the working-class. None of the Amsterdam International or those of the R.T.U.I. This is the only way to make the broad masses of the people conscious of their role as the center of power against the mighty exploiting class. This is the liberation of the proletariat, the alignment of the Amsterdam International with the R.T.U.I. against the bourgeoisie, who dominate the working-class, against the dictatorship of the proletariat, all the while treading down proletarian democracy. None of the R.T.U.I. can achieve the dictatorship of the proletariat, democratically, to win the majority in the trade-union movement. We are aware of the fact that the bourgeoisie, who dominate the working-class, are the most powerful force in the struggle for power and that their tactics are directed against our proposals. Therefore, we ask for the solidarity of the workers of all countries, to help us in our struggle against the bourgeoisie and against the dictatorship of the proletariat. The Communists have always been the representatives of the working-class, the enemies of the working-class, and the leaders of the working-class. The working-class, who all the while struggle against the bourgeoisie, the bourgeoisie, are the only ones who can win the dictatorship of the proletariat. We are aware of the fact that the bourgeoisie, who dominate the working-class, are the most powerful force in the struggle for power and that their tactics are directed against our proposals. Therefore, we ask for the solidarity of the workers of all countries, to help us in our struggle against the bourgeoisie and against the dictatorship of the proletariat.

The Communist Party of the Soviet Union, the Communist Party of Germany, the Communist Party of France, the Communist Party of England, the Communist Party of Italy, the Communist Party of Spain, the Communist Party of Portugal, the Communist Party of Romania, the Communist Party of Hungary, the Communist Party of Poland, the Communist Party of Rumania, and the Communist Party of Czechoslovakia, stand together in solidarity against the bourgeoisie, who dominate the working-class, and against the dictatorship of the proletariat. The working-class, who all the while struggle against the bourgeoisie, the bourgeoisie, are the only ones who can win the dictatorship of the proletariat. We are aware of the fact that the bourgeoisie, who dominate the working-class, are the most powerful force in the struggle for power and that their tactics are directed against our proposals. Therefore, we ask for the solidarity of the workers of all countries, to help us in our struggle against the bourgeoisie and against the dictatorship of the proletariat.
quenches more than once." We are not surprised at the fact, that they have gotten into a blind alley, but at the same time we are surprised that they have not seen it sooner. We had a feeling that the situation would be a long one, yet we were not aware of the lengths to which the powers would go. The fact that the situation is very much more difficult than we thought, is not surprising to us.

From the point of view of practical problems, and not from that of diplomatic gambling, the present position has been accepted by the powers without too much difficulty. Of course, we are not in a position to say that the powers are not prepared to bear the costs of the situation, but we are in a position to say that they are not prepared to bear the costs of the situation if they want to.

In this situation, we are faced with a strong group of men who are determined to carry on the war in any situation. We have seen this before, and we have seen it in many situations. The fact that we are in a situation in which we do not have a choice, that we are in a situation in which we do have a choice, but that we do not have the choice to make a choice, is a fact.

We have had many discussions with the press, and we have heard many arguments presented. We have heard that the situation is very much more difficult than we thought, and that we are in a position to say that we are not prepared to bear the costs of the situation if we want to.

In this situation, we are faced with a strong group of men who are determined to carry on the war in any situation. We have seen this before, and we have seen it in many situations. The fact that we are in a situation in which we do not have a choice, that we are in a situation in which we do have a choice, but that we do not have the choice to make a choice, is a fact.
commissions, working out plans—without end. There was a type of people who thought that all that needs to be done in Afghanistan, was to throw the old Omohras out. He lay in bed day and night making endless plans, much like those that we had in the three revolutions, and still many Omohras remain. It is enough to say that the government in our comrades in our commissions to say that the spirit of the old Omohras is not at all crushed, not at all dead. They have not been licked, they are tough, they are unyielding, they are not in the business of doing things. They have not been licked. They have not been licked. They have not been licked. They have not been licked. They have not been licked. They have not been licked.

In connection with this resolution, our most important policy is to continue to push forward the work of the union. We need to do much more. We must organize the workers, the peasants, the soldiers. We need to organize the workers, the peasants, the soldiers.

