Demand Russian Armied Forces Be Withdrawn

By Fred Halstead

OCT. 21. The political revolution of the East European working class against the Kremlin-sponsored bureaucracy took several forms in Poland and Russia last week. The Russian Revolution of 1917 had a clear-cut result. The forces of the Russian working class and peasantry have been turned back to the starting point of the year 1916. In Poland and Hungary, workers and students in the two countries are facing the same situation, forced to fight against the same forces of the Kremlin that have been fighting the Polish workers for decades.

Bring U.S. Troops Home from Europe

Says Farrell Dobbs

OCT. 21. For the first time in the history of Europe, the workers of all countries are fighting in the streets of Berlin, Paris, and London against the war. The workers of the United States have been fighting against the war for years. The workers of the United States are fighting for the right to live, to work, and to have a chance to build a better world for the future generations. The workers of the United States are fighting for the right to determine their own destiny. The workers of the United States are fighting for the right to decide whether they will live in a world of peace or a world of war.

World Wide-Class Action: The Key to Peace, Freedom

A Vote That Won't Be Wasted

Dobbs-Weiss Program Offers Socialist Answer to H-Bomb

As we go to the polls this year, revolutionary changes are taking place throughout the world. The struggle against the war is the key to peace and freedom. The struggle against the war is the key to the future of the workers of the world. The struggle against the war is the key to the future of the human race.

Hallinan and McAvoy Urge Formation Of Independent Committee for Dobbs

NEW YORK, Oct. 21—In a letter to the National Guardian, we urge liberal and progressive people to vote for peace, civil rights, and the end of the war. We urge all people to vote for the candidates of the Independent Committee for Dobbs, which is the only party that is offering a clear and consistent program of peace, civil rights, and the end of the war.

Vincent Hallinan

Progressive Party candidate for President in 1956, Hallinan has been a leader in the fight for peace and civil rights. He was a member of the Progressive Party's National Committee in 1956 and 1958. He is a strong supporter of anti-war and anti-war on Black Freedom candidates.

Clifford T. MaVoy

A long-time labor leader, MaVoy has been a strong supporter of the Civil Rights Movement and the anti-war movement. He is a member of the National Committee of the Independent Party for President in 1956.

Hallinan-McAvoy Appeal

In letters to the National Guardian, we urge liberals and progressives who wish to vote for peace, civil rights, and the end of the war to vote for the candidates of the Independent Committee for Dobbs. We urge all people to vote for the candidates of this party, which offers a clear and consistent program of peace, civil rights, and the end of the war.

Vincent Hallinan

Progressive Party candidate for President in 1956, Hallinan has been a leader in the fight for peace and civil rights. He was a member of the Progressive Party's National Committee in 1956 and 1958. He is a strong supporter of anti-war and anti-war on Black Freedom candidates.

Clifford T. MaVoy

A long-time labor leader, MaVoy has been a strong supporter of the Civil Rights Movement and the anti-war movement. He is a member of the National Committee of the Independent Party for President in 1956.

Labor Party Needed

For the American people to join in the struggle for world peace, labor solidarity, and social justice, we need a new political party that is truly democratic and workers' oriented. Such a party must be based on the principles of the labor movement and must be dedicated to the cause of world peace and social justice.

For President and Vice-President

For President: Vincent Hallinan

For Vice-President: Clifford T. MaVoy
"Congratulations and More Power to You!"

Samples of Letters From 1,500 Replies To SW Broadcasts

The Militant

Page 3

Monday, October 29, 1956

A Great Gain for Socialism

An Editorial

On this page we publish more letters responding to the two recent appearances of the Socialist Workers Party, Denver and Milwaukee. The two reports ran over 1,500 letters.

The SW has been fighting to provide the American people with a socialist perspective of the major issues of the day. We believe that the American people have a choice, an opportunity to envision a world of peace, freedom, equality and justice.

A New Dimension

The SW has been working hard to provide the American people with a socialist perspective of the major issues of the day. We believe that the American people have a choice, an opportunity to envision a world of peace, freedom, equality and justice.

A Special Offer!

Do you want to see a socialist perspective of the major issues of the day? Are you interested in the opportunity to envision a world of peace, freedom, equality and justice? We have a special offer for you.

A Clear and Forceful Argument

Don't miss this opportunity. Join the socialist movement today and make a difference in the world we live in.

"A Great Gain for Socialism"

"Clear and Forceful Argument"

"A Special Offer!

"Congratulations and More Power to You!"

