APPEAL TO REASON, GARDIN, KAN.

INCENTIVE.

The incentive which would follow the adoption of a uniform system of postal and express rates would be an immediate and important one. It would be a powerful inducement to business men and manufacturers to increase their production and to decrease their prices. It would be an important factor in the development of the country, and it would have a marked influence on the prosperity of the nation.

Competitors will have to overcome the legal restrictions of the postal system and the express companies in order to establish their business. The only way to do this is to offer a superior service and a lower price. The uniform system of postal and express rates would make it easier for competitors to establish their business and offer a superior service, and it would make it more difficult for the established companies to retain their customers.

The uniform system of postal and express rates would also have a marked influence on the development of the country. It would encourage the development of new industries and the expansion of existing industries. It would encourage the development of new resources and the exploration of new territories.

The uniform system of postal and express rates would also have a marked influence on the prosperity of the nation. It would make it easier for businesses to operate and to expand, and it would make it easier for people to travel and to communicate with each other. It would make it easier for businesses to move and to expand, and it would make it easier for people to travel and to communicate with each other.

THE POLITICAL OUTLOOK
By H. P. Harlan, of Los Angeles, Cal.

FURTHER judgment of those who have held and are still holding the great offices of the history of the United States. It is worth remembering, however, that the principles which underlie and support the republic have afforded and still afford the most solid foundation of the party.

The Republican party has a long history in the state, and its influence is well known. It has been active in the state for many years, and has had a large following. The party is generally considered to be a strong one, and is able to carry the state in most elections.

In the coming election, the Republican party will have a strong candidate in Mr. Jones, who is well known for his ability and integrity. He will offer a strong opposition to the Democratic candidate, and it is probable that the issue will be decided by the vote of the state. The Republican party has a good organization, and is well able to carry the state in the coming election.

We believe that the Republican party will carry the state in the coming election, and that Mr. Jones will be elected governor. We believe that the Republican party is the party of progress, and that it will continue to lead the state forward in the years to come.
American Notes

Azerbaijan Socialist, Oct. 13—At the Socialist meeting yesterday, Mr. Lazzard threw his vote away up at the local by-laws, and got just what he deserved.

So he now asks forgiveness, and says is fit.

For the party that is serving for the right

And regards him as a short.

The Individual's Opportunity

The individual who has sunk so much hard-earned money into the system is going to make a better system of it. He is going to retake the capital, and he is going to make the best system of it. He is going to take the capital that he has sunk into the system, and he is going to make the best system of it.

Foreign Notes

Bankers of Austria have 50,000,000 marks outside of Austria, according to estimates. France is worth 20,000,000,000 marks less than she is worth in Germany, about the same as the debt of the United States.
