Negrin Government Seeks Deal For Surrender To The Fascists

By Leon Trotsky

The Tragedy of Spain

One of the most tragic pages of modern history is the tragedy of Spain. On that page, the frail, sickly and hungry Spain, who is there to win a statesman and a leader, a master of eloquence, the unlikely sagacity of the Spanish armed forces, property ready to divide in broad defile, a country that has been reduced to a scrap heap by the barbarous laws of the Fascist state. Franco needed help from the outside, to make his position more secure. And to achieve his chief ambition was not only to bolshevise, but also to bolshevise the main continental nodal block of the Fascist world. The fall of the great continental nodal bloc, which was the only one that could block the route of the Fascist forces, to the Fascist principle, was the Fascist world's first objective. The Fascist world's first objective was the ultimate achievement of the Fascist Prin-pin in Spain. The Fascist world's first objective was for the Fascist world's first objective of the Fascist principle to be itself bolshevised and bolshevised in turn.

SPIRIT OF MASSES DULED

As a result, we have witnessed during the debate among the Fascist leaders, the Fascist

ABANDONS SPAIN TO MERCEY OF FASCIST HORDS

The fascists threatened to follow up their gains by a concerted attack on the town of Torrelavega, and then by seizing the Workers’ Front headquarters and the national bank. In response, the Workers’ Front leadership in Torrelavega immediately went into action. They seized the national bank and kept it open until the last known fascists left. As a result, the fascists were prevented from obtaining funds for their operations.

Students Prepare in Mogor for a New Year of Struggle

On the eve of the New Year, students in Mogor, Spain, prepared for a year of intense struggle. The CNT, which had organized the student movement, called for a mass strike and civil disobedience on New Year’s Day. The CNT also called for the requisition of weapons from the national army and the formation of Popular Committees to defend the republic.

The fascists responded with brutal repression, including the arrest and torture of student leaders. Despite this, the student movement continued to grow, and by the end of the year, the CNT had organized a national strike and the formation of Popular Committees in many cities.

Cry Raging Mexican Fascists

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 26—A group of Mexican fascists have called for a new round of bloodshed in Mexico. They were inspired by the recent death of Trotsky, a Russian revolutionary who was assassinated by a group of fascists in Spain.

The fascists called for a new round of violence in Mexico, saying that Trotsky was a traitor to the revolution and that he should be avenged. They also called for the formation of a new fascist party in Mexico, which they claimed would be dedicated to the defense of the revolution.

The fascists’ call for violence was met with outrage and condemnation from the international communist movement. The Comintern, the political center of the international communist movement, called for the immediate suppression of fascist violence in Mexico and the formation of a new government that would be dedicated to the defense of the revolution.
The POST TAKES A STEP

The N.Y. Post of February 2 published a lengthy editorial, "Now We Must Decide," which contains an alarming revelation about a scheme to "throw" the presidential election to avoid a "race," and a call for a "national emergency" to end the war.

The article begins with the following statement: "The N.Y. Post will not publish this news article as it is a national emergency."

The editorial then goes on to argue that the United States is "in a national emergency," and that the presidential election must be "thrown" to avoid a "race." The editorial states that "we must decide" whether to continue the war or to end it.

The editorial concludes with the following statement: "This is the time to act. We must end the war, and we must do it now."

The article is signed by James B. Burns, a well-known political commentator. The editorial was published on February 2, 1969.

In the face of this alarming situation, it is clear that the N.Y. Post is calling for immediate action to end the war and to prevent a "race." The editorial is a call to action for all Americans to stand together and work towards a peaceful resolution to this crisis.

The N.Y. Post is urging readers to listen to the editorial and to take action to end the war and to prevent a "race." The editorial is a powerful call to action that must be heeded by all Americans.
