practical advantages through more purposeful organization, division of work, joint purchases, transport, etc.

To Question 5.
The awakening and realization of the consciousness of international solidarity of the proletarians, of the productive workers of all countries, and of the consciousness of their duty towards the first workers, and Peasant state in the world.

Clara Zetkin.

To the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd Questions.
The I.W.R. is an instrument towards the uplift of the working classes in all countries, and as compared with the instruments of direct combat—as for instance the revolutionary organizations—an especially valuable means of training in economics, foreign policy, and transport—organization. Amidst the attempts at possibilities for the reconstruction of Russia, it is incumbent on the I.W.R. to bring the progressive expression of the participation of all sections of workers in Russia's economic warfare and the role it will play will be independent and responsible in proportion to the extent to which it is supported by the working populations of the world. It sends the contributions, the offerings, the sympathy of wide circles, even those of the intellectuals, as for instance artists, scholars, engineers, and educated tradespeople. Even if these circles, in their peculiar position between the classes, do not appear to be the foremen of a classless state of society, they will none the less find it more and more necessary to rely on the working class, and to take part in the concrete tasks proceeding from the rise of the working class. In Russia, the I.W.R. can undertake commercial enterprises and technical undertakings, which would disappear and prove a loss without its intervention. The tasks of systematization, leading, and managing entirely different kinds of enterprises, are ones demanding that the entire concern be unbreakable in its co-operative foundation, but exceedingly variable and elastic in its forms.

The tasks set the I.W.R. are fundamentally different from those of pure philanthropy, and thus any intervention by philanthropic organizations appears likely to detract from its purpose. In individual cases, in limited concrete sphere of activity, cooperation between the I.W.R. and the Nansen or Quaker organizations would appear to be highly recommendable. For, in the first place, there is much to be learned by this, and in addition there exists the possibility, even the probability, of one day entering into the heritage of these institutions. In my opinion the scope of the work of the I.W.R. should be specially based on the consciousness that the co-operative principle of working is still very little developed, at least in the world of Europe, but is still highly capable of development in various directions, particularly in that of non-state work. Originating in the immediate need of food for Russia, it is up to now a weak, but in its essence a correct beginning at an active cooperation of all peoples among themselves, and its further development, which is to be strived for, will lead to the situation, the possibility of mutual help, and especially on the community of interests obtaining among all peoples suffering from exploitation or threatened by catastrophe.

Alfons Paguet.

The price for an English spy, according to Lord Curzon's exact words, was the gutta percha of gold robe! Another English citizen, but of the female sex, costs, on the same calculation, thirty thousand gold robs. The days in which activity of this nature was charged at the rate of thirty pieces of silver are long since past; in those times the noble fields did not occupy themselves with the defence of Jutland or either of her ships. But our modern life is based on the gold basis. But if we were of the opinion that Lord Curzon, and the most prudent circles of British imperialists who are backing him up, are raising the whole question merely for the sake of thirteen thousands, it is not in the mind of the right of English fishers to fish in Russian waters, and for the sake of the "honor and dignity of English people" (1) which has been so offended by Weinstein's insulting notes, then we would be political children indeed. But in Russia there are very few political children to be found, even among the Communist Youth. All these triffles only serve to conceal two really serious questions of burning importance for the British bourgeoisie: 1. The influence exercised by the British colonial empire on the supposed peoples of the East; 2. The restoration of property confiscated by the Russian revolution under the influence of the imperial capitalists. But before proceeding to the discussion of these questions, we should like to introduce to our readers, the present British Minister for Foreign Affairs. At the international Transport Workers' Congress held recently, Robert Williams showed me his passport, upon the first page of which was written in large letters:

"George Nathaniel Curzon, Earl Curzon of Kedleston, Viscount Scarsdale, Knight of the Most Noble Order of the Garter, a Member of His Britannic Majesty's Most Honourable Fray Council, Knight Grand Commander of the Most Exalted Order of the Star of India, Knight Grand Commander of the Most Eminent Order of the Indian Empire, etc., etc., etc.

His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs."