"Samples of Letters From 1,500 Replies To SW Broadcasts"

"A Great Gain for Socialism"

"A Special Offer!"
Science Plus Socialism -- The Formula to Eliminate Poverty

By Lynn Marcus

Both big business parties have flogged their latest slogans as promises of "elevating the living standard of the American people." But what they mean are terms of adjustment and accommodation to the existing state of affairs. They have nothing to say of the basic contradiction between the existence of the ruling class and the poverty of the people. The Workers Party is the expression of a new class consciousness, with the working people as its vanguard. It is committed to the eradication of poverty and the elimination of exploitation.

1. First Stage of the Polish Political Revolution

By Murray Weisb

A workers' revolution is taking place in Poland. The movement is spreading rapidly, and workers' and farmers' organizations are multiplying. This is a struggle for the very survival of the Polish working class. It is essential to grasp the basic facts of the situation.

The political situation in Poland is the result of a long-term process. The government has been unable to meet the demands of the working class for higher wages, better conditions, and more democracy. The workers' movement has grown stronger as a result of the government's failure to address these issues.

The economic situation in Poland is also deteriorating. The government's policies have led to widespread unemployment and poverty. The workers are forced to work longer hours for lower wages, while the cost of living continues to rise.

The workers' movement has been organized through various trade unions and political parties. The most significant of these is the Polish United Workers' Party (PUWP), which has been the leading force in the workers' movement for many years. The PUWP has a strong presence in industry, agriculture, and the public sector.

The workers' movement in Poland is not just a struggle for better wages and working conditions. It is a struggle for democracy and national independence. The workers want to be able to determine their own future without interference from foreign powers.

In conclusion, the workers' revolution in Poland is a major event that has the potential to lead to a more democratic and prosperous society. It is up to all of us to support the workers' movement and to work towards a better future for all people.

2. Titosim and Poland's Struggle

What amounts for these stock analysts is the manipulation on the part of the government or of individuals, and such terms as "prices" and "interest rates" are meaningless. The same is true of the so-called "struggle" between capital and labor. The struggle is not over the control of the economy, but over the control of the workers. The struggle is not between workers and capitalists, but between the working class and the bourgeoisie.

The sunder against the dual authority of the state, the state and the party, is not a "struggle for national independence, but a struggle for national control." The struggle for national control is the struggle for the economic and political power of the workers.

The workers' movement is not a "struggle for independence," but a struggle for control. The workers' movement is not a "struggle for freedom," but a struggle for power.

The workers' movement is a struggle for the control of the economy, for the control of the means of production, for the control of the state. The workers' movement is a struggle for the control of the workers, for the control of the people.

The workers' movement is a struggle for freedom, for independence, for democracy. The workers' movement is a struggle for the control of the workers, for the control of the people.

3. Science Plus Socialism -- The Formula to Eliminate Poverty

By Lynn Marcus

Both big business parties have flogged their latest slogans as promises of "elevating the living standard of the American people." But what they mean are terms of adjustment and accommodation to the existing state of affairs. They have nothing to say of the basic contradiction between the existence of the ruling class and the poverty of the people. The Workers Party is the expression of a new class consciousness, with the working people as its vanguard. It is committed to the eradication of poverty and the elimination of exploitation.

View of building housing. The workers' movement is one of the development of the working class struggle for the elimination of poverty. The workers' movement is the expression of the workers' struggle for the elimination of poverty.

The workers' movement is a struggle for the control of the economy, for the control of the means of production, for the control of the state. The workers' movement is a struggle for the control of the workers, for the control of the people.

The workers' movement is a struggle for freedom, for independence, for democracy. The workers' movement is a struggle for the control of the workers, for the control of the people.

4. Science Only for War

By Lynn Marcus

Science only for war? The workers' movement is a struggle for the control of the economy, for the control of the means of production, for the control of the state. The workers' movement is a struggle for the control of the workers, for the control of the people.

The workers' movement is a struggle for freedom, for independence, for democracy. The workers' movement is a struggle for the control of the workers, for the control of the people.

The workers' movement is a struggle for the control of the economy, for the control of the means of production, for the control of the state. The workers' movement is a struggle for the control of the workers, for the control of the people.

The workers' movement is a struggle for freedom, for independence, for democracy. The workers' movement is a struggle for the control of the workers, for the control of the people.

5. Workers Fight Kremlin

By Lynn Marcus

The workers' movement is a struggle for the control of the economy, for the control of the means of production, for the control of the state. The workers' movement is a struggle for the control of the workers, for the control of the people.

The workers' movement is a struggle for freedom, for independence, for democracy. The workers' movement is a struggle for the control of the workers, for the control of the people.