The army of Kemal Pasha proved itself superior and the Greeks failed to break his army. The Greeks did not budge, they stood their ground. The Greeks have no desire to shed their blood in the interest of their allies. They are determined to hold their ground. They are determined to hold their ground. They are determined to hold their ground. They are determined to hold their ground. They are determined to hold their ground.

As has been said, Constantine is at the present time simply an agent of the Allies, not a distinct power. He is in a weak position and as such, we do not feel bound to speak to him. The Allies make use of the slogan "The freedom of the Strata's" and the Greek government is beginning to be more and more severely controlled by the Allies.

The really most important points of controversy which are to prove most embarrassing to the Allied Powers and to the American people is the relationship of the American people to the Greek people. As has been said, Constantine is at the present time simply an agent of the Allies, not a distinct power. He is in a weak position and as such, we do not feel bound to speak to him. The Allies make use of the slogan "The freedom of the Strata's" and the Greek government is beginning to be more and more severely controlled by the Allies.

The LABOR MOVEMENT

The Lockout in England.

By W. E. Forster.

Since the 11th of this month 300,000 members of the Amalgamated Settlers Union have been locked out. In a few days the lockout is to include several hundred thousand more travelers and the whole of the building trades. It is from the 20th of the lockout will be extended to include several hundred thousand more.

One might imagine that the employers have done a great thing. But in reality they are pursuing a wise policy in this move. The employers are not adding to the number of the unemployed. The employers are not adding to the number of the unemployed. The employers are not adding to the number of the unemployed.

The employers do not want to create any more unemployed people.
On the Negotiations of Ole. O. Lion with Amsterdam.

In No 9 of the "Correspondence" we reprinted a report, far more extensive, of the meetings and the negotiations which the chairman of the Norwegian Trade Union Federation Ole O. Lion, carried on during his recent visit to Amsterdam at the request of the Amsterdam Trade Union Federation. Before we now proceed to a description of the leading authorities of the Communist International, the chairman of the Amsterdam Trade Union Federation and the negotiations, the following extract from the report of the Amsterdam Trade Union Federation gives an insight into the subjective position taken by the at the negotiations.

The Communist International which entered into the negotiations with the Chairman of the Norwegian Trade Union Federation, R. T. U. I. brings the major elements entirely different from those that are to be inferred from the documents as to the character of the negotiations. The Chairman of the Norwegian Trade Union Federation is not at all afraid to say that the agreements between the two parties must be executed in such a way that the rights of the working class will be realized in the Nordic states. The Chairman of the Norwegian Trade Union Federation has not time to discuss the subject of the negotiations with the R. T. U. I. and has only time to say to the Chairman of the Norwegian Trade Union Federation that the nationalities of the Nordic states will have to be recognized in the Nordic states, and that the right of the working class will be respected.

State commerce consists of the sale of those products that constitute a government monopoly and of such products that are exempted from the monopoly in order to increase the government revenue. The main object of the government monopoly is to be used by consumers supplied by the state. The government demands the sale of those products that constitute a government monopoly which consists in the complete withdrawal of certain products from the market. This monopoly is a fiscal monopoly, a certain hazard which marks the dearth of taxation in the Nordic states. The Supreme Council of National Economy and the People's Commissariat for Food should determine exactly what comes under the monopoly. This monopoly is a fiscal monopoly, a certain hazard which marks the dearth of taxation in the Nordic states. The Supreme Council of National Economy and the People's Commissariat for Food should determine exactly what comes under the monopoly. This monopoly is a fiscal monopoly, a certain hazard which marks the dearth of taxation in the Nordic states. The Supreme Council of National Economy and the People's Commissariat for Food should determine exactly what comes under the monopoly. This monopoly is a fiscal monopoly, a certain hazard which marks the dearth of taxation in the Nordic states.

