NUMBER OF SUBSCRIBERS
85,900

FELLOW WORKERS

The postmen who have heard this offer in the listening post with lips of sabotage risk losing their jobs. They were not told that the company had a plan to cut their working hours without asking for their consent. They were not told that they could lose the right to work if they did not accept the plan, and they certainly were not told that they would be paid for the hours not worked. The plan was not made known to them until the last minute, when the notice of the proposal was given, and then it was given in such a manner as to make it impossible for them to study the proposal and come to an informed decision as to whether it was in their best interests.

Now I am coming back at you with a request that the company not cut your working hours without your consent. If you want to vote on the proposal, you want to know what it is. If you are to be asked whether it is fair, you want to know what it means. But you must be given the opportunity to consider the proposal and to express your opinion, and you must be able to express your opinion in such a way that your vote will be counted.

SHOULD NO RULE DOZE?

Now, there is no reason to stand yet que the company should make any proposals for cutting your working hours without your consent. It is not fair to the workers to cut their hours without their consent, and it is not fair to the company to make proposals for cutting their hours without their consent. It is not fair to the company to make proposals for cutting their hours without their consent, and it is not fair to the workers to cut their hours without their consent. It is not fair to the company to make proposals for cutting their hours without their consent, and it is not fair to the workers to cut their hours without their consent. It is not fair to the company to make proposals for cutting their hours without their consent, and it is not fair to the workers to cut their hours without their consent. It is not fair to the company to make proposals for cutting their hours without their consent, and it is not fair to the workers to cut their hours without their consent. It is not fair to the company to make proposals for cutting their hours without their consent, and it is not fair to the workers to cut their hours without their consent. It is not fair to the company to make proposals for cutting their hours without their consent, and it is not fair to the workers to cut their hours without their consent. It is not fair to the company to make proposals for cutting their hours without their consent, and it is not fair to the workers to cut their hours without their consent. It is not fair to the company to make proposals for cutting their hours without their consent, and it is not fair to the workers to cut their hours without their consent. It is not fair to the company to make proposals for cutting their hours without their consent, and it is not fair to the workers to cut their hours without their consent. It is not fair to the company to make proposals for cutting their hours without their consent, and it is not fair to the workers to cut their hours without their consent. It is not fair to the company to make proposals for cutting their hours without their consent, and it is not fair to the workers to cut their hours without their consent.
Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.

Let it not be forgotten that during the entire period of the war, the American military, the American labor forces, and the American communities were fighting for liberty, and that the sacrifices made by our fighting men and women, by our labor forces, and by our communities were of the utmost importance to the cause of freedom.
Socialism in Denmark. Although Denmark is one of the richest of the small nations, yet it is a land of ten millions of people. The whole of the working population is distributed among five cities, and the largest of these cities, Copenhagen, has less than a million people. The rest of the population is divided among the remaining four cities, and the smallest of these cities, Odense, has less than 100,000 people. The Danish government is highly organized, and the whole of the country is divided into districts, each of which is governed by a mayor and a council. The work of the mayor and the council is to see that the laws of the country are enforced and that the people are protected.

The whole history of the "socialist" colony in Denmark is a story of progress and development, and is, to some extent, a story of the triumph of the working class over the capitalist class. The socialist movement in Denmark began in the late 19th century, and by the early 20th century the socialist party had gained a strong foothold in the country. The party was led by the worker and the farmer, and its program was based on the principles of equality, democracy, and socialism. The party won a number of victories in the elections of the early 20th century, and in 1910 it was able to form a government. The government was led by a socialist, and it was able to implement a number of important reforms, including the introduction of universal health care, the establishment of a minimum wage, and the abolition of child labor.

The socialist party in Denmark was able to gain a majority of the seats in the parliament, and it was able to introduce a number of important reforms. The party was able to introduce a number of important reforms, including the introduction of universal health care, the establishment of a minimum wage, and the abolition of child labor. The party was also able to introduce a number of important social programs, including the creation of a national health insurance system, the establishment of a national pension system, and the creation of a national unemployment insurance system.

The socialist party in Denmark was able to gain a majority of the seats in the parliament, and it was able to introduce a number of important reforms. The party was able to introduce a number of important reforms, including the introduction of universal health care, the establishment of a minimum wage, and the abolition of child labor. The party was also able to introduce a number of important social programs, including the creation of a national health insurance system, the establishment of a national pension system, and the creation of a national unemployment insurance system.

The socialist party in Denmark was able to gain a majority of the seats in the parliament, and it was able to introduce a number of important reforms. The party was able to introduce a number of important reforms, including the introduction of universal health care, the establishment of a minimum wage, and the abolition of child labor. The party was also able to introduce a number of important social programs, including the creation of a national health insurance system, the establishment of a national pension system, and the creation of a national unemployment insurance system.
GOOD ADVICE

How to Write a Letter

It is said that the average person writes at least 300 letters a year. If you make the effort to write letters properly, you will find that they are more effective in getting you the results you want. Here are some tips on how to write a letter:

1. Start with a salutation: "Dear Sir/Madam," or "Dear [Name],"
2. Be clear and concise: Get to the point quickly.
4. Proofread: Check for spelling and grammar errors before sending.

Remember, a well-written letter can make a big difference in how your message is received.