Unfortunately we do not know what this highly significant "etc." represents; in all likelihood it means: defender of the suppressed Oriental peoples, protector of invested property-holders, etc. But whatever other titles Lord Curzon may possess, these already adduced suffice for us to comprehend why the whole of slave-holding old England speaks through his lips. If England's demands with regard to the East are decoded, it is seen that these not only imply that the Communist and East European revolution, which is international, be crushed from all places outside the frontiers of Soviet Russia, but that aim at the conversion of Soviet Russia into some sort of satellite of Western Europe.

Unfortunately the Communist and East European revolution, which is international, be crushed from all places outside the frontiers of Soviet Russia, but that aim at the conversion of Soviet Russia into some sort of satellite of Western Europe. 2.

This is the kernel of the whole matter. The English bourgeoisie here in the Russian revolution and holds it, through the mouth of its Grand Commander, to simply "cease to be a socialist and capitalist republic!" We are the liberators of Lord Curzon, decorated with all his various orders, that the Russian revolution does not permit an English slaveholder to stipulate the lines on which it develops. With regard to the locality of the Congress and the R.I.L.U., we have nothing against

CONTENTS

In Soviet Russia

A. Lavrovsky: Have a Care Lord Curzon!

Politics

A. Rosenborg: England, France, and the German Memorandum
J. T. F. Newbold: The Baldwin Majority

The Struggle in the Ruhr Area and the German Communist Party

A. Prosperot: After the Mass Strikes in the Ruhr Area

Political Demonstration of the Parussian Proletariat against Putsch

E. Arndt: The Political Situation in the Balkans

Polemics and Discussions

A. Leschy:Trade Unions and Party

Lenin's Trial: The Anarchist-Syndicalist Prejudice again!

The White Terror

Georg: The Bolshevik Verdict

Take up the Cause of the Prisoners of the Roumanian Bourgeoisie!

The Class Struggle.

Bloody Preparation for Capitulation in the Ruhr Area

Appeals

International Relief for the Victims in the Ruhr District

Have a Care Lord Curzon!

By A. Lavrovsky.
The Baldwin Ministry

When in the autumn of last year, the Tory Die Harz overthrow the Coalition Ministry and compelled Lloyd George to make way for a Conservative Government, the men who selected as their leader, Bonar Law, was only a stopgap. He was not an adequate leader during the period of transition from rule by a conjunction of the whole forces of big property in land, financial industry, to rule by the forces of passive capitalist England with the hitherto anarcho-capitalism and the clique around the King. When Lloyd George resigned office, there went on with his Conservatives who stood for an aggressive imperialist policy for British capitalism in the Middle East, Persia, the Balkans, Africa, and Asia. Bonar Law, persona grata as he was with American High Finance, did not wish to enter into the foreign policy in opposition to the dualist opposition of France against the Russian and French opposition against Germany. In any case, he was not an adequate leader during the period of transition from rule by a conjunction of the whole forces of big property in land, financial industry, to rule by the forces of passive capitalist England with the hitherto anarcho-capitalism and the clique around the King.

The Marquis Curzon, an imperialist, was one of those who stood for an aggressive imperialist policy for British capitalism in the Middle East, Persia, the Balkans, Africa, and Asia. He was persona grata as he was with American High Finance, did not wish to enter into the foreign policy in opposition to the dualist opposition of France against the Russian and French opposition against Germany. In any case, he was not an adequate leader during the period of transition from rule by a conjunction of the whole forces of big property in land, financial industry, to rule by the forces of passive capitalist England with the hitherto anarcho-capitalism and the clique around the King.

The Marquis Curzon, an imperialist, was one of those who stood for an aggressive imperialist policy for British capitalism in the Middle East, Persia, the Balkans, Africa, and Asia. He was persona grata as he was with American High Finance, did not wish to enter into the foreign policy in opposition to the dualist opposition of France against the Russian and French opposition against Germany. In any case, he was not an adequate leader during the period of transition from rule by a conjunction of the whole forces of big property in land, financial industry, to rule by the forces of passive capitalist England with the hitherto anarcho-capitalism and the clique around the King.