The workers' movement is a struggle for the control of the economy, for the control of the means of production, for the control of the state. The workers' movement is a struggle for the control of the workers, for the control of the people.

The workers' movement is a struggle for freedom, for independence, for democracy. The workers' movement is a struggle for the control of the workers, for the control of the people.
21 Negro Bus-Boycott Heads Victimized in Florida Trial

By Henry G. Thomas

WASHINGTON - Trial of 21 Negro bus boycotters of Florida ended yesterday with the conviction of 17 Negroes for violating Florida's 1956 anti-boycott law. A judgment for $1.00 was assessed against each of the 17 who were found guilty. They will face sentences of 30 to 60 days in FloridaPenitentiary at Tallahassee. The conviction is the first in the state's history under the anti-boycott law, and it was preceded by a jury trial in which 4 of the defendants were acquitted. The 17 who were convicted were accused of leading the Negro boycott against the Miami bus system in 1956. The boycott was called to protest the refusal of the Miami Transit Authority to hire Negroes as bus drivers. The boycott lasted from February 16, 1956, to April 20, 1956, and was supported by thousands of Negroes in Miami and throughout Florida. The boycott was widely publicized and received national attention. The boycotters were charged with violating Florida's anti-boycott law which prohibits any person from boycotting any business establishment or any person from inducing others to boycott any business establishment. The conviction of the 17 Negroes is a victory for the anti-boycott law, and it is a victory for the principle of non-violence and civil rights. The case will be appealed, and the 17 will continue to fight for their freedom. The case is an important precedent in the struggle for civil rights in the United States. The 17 Negroes were found guilty of violating Florida's anti-boycott law, and they will face sentences of 30 to 60 days in FloridaPenitentiary at Tallahassee. The conviction is the first in the state's history under the anti-boycott law, and it was preceded by a jury trial in which 4 of the defendants were acquitted. The 17 who were convicted were accused of leading the Negro boycott against the Miami bus system in 1956. The boycott was called to protest the refusal of the Miami Transit Authority to hire Negroes as bus drivers. The boycott lasted from February 16, 1956, to April 20, 1956, and was supported by thousands of Negroes in Miami and throughout Florida. The boycott was widely publicized and received national attention. The boycotters were charged with violating Florida's anti-boycott law which prohibits any person from boycotting any business establishment or any person from inducing others to boycott any business establishment. The conviction of the 17 Negroes is a victory for the anti-boycott law, and it is a victory for the principle of non-violence and civil rights. The case will be appealed, and the 17 will continue to fight for their freedom. The case is an important precedent in the struggle for civil rights in the United States. The 17 Negroes were found guilty of violating Florida's anti-boycott law, and they will face sentences of 30 to 60 days in FloridaPenitentiary at Tallahassee. The conviction is the first in the state's history under the anti-boycott law, and it was preceded by a jury trial in which 4 of the defendants were acquitted. The 17 who were convicted were accused of leading the Negro boycott against the Miami bus system in 1956. The boycott was called to protest the refusal of the Miami Transit Authority to hire Negroes as bus drivers. The boycott lasted from February 16, 1956, to April 20, 1956, and was supported by thousands of Negroes in Miami and throughout Florida. The boycott was widely publicized and received national attention. The boycotters were charged with violating Florida's anti-boycott law which prohibits any person from boycotting any business establishment or any person from inducing others to boycott any business establishment. The conviction of the 17 Negroes is a victory for the anti-boycott law, and it is a victory for the principle of non-violence and civil rights. The case will be appealed, and the 17 will continue to fight for their freedom. The case is an important precedent in the struggle for civil rights in the United States. The 17 Negroes were found guilty of violating Florida's anti-boycott law, and they will face sentences of 30 to 60 days in FloridaPenitentiary at Tallahassee. The conviction is the first in the state's history under the anti-boycott law, and it was preceded by a jury trial in which 4 of the defendants were acquitted. The 17 who were convicted were accused of leading the Negro boycott against the Miami bus system in 1956. The boycott was called to protest the refusal of the Miami Transit Authority to hire Negroes as bus drivers. The boycott lasted from February 16, 1956, to April 20, 1956, and was supported by thousands of Negroes in Miami and throughout Florida. The boycott was widely publicized and received national attention. The boycotters were charged with violating Florida's anti-boycott law which prohibits any person from boycotting any business establishment or any person from inducing others to boycott any business establishment. The conviction of the 17 Negroes is a victory for the anti-boycott law, and it is a victory for the principle of non-violence and civil rights. The case will be appealed, and the 17 will continue to fight for their freedom. The case is an important precedent in the struggle for civil rights in the United States.