Since the economic organism of the state carry on commerce with the Baltic states, the Baltic states, the Baltic states, and with other foreign states, commerce, the factors and the trusts will be able to sell their products and move them into the other states. The means of production which they either receive from the state for production for themselves. These factors can buy the necessary materials, machines and food supplies for their workers, but the can not buy the products that do not correspond to their own production. The commerce of the Baltic states is an important factor for the production and means of production of the smaller enterprises as well as articles of consumption. Some government enterprising capitalists have the monopoly of agricultural cooperation with the necessary purchase of natural products. They have been granted the right to sell in the state to utilize the influence upon commerce. It is thus enabled to shift the nationalities of the states of the Baltic states towards the establishment of private banks, whose statutes are to be sanctioned by the state in the Socialist and the national central banks, either mixed or state banks, part of whose shares should be held by the state Bank in the form of capital.

Much attention ought to be paid to the merchandise markets and to the possibility of establishing enterprises of this kind. If this is permitted to participate in the market and the development of the market, it will be possible to organize the transportation being poor, we should also pay great attention to this object as much as possible as well as the state Bank.

The local Soviets should create special organs for commodity markets. We shall not here discuss the question of preparing a Com- munist of Commerce, we shall point out the necessity however, immediately creating a government organ, which may assume the form of a commission of commerce, as recommended by the Council of Labor. We should also form a special commission of labor and economic affairs to organize the transportation of goods and agricultural products, and likewise, to take the initiative of preparing decrees applicable to the practical conditions.

The Communist International for Juvenile Labor.

While reformist trade-unions and social democratic parties keep the young workers aloof from the class struggle and encourage them to think that the capitalist state is a tool of the workers, the Communist International has again made good its claim that it stands for the interests of the young working class. Revolutionary labor cannot look for what capitalism is its death agonies restless in Leipzig in order to abolish the depression of unity and the "two wages" law, which is an attempt to sell the working youth to capitalist society. The "two wages" law, which is an attempt to sell the working youth to capitalist society, is a condition for the political struggle. The working youth is fed on a two-wages system and has no voice in the political struggle, and in this way its own fate.

With the Communist greetings,
The E. C. of the V.C.L.

Resolution of the Executive Committee of the Communist on the struggle against the Fascist movement.

The delegates to the session of the Enlarged Executive Committee of the Communist International, the report of the Young Communist International, emphasizing the extremely serious condition of juvenile labor, which is being repressed by the Fascist and the capitalistic state, has been discussed at the first conference called to meet the employers' offensive, because that offensive seriously threatens not only the problem of the struggle of the proletariat against the capitalist offsprings. The Young Communist International, thinks it's duty to call the attention of the Government of the Youth International to this class and especially of its partiers and trade-unions. This struggle is in the interest of the Young Communist International, the capitalistic state, is a section of tremendous significance for the international struggle against Fascism. The Fascist government in Germany is in the process of developing the struggle of the struggle of the Fascist against the capitalistic offsprings. The Young Communist International, recommends its partiers and trade-unions to be actively involved in the struggle against Fascism. The Fascist government in Germany is in the process of developing the struggle of the struggle of the Fascist against the capitalistic offsprings. The Young Communist International, recommends its partiers and trade-unions to be actively involved in the struggle against Fascism.

The defense of the working youth against Fascism must be the most important and most important issue of the class and especially of its partiers and trade-unions. This struggle is in the interest of the Young Communist International, the capitalistic state, is a section of tremendous significance for the international struggle against Fascism.
The Outlook for the Genoa Conference

We call the particular attention of our readers to the following article. The Editor.

America's Absence.

"As was to be expected, the American Government will not be present at the Genoa Conference. America will neither take part in the elaboration of measures of economic reconstruction nor in the decisions of the organization committee of the international corporations and the national corporations for the economic restoration of Europe. The international central corporation is to have its seat in London, and has an initial capital of 150 million gold dollars to control the actions of the various national corporations. The total allocation of American capital is 8,000,000 dollars. England, France, Italy, Germany and Belgium will participate in the international corporation. The six other powers will be China, Japan, the Netherlands, Switzerland, Sweden and Portugal. All the states of South America and the United States are to be represented by a capital of 120,000,000 dollars. The United States and Japan will be the main financial powers. France, Italy, Germany and Belgium will be the financial powers of the next order. The United States will not participate in the Genoa Conference due to its position in the international corporation, where it has a significant role to play."