The Marquis Curzon, an imperialist, was one of those who stood for an aggressive imperialist policy for British capitalism in the Middle East, Persia, the Balkans, Africa, and Asia. He was persona grata as he was with American High Finance, did not wish to enter into the foreign policy in opposition to the dualist opposition of France against the Russian and French opposition against Germany. In any case, he was not an adequate leader during the period of transition from rule by a conjunction of the whole forces of big property in land, financial industry, to rule by the forces of passive capitalist England with the hitherto anarcho-capitalism and the clique around the King.

The Marquis Curzon, an imperialist, was one of those who stood for an aggressive imperialist policy for British capitalism in the Middle East, Persia, the Balkans, Africa, and Asia. He was persona grata as he was with American High Finance, did not wish to enter into the foreign policy in opposition to the dualist opposition of France against the Russian and French opposition against Germany. In any case, he was not an adequate leader during the period of transition from rule by a conjunction of the whole forces of big property in land, financial industry, to rule by the forces of passive capitalist England with the hitherto anarcho-capitalism and the clique around the King.

The Marquis Curzon, an imperialist, was one of those who stood for an aggressive imperialist policy for British capitalism in the Middle East, Persia, the Balkans, Africa, and Asia. He was persona grata as he was with American High Finance, did not wish to enter into the foreign policy in opposition to the dualist opposition of France against the Russian and French opposition against Germany. In any case, he was not an adequate leader during the period of transition from rule by a conjunction of the whole forces of big property in land, financial industry, to rule by the forces of passive capitalist England with the hitherto anarcho-capitalism and the clique around the King.

The Marquis Curzon, an imperialist, was one of those who stood for an aggressive imperialist policy for British capitalism in the Middle East, Persia, the Balkans, Africa, and Asia. He was persona grata as he was with American High Finance, did not wish to enter into the foreign policy in opposition to the dualist opposition of France against the Russian and French opposition against Germany. In any case, he was not an adequate leader during the period of transition from rule by a conjunction of the whole forces of big property in land, financial industry, to rule by the forces of passive capitalist England with the hitherto anarcho-capitalism and the clique around the King.

The Marquis Curzon, an imperialist, was one of those who stood for an aggressive imperialist policy for British capitalism in the Middle East, Persia, the Balkans, Africa, and Asia. He was persona grata as he was with American High Finance, did not wish to enter into the foreign policy in opposition to the dualist opposition of France against the Russian and French opposition against Germany. In any case, he was not an adequate leader during the period of transition from rule by a conjunction of the whole forces of big property in land, financial industry, to rule by the forces of passive capitalist England with the hitherto anarcho-capitalism and the clique around the King.

The Marquis Curzon, an imperialist, was one of those who stood for an aggressive imperialist policy for British capitalism in the Middle East, Persia, the Balkans, Africa, and Asia. He was persona grata as he was with American High Finance, did not wish to enter into the foreign policy in opposition to the dualist opposition of France against the Russian and French opposition against Germany. In any case, he was not an adequate leader during the period of transition from rule by a conjunction of the whole forces of big property in land, financial industry, to rule by the forces of passive capitalist England with the hitherto anarcho-capitalism and the clique around the King.

The Marquis Curzon, an imperialist, was one of those who stood for an aggressive imperialist policy for British capitalism in the Middle East, Persia, the Balkans, Africa, and Asia. He was persona grata as he was with American High Finance, did not wish to enter into the foreign policy in opposition to the dualist opposition of France against the Russian and French opposition against Germany. In any case, he was not an adequate leader during the period of transition from rule by a conjunction of the whole forces of big property in land, financial industry, to rule by the forces of passive capitalist England with the hitherto anarcho-capitalism and the clique around the King.

The Marquis Curzon, an imperialist, was one of those who stood for an aggressive imperialist policy for British capitalism in the Middle East, Persia, the Balkans, Africa, and Asia. He was persona grata as he was with American High Finance, did not wish to enter into the foreign policy in opposition to the dualist opposition of France against the Russian and French opposition against Germany. In any case, he was not an adequate leader during the period of transition from rule by a conjunction of the whole forces of big property in land, financial industry, to rule by the forces of passive capitalist England with the hitherto anarcho-capitalism and the clique around the King.

