The Open Door.

Debs' Denial.

The Socialist candidate for President, Eugene Victor Debs, has denied that he is advocating the forcible open of the borders to the Orient. This is a lie, says Debs, and he has quoted the paragraph in question in his acceptance speech.

The campaigners of the Socialist party have been busy disseminating this false statement, and they have accused the Republicans of using the slogan "Open Door" to mean that they are in favor of unrestricted immigration. This is a gross misrepresentation of the Republican position.

The Republicans believe in the right of every nation to control its own borders and to determine its own immigration policy. They do not believe in unlimited immigration, but they do believe in open borders, provided that the immigrants are properly screened and that they will not be a burden on the country.

The Socialist party, on the other hand, is in favor of unlimited immigration, regardless of the effect on the country.

The Republicans believe in the right of nations to control their own borders.

The Republicans believe that the government should have the power to regulate immigration, but they do not believe in unlimited immigration.

The Republicans believe in the policy of the "Open Door."
TO THE MIDDLE CLASS

You belong to the "middle class," do you, and you have it easy. Your friends are the trust laws, the trusts, socialists, etc., etc., with a marked preference for the former. You have been able to avoid, without much sacrifice, the social and political upheavals that have so commonly affected other classes, especially those in your neighborhood, who have been involved in such disturbances. However, if you have been able to avoid them, the chances are that you will not be able to avoid a general revolution, especially a social revolution, which is not so remote a possibility as you may think.

The chances are good that you will be the first to feel the effects of the revolution, especially if it should come at a time when you are not prepared for it. You have been able to avoid the social and political upheavals that have so commonly affected other classes, but you have not been able to avoid the economic upheavals that have so commonly affected other classes, and you are likely to be the first to feel the effects of the economic upheavals that are likely to come at a time when you are not prepared for it.

The chances are good that you will be the first to feel the effects of the economic upheavals that are likely to come at a time when you are not prepared for it.
