The War Web

The Three-headed Spider of Capitalist Mafias (Represented by Italy, Britain and France)

Weaver of the world web Guglielmo Marconi had his hands full with the telegraph, telephone and wireless. But he was not the last to catch sight of the future. More than a half century later, the United States emerged on the world stage as a major power. The country was investing in the future, and its leaders were aware of the need for development and cooperation. The United States was now the world's greatest power, and it had the responsibility to lead. The country was determined to ensure its safety and security.

The American War Danger

The above opinion is from the United States. In Washington, D.C., the United States is considered a war danger to the rest of the world in the event of war.

Consider these facts:

- The United States is the world's greatest power.
- The United States is a military superpower.
- The United States has a large and powerful navy.
- The United States has a large and powerful army.
- The United States has a large and powerful air force.
- The United States has a large and powerful nuclear arsenal.
- The United States has a large and powerful industrial base.
- The United States has a large and powerful economic base.
- The United States has a large and powerful diplomatic corps.
- The United States has a large and powerful intelligence community.
- The United States has a large and powerful political system.
- The United States has a large and powerful cultural influence.

The war danger is real. The United States should prepare for a war of its own making. The United States should prepare for a war of its own making.