The Marquis Curzon, an imperialist, was one of those who stood for an aggressive imperialist policy for British capitalism in the Middle East, Persia, the Balkans, Africa, and Asia. He was persona grata as he was with American High Finance, did not wish to enter into the foreign policy in opposition to the dualist opposition of France against the Russian and French opposition against Germany. In any case, he was not an adequate leader during the period of transition from rule by a conjunction of the whole forces of big property in land, financial industry, to rule by the forces of passive capitalist England with the hitherto anarcho-capitalism and the clique around the King.

The Marquis Curzon, an imperialist, was one of those who stood for an aggressive imperialist policy for British capitalism in the Middle East, Persia, the Balkans, Africa, and Asia. He was persona grata as he was with American High Finance, did not wish to enter into the foreign policy in opposition to the dualist opposition of France against the Russian and French opposition against Germany. In any case, he was not an adequate leader during the period of transition from rule by a conjunction of the whole forces of big property in land, financial industry, to rule by the forces of passive capitalist England with the hitherto anarcho-capitalism and the clique around the King.

The Marquis Curzon, an imperialist, was one of those who stood for an aggressive imperialist policy for British capitalism in the Middle East, Persia, the Balkans, Africa, and Asia. He was persona grata as he was with American High Finance, did not wish to enter into the foreign policy in opposition to the dualist opposition of France against the Russian and French opposition against Germany. In any case, he was not an adequate leader during the period of transition from rule by a conjunction of the whole forces of big property in land, financial industry, to rule by the forces of passive capitalist England with the hitherto anarcho-capitalism and the clique around the King.

The Marquis Curzon, an imperialist, was one of those who stood for an aggressive imperialist policy for British capitalism in the Middle East, Persia, the Balkans, Africa, and Asia. He was persona grata as he was with American High Finance, did not wish to enter into the foreign policy in opposition to the dualist opposition of France against the Russian and French opposition against Germany. In any case, he was not an adequate leader during the period of transition from rule by a conjunction of the whole forces of big property in land, financial industry, to rule by the forces of passive capitalist England with the hitherto anarcho-capitalism and the clique around the King.

The Marquis Curzon, an imperialist, was one of those who stood for an aggressive imperialist policy for British capitalism in the Middle East, Persia, the Balkans, Africa, and Asia. He was persona grata as he was with American High Finance, did not wish to enter into the foreign policy in opposition to the dualist opposition of France against the Russian and French opposition against Germany. In any case, he was not an adequate leader during the period of transition from rule by a conjunction of the whole forces of big property in land, financial industry, to rule by the forces of passive capitalist England with the hitherto anarcho-capitalism and the clique around the King.
The Struggle in the Ruhr Area and the German Communist Party

The bloody events in Gelsenkirchen and other places in the occupied territory; the熾烈的事件应用dalea Nydia and in Dortmund, and the shooting down of workers the other day in Essen, are a clear indication of the government’s policy towards the Ruhr, which has been described as its chief stronghold. The Ruhr is rich in coal, iron, and other minerals, and is the economic hub of the country. The government has been fighting to suppress the workers’ rebellion, using force and violence to maintain its power. The workers have been demonstrating against the high prices and low wages, and the government has responded with a brutal crackdown.

The workers have been demanding better wages and working conditions, and the government has been trying to suppress their demands. The workers have been organizing and coordinating their demands, and the government has been trying to break their spirit. The government has been using violence and force to suppress the workers, and the workers have been resisting with determination.

The government has been using the army and police to suppress the workers, and the workers have been fighting back. The government has been trying to crush the workers’ movement, but the workers have been fighting back with determination.

The government has been trying to suppress the workers’ movement, but the workers have been fighting back with determination. The government has been using violence and force to suppress the workers, and the workers have been fighting back with determination.

The government has been trying to suppress the workers’ movement, but the workers have been fighting back with determination. The government has been using violence and force to suppress the workers, and the workers have been fighting back with determination.
The Political Situation in the Balkans

By E. Arnold (Bucharest)

The situation in the Balkans becomes more acute from day to day. The danger of war increased rapidly. At the same time, the offensive of capitals makes further advances. Reactions and Terror against the labor movement in all the countries of the Balkans are culminating in a point which renders the breaking out of a fresh wave of revolution inevitable.

