Building The Labor Movement In America

Industrial Unionism, Social Idealism, A Labor Party, Urgently Needed to Meet the Present Crisis, Amalgamated Secretary Declares

Editor’s Note

The following article was received by the Editor of the Labor Movement In America from the Amalgamated Union of Carpenters and Joiners of America. The subject matter of the article is of great interest to all labor organizations, particularly to the Amalgamated. It is hoped that other labor papers throughout the country will be able to publish it.

Joseph Schlosberg (Editor of American Appeal)

The Amalgamated Union of Carpenters and Joiners of America is one of the largest and most influential labor organizations in the United States. It is known for its strong stance on industrial unionism and social idealism, and it has been a leader in the movement for a labor party. In this article, the Editor of the American Appeal, Joseph Schlosberg, discusses the need for a labor movement that is based on industrial unionism and social idealism, and that is dedicated to the establishment of a labor party. He argues that such a movement is urgently needed to meet the present crisis, and that it is essential for the future of the labor movement.

U.S. Farmers Must Organize Or Become Peasants

Editor’s Note

The following article was received by the Editor of the Labor Movement In America from the Organizing Committee of the American Farmers’ Union. The article discusses the urgent need for U.S. farmers to organize in order to protect their interests and to ensure their survival.

By Carl Taylor

The organizing committee of the American Farmers’ Union has called for a mass meeting of farmers in all parts of the country to discuss the urgent need for a national organization of farmers. The committee is concerned about the growing threat of big business to the livelihood of farmers and is calling on farmers to unite in order to protect their interests.

The article stresses the importance of organizing farmers in order to ensure their survival in a changing agricultural economy. It highlights the need for a national organization to negotiate with the government and big business on behalf of farmers, and to provide support and assistance to farmers who are struggling to make ends meet.

MORE REASONS FOR U.S. CONTROL OF THE CARIBBEAN

Note

The following article appeared in the American Appeal, a weekly labor newspaper. The article discusses the potential benefits of U.S. control of the Caribbean.

By Cyril Taylor

There are many reasons why the United States should control the Caribbean. The Caribbean is rich in natural resources, and its location makes it an important trading hub. Furthermore, the United States has a strong historical and cultural connection to the Caribbean, and controlling it would help to ensure the stability and prosperity of the region.

JAPANESE WORKERS GET READY FOR FRANCHISE

By Cyril Taylor

The Japanese government has announced that it will grant the franchise to Japanese workers. This is a significant development, as it marks the beginning of a new era of political participation for Japanese workers.

The franchise will give workers the right to vote in elections and to participate in the political process. This will be a major step forward for workers in Japan, who have long been excluded from the political process.

The United States naval mission in China has been putting up a brave fight against the Japanese, but they have not been able to prevent the Japanese from taking control of the region. The United States is determined to protect its interests in China, and it is likely to continue to fight against the Japanese until they are driven out.
