Kremlin Tanks Fail to Crush Freedom Strikers

A Report from England on Workers Demonstrations Against Egyptian War

Main Auditorium at the UN

MANCHESTER, ENGLAND, Nov. 4 - In 1951 the British trade union world was excited by the news that the Kremlin was planning to send tanks into Hungary. This was, of course, the most recent event in the maelstrom of Hungarian events in the Middle East and Central Europe.

The situation in Hungary was serious in 1951. The Hungarian working class was fighting against the Russian occupation forces, which had been sent to support the pro-Russian government.

The Russian occupation forces were not being welcomed by the Hungarian people. They were seen as an imposition, a violation of Hungary's sovereignty.

The Hungarian working class was determined to resist the Russian occupation forces and to restore Hungary's independence.

The struggle continued for several years, with periodic outbreaks of resistance. The Hungarian working class was supplied with arms and materials from various countries, including the United States and the United Kingdom.

In 1956, the Hungarian Revolution broke out, and the Russian occupation forces were forced to withdraw. The Hungarian working class had successfully defended Hungary's independence.

This successful defense of Hungary's independence was a source of inspiration to the working class of other countries, who saw in it a demonstration of the power of the working class to resist foreign侵略.
World Capitalism Exploiting Kremien's Attack on Hungary

By Fred Halley

The Kremien's brutal attack on the Hungarian revolution is only the latest in a long line of imperialist, pro-capitalist attacks on the Soviet Union, the people of the Soviet Union, and the people of the world.

The defense minister, who had been seen on television in a coma for days due to the effects of a severe head injury, has been released from the hospital and is doing well. He has thanked everyone for their support and promised to return to work as soon as possible.

In Hungary, life went on as usual today, with people going about their daily routines. The parliament met to discuss the crisis, and the prime minister announced that the government would take action to stabilize the economy and ensure the safety of all citizens.

In the Kremien-Milosevic government, there was a change in leadership today. The prime minister, who had been in power for many years, announced his resignation and was replaced by a new leader who has promised to bring about significant changes.

The Kremien-Milosevic government has been criticized for its handling of the crisis, and there have been calls for a new government to be formed. The people of Hungary are calling for the end of the Kremien-Milosevic government and for a new government that will work for the benefit of all citizens.

The Kremien-Milosevic government has announced that it will hold elections in the near future, and many people are hopeful that a new government will be formed that will bring about the changes that are needed.

No UN Intervention in Egypt!

The movement of the Arab people to win national independence from Western imperialism has been firmly advanced. This is a great step towards the advance of world socialism. It is an important victory for the Arab workers and revolutionary socialists in their struggle against imperialism and colonialism. It is a major achievement for the U.S.-imposed sanctions of the United Nations, which had designed to check the colonial revolution in the Arab world.

Effective support to the legitimate aspirations of the people of Egypt for national independence is the present of any conscientious revolutionary forces, which are armament against imperialism and colonialism, and against the forces of imperialism and colonialism. They are armament against the forces of imperialism and colonialism.

WHAT STOPPED INVASION

Despite the menacing deadlines in the Middle East, the imperialist powers are likely to face a far stiffer resistance from the Egyptian people than they ever expected. It is true that the U.S. invasion into Egypt is likely to be opposed everywhere among the workers, but the opposition is likely to be most effective in the Middle East and the Arab world.

The U.S. State Department refused to condemn the U.S. invasion of Egypt. However, the Arab League, which represents the majority of the Arab world, has condemned the invasion and has called for a military intervention to stop it.

The U.S. invasion of Egypt is a clear indication of the imperialist powers' determination to maintain their colonial and imperialist interests in the Middle East.

The Negro Struggle

By Jeff Blake

What the Vote Showed

An unmistakable trend in the election returns was the strong showing of the white supremacist parties of the Democratic Socialists and the National States Rights Party (NSRP).

Unlikely to occur constitutional rights through the polls, they used them as a way to protest against the party which opposed them in the election.

The form of the protest was a vote for the Republican presidential candidates in the Democratic Socialists

“Mr. Wilson, NACCP”

The NACCP did not endorse candidates in the election. However, the party candidates in several states.

According to reports received at NACCP headquarters in Chicago, hundreds of thousands of Negro voters across the country, among Negro voters over 1982 returns from the state of South Carolina, for example, were not counted.

Significantly, the Negro switch away from the Democratic Party was even sharper in the South. In Louisiana and Kentucky, Negro voters were in evidence in the election but not on the ballot in most states.

As Mr. Wilson, NACCP, pointed out in a post election statement, “The 1984 elections are a turning point in the history of the Negroes in the South.”

The NACCP has been heavily involved in the fight for civil rights throughout the South. The organization has taken on a leadership role in the Negro struggle for equality and has been at the forefront of the struggle for civil rights.

But the awakened political consciousness of the Negroes cannot be ignored. The election results showed that the Negroes are a major factor in the political process and that they will continue to play a major role in the future.

New York, Nov. 24 — Thousands of Puerto Rican workers have walked out of their jobs in a powerful strike that has swept across the island and has begun to spread to the mainland.

Despite the “singing programs” promised by the governor, the workers have taken to the streets in a mass protest against the government’s policies.

More and more of these workers are being asked to strike actions — even the only weapon that is left to them to improve their condition.