In Bulgaria it is St. Damaskin, (Theodor Musante), who is endeavoring to plague the working people of Bulgaria with the idea of national unity, whose imperialist appetite has become insatiable.

The most striking instance of the revolutionary voice of the Bulgarian proletariat, the Communist party, is the breaking of the electoral law, the bloody Terror and persecution which has been taking place in Bulgaria and which has also crossed the borders of the country.

In Greece, in which the Bulgarian workers and poor peasants are being shed their blood on the fields of Thrace and Macedonia, the workers are being trained and mobilized in the official and unofficial organizations and cross-rades all over the country.

In the countries of which the workers and poor peasants are being shed their blood on the fields of Thrace and Macedonia, the workers are being trained and mobilized in the official and unofficial organizations and cross-rades all over the country.

The fundamental task of the Communist party in the Balkans is to organize the working class to fight against the imperialist and nationalist policies.

Trade Unions and Party

By R. Trotsky

Comrade Trotsky has expressed his conception of the tasks of the trade unions and the Communist Party in his article "A New Approach to Trade Unions," published in "Imperialist Crisis." He said: "It is necessary to realize the fact that the section of the proletariat which first awakens to this consciousness is the working class. The working class must be the leader of the workers".

The revolutionary syndicalists see the active role of the working class in the trade unions as a consequence of the fact that the working class is the vanguard of the proletariat. They hold that the trade unions are a special organization of the working class for the purpose of class struggle.

The Anarcho-Syndicalists Prejudices again

By L. Trotsky

Comrade Trotsky's new article contains more errors than his previous one. The working class in France has always taken an active part in the development of the revolutionary syndicalist movement. But his article contains some obvious errors.

Among these errors, Comrade Trotsky's starting points were absurdities, which assume that the trade unions are responsible for the failure of the revolutionary movement. The working class in France has always taken an active part in the development of the revolutionary syndicalist movement. But his article contains some obvious errors.

The French trade union is the strictest expression of class struggle, and it is only under the influence of the workers themselves that it can achieve any success.

Comrade Trotsky's conclusions are based on the idea that the trade unions are not only the expression of the workers' class struggle, but also the source of it. This is a fallacy.

The working class in France is not only the expression of the workers' class struggle, but also the source of it. This is a fallacy.

The new article is a repetition of the old one.

The working class in France is not only the expression of the workers' class struggle, but also the source of it. This is a fallacy.
The Bloody Preparations for Capitulation in the Ruhr area

Dortmund and Gelsenkirchen

What are the facts about the Ruhr area, in Dortmund and Gelsenkirchen? The monstrous cry of bourgeois propaganda was that a new capital is being formed, because the working class there has been collecting in the Ruhr area. According to the bourgeois newspaper, the Ruhr area is being reduced to a "paradise" to ensure that everything is in order in the Ruhr area.

In fact, the workers are right. They have built a strong and united organization in the Ruhr area. They have shown that the workers in the Ruhr area are capable of defending their rights and interests. The workers have demonstrated that they are ready to fight for their freedom and independence.

In the Ruhr area, the working class has been organizing and mobilizing. They have won the support of the peasants and the miners, and have established a strong alliance with the other working-class organizations. The workers have shown that they are ready to fight for their rights and interests, and to defend their freedom and independence.

In the Ruhr area, the working class has been organizing and mobilizing. They have won the support of the peasants and the miners, and have established a strong alliance with the other working-class organizations. The workers have shown that they are ready to fight for their rights and interests, and to defend their freedom and independence.
APPEALS

International Delight for the Victims in the Ruhr District!

To the Working Men and Women of all Countries!

In the Ruhr District, Fascism is proceeding with unheard of activity. Leninist mercenaries, who had decided by means of powerful mass strikes to take up the struggle on all fronts, have now been defeated by the German Fascists and the French Fascists, and against their暨nt abundant imperialism and the intervention of the imperialistic powers. The fighting forces are unmanned and is taking up the struggle for location. The fascists are able to take over the entire region in their entirety. After all, the struggle for location is the real struggle against the fascists. The White Terror is only abroad, Fascist workers have no longer any chance. The fascists, only a few thousand, have won through. The fascists are strong, and the workers are not. It is a question of the number of the victims.

