
Cable to the Central Caucus Faction's Communist Party of America in New York from John J. Ballam ["Moore"] in Moscow, March 27, 1922.

Document in the Comintern Archive, RGASPI f. 515, op. 1, d. 128, l. 23.

27/III [in pencil]

Radio.

united states of america stop new york city comma fourhundredfourteen east ninth street stop the molot company stop arrangements uniting both companies under protection main office being completed stop stop all competition with and attacks upon rival company stop salesman coming from main office stop rights of all stockholders to be guaranteed at general stockholders meeting stop our company must obey decision of main office or face bankruptcy stop moore and company end †

†- A German translation converting the business allusions appears under the English message on the original document. The "bizspeak" message here may be approximately rendered as follows:

The Molot Company
414 E Ninth Street
New York

Arrangements uniting both [American factions] under protection of [the Executive Committee of the Communist International] being completed. Stop all competition with and attacks upon [our rivals]. [A representative is] coming from [ECCI]. Rights of all [opposition members are] to be guaranteed at [an upcoming convention]. Our [faction] must obey decision of [the Comintern] or [be expelled]. [—Ballam.]

Edited by Tim Davenport.

Published by 1000 Flowers Publishing, Corvallis, OR, 2007. • Non-commercial reproduction permitted.