Profound Crisis Inside Communist Party Revealed In Wave Of Expulsions For "Leftist" Opposition

A profound internal crisis is convulsing the American Communist Party (ACP), as its leadership is now under attack from within. The recent published expulsions of some prominent leaders, close allies of Mao Zedong, reveal an intensification of a struggle for the soul of the party.

Members are being summarily expelled by the same cadre who had previously defended them. Virtually all expulsions are on the grounds of "anti-Maoist" or "leftist" activities, a move that many see as a betrayal of earlier policy.

The conflict within the CP is revealing itself in a number of cities where known members of the CP are being expelled, sometimes violently. This is fueling the fear of further repression.

The crisis, which many see as the immediate trigger of the current upheaval, also reflects the broader struggles within China and the wider international Commu

AFL Leaders Double-Cross Studio Strikers

By Al Lyon

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (BNA) — A major new media victory was scored by the California State AFL-CIO in its month-long battle to prevent a strike by 2,000 writers, producers and directors at 20th Century-Fox Studio. The victory, achieved by a coalition of AFL and Teamsters, sealed the fate of the powerful RKO studio, which has long been a symbol of the labor movement.

The AFL-CIO had threatened to strike the studio in protest against its refusal to recognize the Screen Writers Guild (SWG), which represents writers on major film projects. The AFL-CIO, led by President John L. Lewis, had placed a high priority on winning the support of the American workers and had vowed to fight for their rights.

The strike was a major test of the strength of the AFL-CIO and its ability to mobilize support for its demands. The union had won significant concessions from the studio, including a pay raise for the writers and directors and a commitment to recognize the SWG.

However, the AFL-CIO had also been criticized for its handling of the strike, which some felt was too lenient. The union had not been willing to escalate the conflict, and its leaders had been reluctant to impose a strike on the workers.

The AFL-CIO's decision to strike was a brave one, and it paid off. The union won a major victory, and the striking workers were able to achieve many of their demands. This is a major turning point for the AFL-CIO, and it will be watched closely by other labor organizations.

Mothers’ Day Protest

How I Answered the House-Witch Hunt Committee

By Elisea Gordon

PITTSBURGH — Elisea Gordon was one of the last women to stand before the House Un-American Activities Committee. Her case was significant because it marked a turning point in the witch-hunt against Communists.

Gordon was accused of being a Communist sympathizer and was ordered to appear before the committee. She refused to testify and was found guilty of contempt of Congress.

The case was important because it showed the lengths to which McCarthy would go to silence his critics. Gordon's defense lawyer, Robert Jay, argued that his client was a victim of the witch-hunt and that she had done nothing wrong.

The case was also significant because it demonstrated the power of the Committee to intimidate and silence its critics. The committee's tactics included threats of imprisonment and the use of witnesses to try to impugn the integrity of its critics.

The Gordon case was a turning point in the witch-hunt, and it marked the beginning of the end for McCarthy and his committee. The case is remembered as a symbol of the dangers of McCarthyism and the need for vigilance against such practices.
How Russian Workers Paved The Way To A Better World

The first official debate ever held in Greece between the Communist International Party (KKE) and the Trotskyist or International Communist Party (PCI) took place yesterday. The Trotskyists and Stalinists engaged in a sharp debate over the recent domestic situation in Greece and the future of the revolutionary class struggle.

The Trotskyists, however, pointed out that the PCI had not put forward any serious proposals to deal with the current crisis, while the Trotskyists had proposed a number of concrete measures that could be implemented immediately.

The debate was marked by a high level of intellectual engagement and was attended by a large audience.

What Trotskyists Defend Today In The Soviet Union

By Leon Trotsky

In the Soviet Union, the internationalist policies of the Soviet government stand in sharp contrast to the policies of the Stalinists. The Soviet government is working to promote the interests of the working class, while the Stalinists are trying to undermine these interests.

The Stalinists have tried to divide the working class by spreading rumors and misinformation. They have also tried to undermine the internationalist policies of the Soviet government by accusing it of being too soft on the fascists.

The Trotskyists are working to educate the working class about the need for international solidarity and the importance of defending the interests of the working class around the world.

The road ahead is not easy, but the Trotskyists are determined to continue their struggle for the internationalist policies of the Soviet government.

As Diplomats’ Wives See The World
By Ruth Benson

The era of the diplomat’s wife has ended. No longer are these women expected to put up with the harsh environment of diplomatic service. In fact, they are now more likely to be better off than their husbands.

The diplomat’s wife is no longer a symbol of the status quo. She is now a symbol of change. The women are no longer expected to suffer in silence. They are now active in the political process, and their voices are being heard.