International Fascists desire to make the Ruhr District the starting point for a fascist dictatorship which shall extend over the whole German proletariat. Further misery and privations are approaching. Working Men and Women of all countries! It is for you to awaken and assemble all the forces of the international proletariat in order to bring relief to the victims in the Ruhr area.

Collect funds instantly! Organize relief actions. Form collective solidarity. Give quickly— at once, remit all amounts collected immediately.

The Central Committee of the International Red Relief.

Show to the pro-fascist fighters in the Ruhr district, that the whole international proletariat is standing behind them to help and protect.

Lytschow. June 7, 1923.

The Central Committee of the International Red Relief.

Child Plisry in Moscow?

During the years of revolution and civil war, during the dreadful years of blockade and famine, all strangers with whom we talked in Moscow were as a rule, for the visitor in the capital, children. Children, clothes for small children, kindergarten, etc., etc. Our children, we thought, could not last much longer in a situation of this kind. But today circumstances have changed. Lack of money has been overcome. Our children have grown up and are in need of repair. We shall have to save our children, our clothes, our kindergarten, etc., etc.

We understand, held it to be its duty, to create a children's home in the capital. This children's home, a home of many children. But today circumstances have changed. Lack of money has been overcome. Our children have grown up and are in need of repair. We shall have to save our children, our clothes, our kindergarten, etc.

The organization of the conference, the establishment of the children's home, the organization of the kindergarten, etc., etc.

There was no report on it, nor any declaration, based on principles, as to the organization of the children's home, etc., etc. All resolutions were unanimously accepted.

The demand for mother and child protection did not look so bad. We had to do something about it. The protecting forces are overwhelming forces are meant to form the subject of more parliamentary action. Conditions there are becoming more serious. The time is ripe.

We must see that the number of the children increases. There must be a systematic campaign of upbuilding against the children. All, one of the most irritating facts of the famine can be seen in the fact that the children are not growing. They are growing pale and thin. The children are the most pitiful among the Russians today. But the country is preparing for the worst in the campaign against this suffering among the children.

We shall not only have to fight for the children, but also for the women. We must demand that the women be given an equal share in the work of the state, and the extent of these amounts may be judged by the fact that this country will have to meet this demand by a better activity, by systematic efforts, by a better organization of the women, by a still more decided effort on their part in all their everyday struggles.

After the Women's Conference of the New International

The International Conference of Women, preceding the International Conference of the New International, gathered in Hamburg, has already passed in review all the features characteristic of the Revolutionary Congress. But it had to face one day, the less careful preparation and organization, the lesser political and personal efforts of the International and organization, the less political and personal efforts of the International and organization, the lesser political and personal efforts of the International and organization, the lesser political and personal efforts of the International and organization, the lesser political and personal efforts of the International and organization, the lesser political and personal efforts of the International and organization, the lesser political and personal efforts of the International and organization, the lesser politi
THE COOPERATIVE MOVEMENT

Recent Developments in the English Co-operative Movement

By W. Colyer

Until very recently the Co-operative movement in England has been a purely working-class movement, but in recent years it has undergone a remarkable transformation. It is now a genuine national movement, not in the political sense. The influence of the movement has increased so much that it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. A notable feature of the recent development of the movement is the introduction of the idea of the Co-operative Union, which brings together the Co-operative Societies of England, Scotland, and Wales, into one national body. This organization is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

During such a crisis every society tended the utmost loyalty of its entire membership. What actually happened in many cases was a loss of confidence. As a result, by the time the crisis was over, the movement had become a series of fraudulent societies, and there were many cases of bankruptcy.

The fact is, however, that the working classes have found in the Co-operative movement a powerful ally in their battle against the capitalist system. The movement has been able to provide a real alternative to the capitalist system, and has been able to do so because it has been able to give the working classes a sense of community and a sense of solidarity.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.

