been ordered by officers at the post. He maintained that he had been under the influence of drink at the time.

"There is no excuse for the treatment of these soldiers by the defendant," the judge said. "The sentence is six months in the disciplinary barracks at this post..."

The new incident is the latest in a series of cases in which Lichfield garrison authorities have been accused of brutality towards enlisted men. In addition to the two officers who were found guilty of brutality, a third was discharged from the army.

No explanation was given for the discharge of the third officer, who was not identified. However, it was reported that the discharge was due to "misconduct during the war." The officer was not accused of any specific offense.

Army Courts-Martial System Hit By Sweeping Indictment

The Army's courts-martial system is being swept by a major indictment that has been made public by the Justice Department.

The indictment charges that the Army has failed to provide fair trials for enlisted men, according to Justice Department officials.

"The Army has failed to provide fair trials for enlisted men," the indictment states. "It has been found that the Army has consistently failed to provide fair trials for enlisted men, and that the Army has consistently failed to provide fair trials for enlisted men."

In addition to the indictment, the Justice Department has ordered the Army to submit a report on its treatment of enlisted men. The report is due in 60 days.

The Army has denied the charges made in the indictment.

It has been reported that the indictment is based on a study of Army records and interviews with Army officers.

The indictment is the latest in a series of criticisms of the Army's treatment of enlisted men. The Army has been criticized in recent years for its treatment of enlisted men, including its failure to provide fair trials for enlisted men, its failure to provide adequate medical care for enlisted men, and its failure to provide adequate pay for enlisted men.
