WHAT SAILORS ARE THINKING ABOUT THE WAR

By G. LORID

NEED OF LABOR PARTY SEEN IN OHIO

Youngstown, Ohio—For a striking illustration of the growing popularity of the socialist Labor Party, this issue presents a clear picture.

The Republican administration has already come to acknowledge the severity of all sections of the labor movement, not only because of Governor Bricker's refusal to help the starving workers of Cleveland and other cities last winter but also because the legislative record of his administration has been one of continuous efforts to circumscribe previous legislation which had been far too favorable to the workers.

The Socialist Party has made a primary last month selected Martin Davis as candidate for Governor. His name is echoed in the blood of the "dead workers" shut down by his predecessors in the "Little Steel" strike of 1937, and no labor party has ever had such a history of labor fighting back against the" Little Steel." Now the 20 years of experience of the Socialist Party has made the workers more conscious of the necessity of having a fellow worker as their representative.

We urge all workers to support the Socialist Party ticket, to draw a clear line of distinction between the candidates of the Republican and Democratic parties, to make the choice of the socialist as their representative in the state legislature and the presidential election, and to build up a national party of the working class.

We have no more to say, the only thing left to do is to work and fight for the socialist party in every campaign, every strike and every struggle until we have won the socialist revolution and the abolition of all剥削制度.

THE NEW DEAL

The New Deal was a series of policies and programs introduced by President Franklin D. Roosevelt in the United States in the 1930s. These policies were designed to address the Great Depression and to provide relief, recovery, and reconstruction.

The New Deal was a key turning point in American history, leading to significant changes in the way the government operates and in the role of government in society.