The Co-operative movement is now a national movement, and it is now a recognized fact that 80% of the wealth of the country is at the disposal of the working classes. This movement is now the most powerful agency in the country for the protection of the rights of the working classes.
THE YOUTH MOVEMENT
Young Working Men and Women
The Hamburg Socialist Youth Congress.

Comrades!
The Hamburg Socialist Youth congress is over. The 21st International has been formally buried. A united "Socialist Working Youth International" has been created, and the social democratic youth leaders are full of praise for the "great work" performed in Hamburg.

Upon all questions most important to the Youth Movement, the antagonisms between the socialists of the Right and the Centre were resolved, and in all these questions the centers of capitulation had to decide in favor of the Centre and Congress, but the extent to which non-socialist representatives were involved will be the subject of a separate report. The Centre and Congress, but the extent to which non-socialist representatives were involved will be the subject of a separate report. The Centre and Congress, but the extent to which non-socialist representatives were involved will be the subject of a separate report. The Centre and Congress, but the extent to which non-socialist representatives were involved will be the subject of a separate report. The Centre and Congress, but the extent to which non-socialist representatives were involved will be the subject of a separate report.

The following reports are written as part of the Committee's public campaign, the Committee hopes that the Party organs do the necessary propa- ganda. Above all, the Committee requests the participation of the press in the struggle against reaction. The struggle for the future of working youth is being continued by the Comrades of the World Congress under the banner of the Congress.

First Session of the Enlarged Executive

Moscow, June 11. The first session of the Enlarged Plenary of the Executive of the Communist International was held on the Red Hall of the Comintern Building in Moscow. Comrade Zinoviev was in the chair and there were present from the Comintern: Comrade Zinovic, Comrade Benevsky, Comrade Tranquilli, Comrade Tachtchin. At the request of the President, one member from each of the delegations.

From the Polish delegation in Inter- national Congress, all sections of the Comitees have sent strong delegations to the enlarged session. Delegates from all countries of the International, from South Africa and Australia and the United States, from the United States, they all the delegations have arrived in Moscow. It was decided that the enlarged Executive should convene its meetings in a city, the place of the meeting being London, the seat of Comrade Zinovic.

A lively discussion arose during the consideration of the detailed points of the agenda, in which practically all the delegations took part. The agenda was concluded on agreement. In addition to the agenda, the idea of a journal was discussed. It was decided to include the date of the next World Congress and the present situation in Russia.

The following is the agenda adopted by the International Commission:

1. Report of the President.
2. Practical measures for the closer contact of the Congress and the European organizations.
3. The Second and Two and a Half International.
4. The Comintern and the Comintern Congresses of the Enlarged Committee.
5. The International Congress (Discussion with the Social Democratic International and with the Communist International).
7. The labor movement in Europe. The international congress.
8. The political situation in Germany. The congress will be held in 1922.
10. The situation in Russia.

Other reports were agreed upon.

It was decided to set up a number of Commissions, their meeting attended by many of the participants. The Political Commission will be asked to report on the political situation in the world and the remaining Commissions from 9 to 15 members.

The Comintern will be held in September and October 1922.

The delegate must be ready to take part in the work of the Congress.

End of the Congress. The Hague.

The United Front

The CGTU and the United Front of the Transport Workers.

On the occasion of the Congress of the Berlin Transport Workers, the CGTU published the following declaration which was adopted at the Congress.

For the first time since the great war, there have met representatives of the most important national and organizations of the Red Trade Union International. It is this conference, which more dangerous day by day, in view of the dangers of war and reaction, shows that the Congress must be more than a declaration of intention; it must be the first step towards organization.

The CGTU, in a letter to the Executive Committee of the International, expresses its sympathy with the resolution adopted at the Congress, and calls upon all trade unions to adopt the same stand. The CGTU will make all efforts to achieve the unity of all trade unions and workers in the interests of the international class struggle.

The Congress of the Berlin Transport Workers, which was held on the 15th of May, was a magnificent example of the possibilities of organizing the working class. The Congress showed that the unity of the working class can only be achieved through the International Union.

The CGTU will continue to work towards the realization of the International. The CGTU will adopt all resolutions and demands of the Congress, and will make all efforts to achieve the unity of all trade unions and workers in the interests of the international class struggle.